WHAT THEY THINK OF

Republicans Interviewed Concerning Senate Reapportionment Bill.

IT MEETS WITH LITTLE PAVOR

Majority of Those Seen Think That Lackawanna County Should Continue to Be a Separate Congressional District as it Is at Present.

The sudden killing of the house apportionment bills at Harrisburg yesterday rests the entire question of re-ap-portionment, if one shall be made this ear, upon the senate measures, one of which-that re-districting the state into congressional districts-links Susquehanna with Lackawanna county. low The Tribune presents the views of leading Republicans upon this proposed change, and it will be seen that there is almost no desire for any new deals in congressional sense:

William Connell-"I am decidedly not in favor of any scheme of a congressional apportionment which would throw Lackawanna county in a district alongside a purely agricultural county like Susquehanna, The various districts ent arrangement to continue. in this part of the state are very satisfactorily adjusted as it is. In our own case, we were, five years ago, within 25,000 of the requisite ratio of population; and since that time our county has grown rapidly. Under the proposed senate plan, Luzerne, with 30,000 more than the ratio, is left intact, while Lackawanna is yoked with another county having interests entirely distinct from our own. If Luzerne is not affected, I do not see why we should be; and I am firmly opposed to any unnecessary changes.

County Chairman's Opinion. Colonel E. H. Ripple, chairman of the Republican County committee and president of the Scranton Central Re- in everyone with whom he became acpublican club, before leaving the city n Friday last, expressed the opinion that any change in the present congressional apportionment, so far as concerns Lackawanna county, would be unwise. "The district," said he, "is now safely Republican; it constitutes an industrial and political division by itself, and its population is growing with such rapidity that the addition of a county like Susquehanna, whose population is arrangements for his funeral have not stationary, would merely involve another change when the next reapport tionment is made. The result of all this shuffling would simply be confusion and dissatisfaction. No, Lackawanna is all right as she is. I have heard nobody ask for a different arrangement." Ex-Justice Alfred Hand-"I prefer the present congressional apportionment for general reasons, and I do not see how Lackawanna county's Republican congressional interests would be materially benefitted by a change. Susquehanna county's interests are almost entirely agricultural, while those of Lackawanna county are entirely mining and manufacturing. A congressman serving for the two counties would be subservient to two masters, contrary minded. Edwards-"I am opposed to joining Lackawanna and Wyoming countles into one congressional district. think Lackawanna is of sufficient importance to constitute one district It was so considered years ago when this district was erected, and I believe it would be unfair to Susque anna to attach it to so large and powerful a county as Lackawanna. The two counties have nothing in common for ours is a mining and industrial county, while Susquehanna is an agricultural county." Ex-Lieutenant Governor L. A. Watres -"While there may be reasons why i might be desirable that Lackawanna and Susquehanna counties should compose a congressional district, there are strongen reasons against it. teenth district, comprising the counties of Wayne, Susquehanna, Bradford and Wyoming. Our population has largely increased since that time, while the population of adjoining countles has portionment, and I should think the old Fifteenth district countles would prefer to stay together. If a county must be added to Lackawanna we would prefer Susquehanna to any other and would welcome them in the district. The effect of such an alliance upon our local politics would be to anchor Lackawanna solidly in the colmn of Republican counties, as every two years the Democracy would have no fighting chance whatever for the head of their ticket. The effect of such condition of affairs would greatly dispirit the Democratic organization of Lackawanna. As a matter of local pride we should prefer the district re-maining as it is, being now one of the nost compact and important districts n the United States, but, politically, I
