WILKES-BARRE

[The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 23, Lanning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luzerne county news.
For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dallies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours eahlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL.

Progress of an Unpleasant Controversy That Should Be Adjusted.

Every citizen of Wilkes-Barre is, or ought to be, interested in a proper solution of the contest now in progress between Mayor Nichols and the city council. There is no excuse for such clashing. If this city is to have the kind of government the people have a right to expect and demand, the mayor, the police and the city council must cooperate harmoniously for the public good. The mayor claims that under the direction of the police committee of council the police refuse to co-operate with the mayor in any effort he makes to suppress vice and immorality. This amounts, virtually, to a charge that the police committee is protecting houses where vice and immorality are notoriously practiced. The seriousness of this charge cannot be overestimated. The mayor alleges that the president of council and the police committee are and were in session the greater part of ance. Only about $5,300 was carried on of morality and decency nugatory, but ing to the order. The delegates have that they are in other ways persecuting been delightfully entertained by the him in a manner not only unjust to him, but detrimental to the welfare of the looking body of men, most of them in

Mayor Nichols is a plucky man, and feeling that public sentiment sustains him in the position he has taken, he will make the best fight he can. The charge has been made quite freely that Kingston Coal company, at Edwardsthe mayor has inaugurated the crusade against vice and immorality for the denied. Mr. Escott and a friend went fees he receives from such cases. This to New York on a few days' recreation allegation he has met with the proposition that if the council will permit the police to co-operate with him he will turn over into the city treasury all fees arising from cases in which the police lodge information. This certainly disposes of the charge of selfish or mercenary motives.

An ex-policeman, Albert Houck, alleges that he was discharged from the force by the police committee for making an information against one of the most notoriously infamous houses in the city. He says that he would be on the force today if he had not made such information. This, if true, is a blistering reflection upon the police committee, and fully confirms the allegations made by 'he mayor.

It cannot be possible that a majority of the members of the city council endorse the attitude of the police committee in this matter. There certainly are a number of members, citizens of the highest standing, who are in sympathy with the efforts of the mayor to improve the moral atmosphere of Wilkes-Barre. 1s it not time these councilmen be heard from?

He owns one of the best | reached. and most extensive stone quarries in the state, located on the mountain near he is never dismayed by the proportions higher than others. of a contract. When bids were asked for to supply stone for the Hudson river bridge, at New York, Mr. Hendler tions and be went to work with characteristic energy to secure it, and was successful. Subsequently, the New York Herald made an elleged expose, charging that the official who had approved or awarded the contract to Hendler had received a bribe, and that the contract would be vitlated. In an perhaps not so well informed, believe interview with a News-Dealer representative Mr. Hendler is alleged to have admitted that it cost him $5,000 to secure this large contract, but does not admit that there was bribery. He is so confident his contract will stand that ply with its provisions at the shortest will be required. When in full operation fifty car loads per day will be shipped, and they will go over the Leis hoping Mr. Hendler will not be not be disappointed. So confident is he there will be no hitch that he is preparing for the erection of a large building for the nmodation of the large force of operation the vicinity of Hendler's munities in this section of the state. He says he has already received applications from thousands for employment on this contract.

SUIT FOR $26,000.

The Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Com

heirs of the late Colonel Hendrick B. Wright have brought suit against the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre ties claimed to be due by the comp for coal taken from land leased from Colonel Wright in 1879. The land is situated near Plymouth. The terms of the lease provided that the company should pay $4,000 annually until the merchantable coal should be mined and removed. The plaintiffs allege that in October, 1888, the company defaulted in the payments of the rentals and has failed to pay since, and continues to refuse to pay, refusing also to surrender the property, but continuing to take out the coal until last January. Attorneys Henry A. Fuller and George Bedd represent the plaintiffs and are

No Hurry to Take Action. The question raised concerning the line between Luzerne and Lackawanna counties continued to attract a little attention yesterday, especially in court use circles, but so far as could be learned the county commissioners and their attorney are contemplating no step in the direction of an inquiry or investigation. A surveyor who is well nformed on the subject yesterday said to the writer that he had very serious doubts whether Lackawanna county at any point came within less than ter miles of the city of Wilkes-Barre. Taking a map he pointed out the dividing line between the two counties. He fig-ured that if the line anywhere encroached upon the ten-mile limit the territory involved was so infinitesimal as to be not worth the agitation threatened, or the expense involved in an attempt to correct the lines if an investigation should show that they needed readjust-

Moreover, the opinion of the attorney general in the premises is neither final nor conclusive. The question whether in creating new counties, the measurement should be made from the court house or from the boundary of the city containing the count house, is as open to controversy as before the attorney general gave his opinion in the Grow county case. The question, if it shall be raised, will be decided not by the attorney general, but by the courts.

PITTSTON.

A very serious conflagration tool place at Sternerville, a suburb of West Pittston, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, in which several business places were totally destroyed. The fire was discovered in the rear of the Mackin House, and the flames spread rapidly and were soon beyond control. The fire gained so rapidly that it was impossible to remove any of the furni ture from the house, and the flames soon spread to the adjoining buildings A telephone message was sent to the Pittston exchange requesting aid, but it failed to reach any of the fire companies. The citizens of Sternerville have just purchased a complete set of fire extinguishing apparatus with the exception of an engine, but have as yet no hydrants. A bucket brigade was formed and garden hose was supplied but were only serviceable in confining the fire to the four buildings, which does great credit to the firemen who succeeded in saving the neighboring houses which were scorched by the intense heat. Three of the buildings destroyed belonged to the Mackin estate, and comprised a hotel, store and dwelling. The hotel was occupied by E. J. Mackin, who, with his family, barely scaped with their lives. The store building next to the hotel had been recently erected and was occupied by Fred Gabriel as a butcher shop on one side and a barber shop on the other. Only a few articles were saved. The dwelling was occupied by Constantine Aroura, and was also completely destroved. The fourth was owned by Charles Moses and was used as a wholesale liquor store and dwelling being occupied by Mr. Moses himself It was also totally destroyed. The to tal loss will reach nearly $13,000. It the several buildings and goods at The buildings were located in the central part of the village and it was only through the efforts of the firemen that the whole business portion was not destroyed. The heat was so ntense, the window glass was cracked and the paint was blistered on houses on the opposite side of the street. There
