THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE --- SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1895.

Yesterday was an off day for scheduled games in the Eastern league. Nevertheless Scranton and Syracuse played off the tle game between them, being won by the latter, and Toronto and Buffalo broke even in the two games played at Toronto. The only noticeable change in the standing of the clubs is the slump of the Scrantons, having within a few days dropped from a rather secure berth in second place to sixth position.

BATTED DELANEY HARD.

The Salt Lickers Win an Interesting Contest with the Stick.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Syracuse, May 24 .- The ability of the home team to find Delaney when hits were needed explains Scranton's defeat today. The visitors touched Barnett up quite lively in the early part of the game, but while they were doing this, the Salt Lickers piled up eight runs in two innings. Minahan, of Syracuse, made three errors on third, and then went in and redeemed himself by hammering out a home run. Captain Sweeney, of the Scrantons, put up a good game, and the visitors as a whole fielded with vin m

FUNERAL OE ELMER WILLIAMS

Impressive Services Held at the Home of llis Parents on South Main Avenue. Sale of St. David's Hall-Personals and News Jottings.

In memory only will the late Elmer Williams, of the West Side, live in the future with his many friends and relatives. The last goal, the grave, was reached yesterday in a career which is fraught with continued brightness, and which was so suddenly interrupted by the hand of death last Wednesday morning. The young man's parents are prominent West Side residents; the father, Honorable John T. Williams, holding a widespread reputation as a result of election to the state legislature. At the funeral yesterday after noon the large South Main avenue residence, where the obsequies were observed, was wholly inadequate to accommodate the throng of mourners that gathered there.

In the house a handsome oak coffin was surrounded by many floral tributes, prominent among which were a handsome bouquet from Robert Morris lodge a floral pillow, inscribed "Sunday Schoo Class," from Henry P. Davies' class, of which the deceased was a member; bouquet given by the family of Thomas D. Davles, and many others from num erous friends. Rev. W. S.
