Mrs. O. B. Wright, of Madison avenue, has returned from a visit with friends in New Haven, Conn.
George W. Benedict, Jr., registered on Saturday as a student in law in the office of Hulander & Vossburg.
E. J. Mahoney, manager of Telephone exchange, spent yesterday in Philadelphia as the guest of his brother, James Mahoney.
On motion of Attorney J. H. Hamilton, James M. Frits, a member of the Luzerne county bar, was Saturday admitted to practice in the county.
Mrs. Ira Tripp and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tripp will leave San Diego, Cal., today, and are expected to arrive at their residence on North Main avenue on Saturday.
C. G. Boland, district deputy of the Hepatophages; E. D. Jones and M. M. Bennett, returned Saturday from New Haven, Conn., where they attended the meetings of the supreme convocation of the order.
M. J. O'Toole, of the city staff of the Republican, has resigned to accept the position of city editor of the Times. Though a comparatively recent arrival in the ranks of Scranton's daily newspaper writers, Mr. O'Toole has rapidly forged to the front and won for himself a prominent position among his colleagues by reason of his brilliant feats as a news gatherer. Under his guidance the local columns of the Times should become more interesting than ever.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH SIDE.
Death of Michael Dempsey After an Illness of Two Months—Strange Disappearance of Teresa Tobin.
After an illness of two months of spinal disease, Michael J. Dempsey died at 4:30 Saturday morning. He was 23 years of age, and four years ago was married to Miss Emma Clifford, an estimable young lady, whose present bereavement has caused her the greatest sympathy of the entire community. Two small children are left fatherless. He had been for twenty years in the employ of William C. Connelley & Co., a greener part of it being spent as trusted clerk in the Meadow Brook store. He was possessed of a genial disposition, and had friends who will be held in remembrance. The members of Branch 85, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, held a meeting to prepare for attending the funeral, which will be held this morning at 3:30 with a high mass of requiem at St. John's church. Interment will be made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.
Teresa Tobin Missing.
Seven-year-old Teresa Tobin, daughter of Michael Tobin, of 922 Irving avenue, disappeared from home at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, and has not been seen by her friends since. The child had her supper about 6 o'clock and an hour later left the house, clad only in a light frock, and wearing no shoes. Her parents did not worry about her absence until 9 o'clock, and when they searched among the neighbor's houses she was not to be found. The police were apprised of her disappearance. But no trace of her could be got. As Irving avenue is within a short distance of the woods the supposition is that she may have strayed and lost her way. The parents are very much alarmed.

Physicians
prescribe Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites because they find their patients can tolerate it for a long time, as it does not upset the stomach nor derange the digestion like the plain oil. Scott's Emulsion is as much easier to digest than the plain oil as milk is easier to digest than butter. Besides, the fish-fat taste is taken out of the oil, and it is almost palatable. The way sickly children, emaciated, anemic and consumptive adults, gain flesh on Scott's Emulsion is very remarkable.

TWO MEMORIAL SERMONS
Served by Rev. Dr. Pearce and Rev. Warren C. Partridge.
ANY BEAUTIFUL THOUGHTS
Interwoven with Beautiful Sentiments by the Eloquent Clergyman—Ezra Griffin Post at Penn Avenue Church and Monies Post at Elm Park.
Elm Park church, although so spacious, was crowded last evening at the memorial service to such a degree that many persons were unable to secure seats, and returned in great disappointment. Colonel Monies post and the Women's Relief society were present in a body. The specially arranged responsive readings were most heartily received by the vast and attentive audience of unusual excellence, comprising special music most appropriate for the occasion, was rendered by the choir.
Rev. W. H. Pearce's memorial address, "The Sacrament of Flowers," was the masterpiece of the eloquent preacher's orations. At many times during the address the veterans showed evident signs of deep emotion, and many of them when the reverend gentleman in a sympathetic manner touched upon the history of old associations. The following extracts from the address will illustrate the beautiful thoughts so well presented by Dr. Pearce:
"This nation cannot keep in too sacred remembrance nor can it by any chance or purpose too highly honor the men who, during the dark struggling days between '61 and '65, stood like wall of adamant between us and our irreconcilable enemies, or laid down their lives for the freedom of our daydream. The tongue of eloquence can never pronounce on them an encomium that would be too worthily given. The historian can never emblazon their names too highly or richly on the national escutcheon, and garlanded procession may not too often march with benedictive hands can never be too imposing or magnificent; for there, men, fighting as they did, and for what they did, deserve to be lauded with the fairest renown and everlastingly enshrined in the nation's heart."
"Their gallant service for country. The march of these great heroes through the last watch of the nation's dark night, and saw the hellish monster of human slavery die, since they have gloriously atoned that the great and beautiful Mississippi Valley was never dug for freedom's grave, that the Blue Ridge that looked down so long on the bloody strife was never piled for Liberty's monument; since they have proven that the myriad-fingered wings now folded away in winter snow, did not become freedom's wings, and the staff that bore the Stars and Stripes so triumphantly did not become the staff to be waved for a less cause. Since this, they deserve a paean, trilled by the truest and highest honor, and the choicest of our nation's songsters should sing of them with the fervor of their activities and with flowers of scarlet and crimson that suggest suffering, and with the flowers of the victor's victory, and with wreaths of evergreen that suggest immortality. It ought to take up its grateful march to the sepulchral temple of the honored dead. Oh, if we could comprehend by any measure of thought or range of vision just what these great men have done for us, we would cover their graves deeper with summer blossoms than they have ever seen covered with winter snow. God forbid that the perfume of a nation's thanks, the kiss of a nation's love and the shout of a nation's deliverance should ever be withheld from these brave men who set themselves sternly shoulder to shoulder, making their breasts a bulwark for the nation's freedom, and if the time should ever come when this redeemed nation becomes so mercenary, so ungrateful in what it owes to the men who failed to commemorate with appropriate and impressive ceremonies the valor and heroic deeds of our fallen soldiers, it deserves to be abandoned of God, and like the prophet's lament, written within and without with lamentations, moanings and wails."
A congregation which crowded every portion of Penn Avenue Baptist church attended the memorial services last night, when Rev. Warren C. Partridge preached a powerful sermon on "Patriotism." Ezra Griffin post was present in uniform. The musical portion of the services, which was delightfully rendered by the quartette and chorus, was most appropriate for the occasion. The edifice was beautifully decorated with flags, and the service was a most impressive one. The sermon was preached by invitation of the members of the Ezra S. Griffin post, and over 250 veterans were present, who cheered Mr. Partridge for his masterly address. The following extracts, taken from the reverend gentleman's address, indicate the eloquent terms in which he discoursed on the subject of the evening:
"True Christians are patriotic citizens. Patriotism is the safeguard of liberty and free institutions. Memorial Day is a monument to American patriotism, and it is pre-eminently fitting that the nation should reverse the memory of those heroic men who laid down their lives for their country during the Civil War. We owe a debt to those valorous veterans that can never be repaid. We should cherish their memory in perpetual gratitude as saviors of their country. No government is entitled without genuine patriotism among its citizens, and patriotism is as essential in times of peace as in times of war. "It is no country is love of country so paramount as in a republic. The very existence of democratic government depends upon the patriotism of its citizens. Republics have flourished in the history of the past as long as genuine love for country has turned brightly upon the hearts of its freemen. When the fires of patriotism have become extinguished the foundations of free institutions have crumbled and perished."
It is a Christian Virtue.
"True patriotism is a Christian virtue; it was inculcated by the founder of Christianity; it is immortalized in the writings of the Bible. It must be kindled in the heart of every American by cherishing the memory of the pa-trials of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"The welfare of the most powerful race on the globe is wrapped up in the destiny of America. No country on earth has been so wonderfully prospered. In its liberties and growth it stands without a parallel in human history. Its future is of incalculable value to the whole human race. Its influence will be felt on every part of the earth. Every man who lives under the Stars and Stripes should be grateful to Almighty God for this glorious country."
"Not only those who were born on these shores, but all who have come to us from the other nations of the earth, should love our free government and institutions with enthusiastic and unstinted loyalty. These veterans whose graves will be strewn with beautiful flowers on Memorial Day died for a principle. That principle was that the United States was destined by the Almighty to be one and only one nationality. The old flag today waves over a free and united country."
Other Memorial Services.
Memorial services were also held at the Second Presbyterian church, when the Rev. Charles E. Robinson preached an impressive sermon on "How to Make the Most of the Soldier's Sacrifice." The sermon was full of interest, and the choir rendered a large number of songs. C. Weeden, assisted by the chorus choir, presented a programme of appropriate music.
Rev. W. J. Ford, in his sermon at the Green Ridge Baptist church last evening, spoke on "The Duties of a Nation." The service was specially arranged, and was largely attended.
At the Providence Methodist Episcopal church, Chorister W. D. Watkins arranged an excellent musical programme. In the evening Rev. William Edgar preached a powerful sermon on "Unknown Graves."
BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.
Rev. W. G. Watkins Says That It Should Be Read.
A large congregation listened with deep interest yesterday morning in the First Baptist church to Rev. W. G. Watkins' sermon on the Bible in the public schools. After describing the action of the Supreme court of Wisconsin in what is known as the "Edgerton Bible clause," and the similar case now pending in our own court relative to the same, the reverend gentleman said: "Sifting the present case and lifting it from a local to a general application, it is the old question, 'Should the Bible be read in the public schools?' Unhesitatingly, yes."
"First—Because in no sense can the Bible be called a sectarian book. It belongs to no man or set of men exclusively—as the atmosphere is God's gift to all his creatures, which have lungs to appropriate it, so is the Bible to all creatures having souls to whose needs it is adapted."
"Second—Because of the incalculable benefit which has accrued from the long established custom of reading it to the human race. The verdict of history is emphatically affirmative."
"Third—Bible teachings, wherever known, are recognized as the basal principle of the government. An imposing array of names and opinions can be adduced in substantiation of this claim. One or two will suffice. John C. Calhoun, the historian, declared that 'Henry VIII. in placing the open Bible in all the schools of England, and commanding the clergy to exhort and encourage the people to resort to it and read it, was laying the foundation stone of the whole later history of England.'"
"Coleridge says: 'For more than a thousand years the Bible has gone hand in hand with civilization, law, science, with the moral and intellectual culture of the species, always supporting them, and often leading the way. It has rendered the nations having it a chosen race; and this in exact proportion as it is more or less read and understood, and studied. God and holy men, the best and wisest of mankind, the kindly spirits of heaven, are enthroned in the hearts of its mighty nations, have borne witness to its influence, declared it to be beyond compare the most perfect instrument of humanity.'"

OUR CLUB IS HOME AGAIN
Manager Barnie Still Hopeful for the Future.
WE MUST HAVE A WINNING TEAM
If the Boys Do Not Begin to Hit the Ball Soon He Will Make Changes—Are Playing a Great Game in the Field.
The Scranton base ball club and Manager Barnie arrived home early yesterday morning. The players are well, but most of them have lame arms as a result of the severely cold and damp weather that prevailed throughout the trip. Smith, the New York catcher, recently signed, is in Philadelphia, where he was summoned on account of his mother's illness. He will come to Scranton today or tomorrow.
To a Tribune reporter Manager Barnie yesterday talked quite freely concerning the recent trip, during which the club dropped from second to sixth position.
The severe weather of the first week of the season was sadly commented upon by him as the two chief reasons for losing more than a reasonable number of games. He argued, too, that the Scranton club had to contend against luck in several contests.
When asked if he would release some of the players, Manager Barnie responded emphatically that he would do so if in a reasonable time they did not show a disposition to hit the ball. "Scranton will have a first-class team if money and effort can secure it," he said. "We want the support of the public, and we know that to be successful we must have a winning team."
In field work no club in the league has done better than ours. If we had been as fortunate in batting we would not be in the sixth position, but the season is young and our present position in the race does not signify that we will not do better."
Today and tomorrow the team will practice, and with good weather will be in condition for the first games at Wilkes-Barre Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. Thursday afternoon Wilkes-Barre will play in this city.

Smith, the New York catcher, recently signed, is in Philadelphia, where he was summoned on account of his mother's illness. He will come to Scranton today or tomorrow.
To a Tribune reporter Manager Barnie yesterday talked quite freely concerning the recent trip, during which the club dropped from second to sixth position.
The severe weather of the first week of the season was sadly commented upon by him as the two chief reasons for losing more than a reasonable number of games. He argued, too, that the Scranton club had to contend against luck in several contests.
When asked if he would release some of the players, Manager Barnie responded emphatically that he would do so if in a reasonable time they did not show a disposition to hit the ball. "Scranton will have a first-class team if money and effort can secure it," he said. "We want the support of the public, and we know that to be successful we must have a winning team."
In field work no club in the league has done better than ours. If we had been as fortunate in batting we would not be in the sixth position, but the season is young and our present position in the race does not signify that we will not do better."
Today and tomorrow the team will practice, and with good weather will be in condition for the first games at Wilkes-Barre Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. Thursday afternoon Wilkes-Barre will play in this city.

FACTS
A few years ago if you wished to buy a nice lamp, handsome Dinner or Toilet Set, fine Bric-a-Brac of any kind, you were compelled to go to New York or some of the larger cities to get them, as they were not kept on sale here.
NOT SO NOW
We carry as large and as fine a line as carried in larger cities and for less money.
Some may doubt it, but we are prepared to prove this assertion. We buy all our goods direct from manufacturers in this country and abroad. Our expenses, rent, etc., is only a fraction of that paid by dealers in large cities. We can sell for 25 per cent. less and still make as much money as they do. Seeing is believing. We have the goods; come and see them and we will give you the prices.
