For six months there have been cries o sire of the Order of Elks that there should be peace. Yet a few selfish and designing men have done and are doing all that they can to prevent peace and reconciliation. It shall be my first duty to use my utmost endeavor to establish a perfect and agree able runion of all the lodges and restore harmony. If I fail after exhausting these efforts and our misguided secessionists still desire war and conflict, they shall have it. They seem to take pride in a useless dissension, and seem determined to disrupt the order. In my official capacity I am determined to prevent the latter. No court of record has yet given a decision that puts that stamp of legality upon the Atlantic City faction. I warn all lodges holding or claiming to hold dispensations and charters from the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks from recognizing in any way the so-called and spurious grand lodge which met at Atlantic City in June, 1894, and which it is proposed to hold in July, 1895. It burned up fiercely and was totally destroyed. The fire did not damage adjoining buildings and was put out at 2 a.m.

The origin of the fire is unknown, neither was it learned whether much insurance had been carried on the destroyed stock. Perrin's loss is not estimated; Berry's loss is $1,500; Fritsch's $1,500, and Buss' $1,000. The building by the fire at 6 o'clock this evening, and Patrick J. Duddy, a mine boss, and Morgan Bevan, a timberman, were badly burned. The cause of the fire is laid to a Polish miner who was at work in his breast of the mine and the way he set off a small feeder of gas. He endeavored to extinguish the flames, but was unable to do so, and without raising an alarm or notifying any one, he made his way to the foot of the shaft and went hme The flames made rapid headway and soon spread to the timbers and brattice work, and the first intimation that anything was wrong came through the

an equestrian statute of the late Major

When the bill appropriating $10,000 for the removal of the Eastern penitentiary came up on final passage there was some opposition.

The bill passed-yeas, 114; nays, 42. Mr. Lytle, of Huntingdon, at 3 b'clock called up for final passage the representative apportionment bill. Mr. Peltz, of Philadelphia, said this was an adroit trick of the enemies of apportionment to defeat the bills relating to this important question. Mr. Niles, Tioga, said that one hundred and fifty papers in the state expressing Republican sentiment had asked for these apportionments. The house he argued, should pass these bills and send them to the senate and let that body, which was trying to defeat them in this house, have the odium of their defeat in their own chamber.

Mr. Stewart, Philadelphia, said that they were here as sworn members to obey and support the constitution. Mr. Lytle, Huntingdon, asked him if the same oath was not taken at the session of 1893, and if an effort at all was mad to consider apportionment bills. Mr Lytle used the same argument as when the bills were before considered, saying that the constitution did not make i imperative to make an apportionment at this time, and that was the opinior of some of the greatest lawyers in the state. Will Imperil the Party.

Mr. Lawrence, Washington, said that he feared the action of the members to day would put the grand old Republi-can party in peril; although he did not favor the bills as presented, he nevertheless favored the apportionment of the state. Mr. Riter, Philadelphia, denounces the whole thing as a scheme to defeat apportionment. He wanted the bills laid over until Monday night, when there would be a caucus of the Republi-can members, and the decision of that caucus should decide the fate of the caucus should decide the fate of the bills. Those who were urging the con-sideration of these bills at this time, he said, had gone into an unholy alliance with the Democratic party in the house, who were praying for no apportions of the best known women connected with ment. On agreeing to take up the bill that denomination, died at her residence for consideration the yeas were $5 and in Philadelphis of apopiexy.

Appellate court bill passed finally to-night in the house by a vote of 108 to 30, Mr. Merrick, the legal oracle of farmers, made a strong fight against the measure and was beaten at every turn. He precipitated a long debate by motion to go into committee of the whole to amend the bill by fixing salary of judges at $5,000 a year, in-stead of $7,000. Discussion was sud-denly brought to a close by Little, of Philadelphia, moving previous ques-tion. This was agreed to, after which the whole was defeated. The bill then passed finally. HURT ON THE GRAVITY.

Fred Smith Leans Out of a Car Window and Receives Severe Injuries That May Cause Death.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Honesdale, May 31 .-- A sad accident occurred on one of the excursion trains on the Gravity railroad returning from Farview Thursday evening. Fred Smith, of Seeleyville, was riding in baggage car No. 1 in company with a large number of friends. Just above No. 2 he leaned his head far out of the window just as the train passed into one of the "cellar holes." His head struck the stone wall with terrific force. As the car emerged into the light one of his friends, standing on the rear platform, noticedhis body hanging limp out of the window. He was lifted inside and carefully laid on the floor. Blood was streaming from an ugly gash above the left ear and from a wound on the face. At first it was thought he was dead, but a few short breaths showed signs of life. Dr. Foster was on the train and attended to the unfortunate young man. He was removed from the train at Seeleyville and taken to his home. He regained consciousness for a short time, but soon relapsed into unconsciousnes again, and was in that state until this afternoon, when Drs. Burns and Foster performed the operation of trephining. The operation was successful and it is hoped he will recover.

rise in prices of wheat and cotton. Real scarcity of either would affect all business. Happily there is slim room to hope that accounts of injury are greatexaggerated, although there has 1y en some evidence during the week that both the great crops have suffered more than at first appeared. Other changes are almost all favorable and some highly encourageing. Labor troubles are clearly less threatening.

Monetary conditions are satisfactory and the substantial increase in the commercial demand is a good sign. Exchanges through the clearing houses have been greatly inflated by specula tion, and at this time last year were cut down by the coal strike, and toward the end of May, 1893, greatly reduced by bank failures, but for the week exceed last year's by 19 per cent., and fall only 5.6 per cent. below those of 1893, while the daily average for May is 26.9 per cent. larger than last year but 7.1 per cent. less than in 1893.

Stock speculation has shrunk to less than half its volume three weeks ago, and is almost wholly confined to professionals, in spite of better earnings. The failures during the past week have been 215 in the United States against 182 last year, and 34 in Canada against 27 last year.
