WILKES-BARRE.

The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 28, Laining building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luserne county news. For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

QUAY COUNTY.

How the News from Harrisburg Was Re-

coived in Wilkes-Barre. Yesterday when a dispatch was regrived from Harrisburg announcing that the so-called Quay county bill had passed the house, considerable surprise was expressed by those who were not aware that on the previous day intimations came from the state capital to the effect that there was imminent danger of the passage of the bill. Representative Greiner, of the Wilkes-Barre district, seems to have been conbe defeated and so advised the board of trade by wire on several occasions during the week.

No one here seems to have any doubt is not improbable that in the course of in every thing. smaller one from Schuvlkill. Under the will be able to outvote those in the more children. remote townships and boroughs. It is very generally understood that, except in Hazleton City, Hazle township and portions of Foster township, the people are opposed to the new county, and will vote against it. According to the last 494, and Foster township, including Freeland borough, 9,320.

It will be seen that these two townships, together with Hazleton City and Freeland borough, contain a population of 33,686, considerably more than half of the population in the entire pro-posed new county. It is admitted that Hazleton and Hazle township will vote pretty hearly unanimously for the new will vote the same way by a large majority. But the people of Luzerne will now feel less than ever like consenting to the erection of a million dollar new court house. The people of Hazleton are happy and well they medals are awarded to five pupils. may be. With the erection of the new county the city of Hazleton will receive an impetus that will send her well along on a career of prosperity. Taxes may be heavy for a time, but the people will not complain on that account.

REJECTION OF THE BIDS.

The County Commissioners Getting Ou of the New Court House. Dilemma. Commissioner Dullard is authority for the statement that the board off county commissioners have decided to reject all of the five bids received for the erection of a new court house acgive the figures of any of them. For have been determined by the court. once, the commissioners have done something in this new court house business for which they will be commended. By this decision they demonstrate Miss Helen Lynn, of Kingston, at the that they have not quite lost their heads. With a temporary disjunction hanging over their heads restraining them from accepting bids the true reasen for rejecting them is apparent enough to the average mind. Mr. Dullard remarked that the commissioners would not make any further move until after the injunction is disposed of.

One of the contractors who had in a bld talked freely yesterday and said his own bid was considerably below a million dollars, and was as low as a of Architect Meyers without ruin to contractor. The impression prevails very generally that the commis sioners have rejected all of the bids in lump as the easiest way out of a drews will be the guest of Rev. Dr. dilemma in which they had foolishly involved themselves. The best thing they can now do is to make the easiest settlement possible with Architect Mayers and get out of their scrape with him. There is still a chance for the present board of county commission to retrieve themselves.

All through the morning Taylor was in the saddle, and about 2 in the afternoon was confronted with Sheriff Murphy, Constable Brown and Detectice Moran. Taylor was very cool, however, and in a cunning way tor-mented and finally eluded his would-be captors. He would ride around allowin then galloping to the bridge spanning the canal at the foot of Union hill, bid the sheriff to follow him and galloped off.
