Three Verdicts Against the Carbondale Traction Company.

GUMAER CASE STILL ON TRIAL

ases That Wore Hoard Before Judge Archbald-Peculiar Case in Which Harry Richardson Is Defendant, Facts in the Case.

After court opened yesterday morn ng the jury in the cases of Henry Collins, W. L. Hunter and Mary E Purdy against the Carbondale Traction company came into court with its ver-dicts. Collins was allowed $500, Hunter $450, and Mrs. Purdy $50. The Collins verdict was accompanied by a special finding made at the request of Judge McPherson, which set forth that Colins' property in addition to the other njury had been damaged by the operation of the road close to his sidewalk

o the extent of $200. The jury in the case of A. J. Ribish and wife against Benjamin Sweetzer which was sent out by Judge Archbald Wednesday afternoon to prepare a memorandum as to the manner tr which it arrived at its verdict of $175 for the plaintiffs, reported to court yesterday morning that it found the Ribishes were entitled to $213.76, from which they deducted $38.75 for breakage and coal bricks. The verdict as recorded is that the plaintiffs are entitled to $175 with interest from Nov. 1, 1892, an allowance being made for $66, paid on Feb. 1, 1892.

Chilton Trespass Suit.

Before Judge McPherson and a jury court room No. 2 the action in tresss of Joseph Chilton against the city Robert Stuart opened the case to the jury for the defense. A number of witesses were examined to show that the city had no knowledge that the sidewalk where Mrs. Chilton fell was deective and that the troubles she complains of were chronic long before the accident occurred. At 4 o'clock the defense rested and City Solicitor J. H. Torrey made the closing argument to the jury on behalf of the city of Caroondale. He was followed by Attorney Cornelius Smith for the defense. This morning Judge McPherson will charge

The ejectment suit of Edward Gunaer against Pardon T. Barber also continued on trial all day before Judge Edwards in the main court room, the time being consumed in hearing evidence on the part of the defendant. Among the witnesses sworn were Pardon T. Barber, Attorneys T. J. Chase and G. L. Halsey, of Wilkes-Barre, Attorney C. H. Soper, William Barber and Marvin Barber. It is not probable the case will go to the jury before tonight.

Before Judge Archbald. Down in court room No. 3, before Judge Archbald, the case of Ernest Mott against W. H. Smith was put on trial. Smith had the contract for the erection of the graded school at Clark's Green and Mott was employed in its construction. He says there is a balance due him and he sued to recover it. Smith's defense was that Mott was his partner and received one-half of the profit obtained from the contract, which amounted to $60. For Support of His Mother.

The case on trial in court room No. 3 when court adjourned was of a peculiar character. Lazarus Moyer, a Philadelphia liquor dealer, was plaintiff and Harry Richardson, of Providence, defendant. In 1888 Richardson entered into an agreement to pay his mother, who was then a widow, $5 per month, and Mr. Moyer became security for

The payments were made regularly until Mrs. Richardson marrried a man named Jones, and then Harry refused to pay any more money. After a time his mother brought suit against Moyer as security to recover $300 due her on the agreement with her son. She recovered and the supreme court sustained the verdict. Moyer is now suing to recover from Richardson the amount of the verdict and costs of suit, all amounting to about $500.

Attorneys E. C. Newcomb and George D. Taylor are counsel for the plaintiff, and John F. Scragg for the defense When court adjourned Moyer, the first witness, was on the stand.

Councilmen Aghast at an Opinion by City Solicitor Torrey.

GREAT MUNICIPAL CHANGE

ecording to Mr. Torrey, the City Coun cils linve No Need of an Auditing Committee While We Have a City Controller.

One of the most important matters that has yet received consideration from the city councils came up at the meeting of select council last night. In the months of October, November and December of 1894 a bill of $477.70 was presented to councils by Mayor Connell for detective services. Councils refused to pay the bill and last might an opinion on the matter was received from City Solicitor Torrey. The city solicitor takes the view that the city clerk is the one empowered to ments, without and not requiring the draw warrants as soon as bills are sent in approved by the heads of departconsent or approval of the auditing committee. If there is anything wrong with the bills the city controller is the proper person when the warrant reaches him for countersignature to investigate and find out the defect. Following out the advice laid down in the opinion City Clerk Lavelle, at the instruction of the mayor, drew warrant for the detective bill.

The city clerk read a communication from himself stating that fact to councils and giving also the written opinion of the city solicitor. The opinion is long one, but the paragraph in which the whole matter is summed up is as City Solicitor Torrey's Opinion.

"It has seemed to me ever since I became familiar with the operation of the city government, that as to all appropriations made directly to departments, it would be much simpler, less confusing and more conducive to regularity, and more convenient for persons having claims against the city, if warrants went directly from the heads of departments to the controller. Moreover, the practice of passing bills through the auditing committee and councils has a tendency to weaken the feeling of responsibility which ought to rest upon the controller to thoroughly investigate every claim against the city, and there is a liability to the feeling that the bills having already been investigated and passed upon, they may be approved or countersigned without much examination.

"The law very carefully places the entire weight of responsibility for all nue, was married to Miss Bridget Jenthis upon the controller, and furnishes nings, of Mulberry street, in the preshim with the power to examine wit nesses and makes him and his bonds men responsible for the proper discharge of the duties, none of which statements are true of the councils or their committees." Mayor Connell also sent a commun cation and asked under the opinion to have a warrant drawn for the payment of the bill. The opinion of the city so licitor, if adopted, will virtually do returning about 8 o'clock, when a reception was tendered them at their own The opinion was referred to the judici ome on Perry avenue, and where the ary committee after a short debate supper was served. FOR EXECUTIVE APPROVAL.

Bill Providing for a Fire Marshal in Senator J. C. Vaughan has written to Secretary Dolph B. Atherton, of the Scranton board of trade, stating that the bill providing for the creation of an office to be known as a fire marshal in cities of the third class, has passed the state legislature and is now awaiting the signature of Governor Hastings.

The bill originated in the board of trade of this city, and was thought out by Insurance Agent R. W. Luce, chairman of the public safety committee of the board. Senator Vaughan introduced it and followed it through on passage It empowers the mayors of cities to which it applies to appoint the fire marshal, who will be vested with authority to discover the perpetrators of incediary fires or attempts, successfu or otherwise, at arson. The new offi cer will, it is confidently believed, serve as a strong preventive to crimes of this nature. NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

New Jersey at Mauch Chunk. He has been with the road since 1867. The St. Louis Local Passenger asso clation was organized last week with E. W. Braisted, joint agent of the St Louis Eastbound Traffic association, as secretary. The gymnasium class of the Dela ware, Lackawanna and Western Young Men's Christian association will have a street run after class drill Monday ening, June 10.

The convention of the Order of Rail-way Conductors last week adopted a report entirely exonerating the retiring secretary and treasurer, W. P. Daniels, from charges preferred against him, and censuring those who made them. Mr. Daniels was presented with a valuable watch as a mark of confidence and appreciation of his long services for the order.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is confronted with a deficit of $78,000 in the general fund, and the convention at Galesburg last week spent much time over the problem of eeting it. The printing plant seems to have been run at a considerable loss as plants of that kind are very liable to be run. The resignation of Grand Master Wilkinson, which he afterward desired to withdraw but was not permitted to do, also made a subject for much discussion.
