WILKES-BARRE

[The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 29, Laning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luserne county news. For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

THE MAYOR'S LETTERS.

He Writes a Scathing Letter to the Council-Scores Mr. Reutlehuber. At the city council meeting last night two scathing letters from Mayor Nichols were read, the full text of which is

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 10, 1895. City Council:
Gentlemen—I my inagural address of this year I, inter alia, undertook to convince your honorable body of the necessity of providing a new system of managemen for the administration of our city govern ment. The organization recommended in this deliverance requires the establishment of a definite line of partition between the provinces of our executive and legislative branches, and the sub-division of the latter into departments each having a chief superintendent solely responsible for the performance of the services allotted to his jurisdiction. Your treatment of this suggestion justifies, in my mind, the conclusion that you are unwilling to furnish ment. The organization recommended in suggestion justifies, in my mind, the con-clusion that you are unwilling to furnish the legisintion it proposes. Hence I deem it proper to continue my effort to demon-strate the need of its adoption and, for this purpose, I respectfully invite your atten-tion to the inharmonious conditions now existing in our public service. These con-tentions are destructive of good govern-ment and their presence here is wholly due to a governmental management in which the spheres of duty and responsi-the power of appointment and dismissal entrusted to him, overcomes and renders nugatory all orders of the mayor not in conformity to his will or in any manner denying the supremacy of his rule. The ediate cause of the antagonisms in Immediate cause of the antagonisms in the police service recently exposed in the public press resulted from the uniawful and insulting actions of this functionary. Through his influence the mayor is deprived of the active and willing co-operation of the chief of police in his effort to dislodge from their ancient intrenchments and banish from our city the presence of certain hideous monsters of public vice. In this arraignment I do not mean to certain hideous monsters of public vice.

In this arraignment I do not mean to impute to, him sympathy for the criminals I would have undergo the law's punishment, or desire to have the haunts of immorality I would have extirpated, continued in this community. But motives are not relevant to the issue. I am constrained to submit to the consideration of your honorable body. The questions I am determined to press to a final solution am determined to press to a final solution are: First, Who is the commander of our police force, and, second, if the chief of police is the lawful occupant of this position, is he not bound to execute the orders of the mayor pertaining to the preservation of the public peace and the enforcement of the laws and ordinances? Of course these inquiries are more properly subjects for the attention of a judicial tribunal. Still, you can, in the exercise of your legislative power give to them a deare: First, Who is the commander of ou tribunal. Still, you can, in the exercise of your legislative power, give to them a determination free from all uncertainties. Indeed I am positive that the ordinances touching these questions, now in existence, fully support the rightfulness of my objection to the interferences of the chairman of the police committee. The command and direction of the police force are wholly committed to the chief and he cannot, therefore, submit to the dictations therefore, submit to the dictation others without violating the obligations of his office.

But the vicious practice against which I am protesting has been so long tolerated that it cannot be abolished until condemned in either some prohibitory legislation or judgment of the courts. Hence I respectfully suggest the adoption of an ordinance specifically forbidding the chairman of the pulies committee from underman of the police committee from under man of the police committee from undertakins, in any manner whatsoever, to control or influence the will, judgment or action of the chief of police in the discharge of his duties or the exercises of his authority. Such a measure would release our police service from the shackles of fear now demoralizing its discipline and enfeebling its efficiency. The men employed in this service are willing and well qualified to faithfully and fearlessly perform every duty and assume every responsibility connected with their stations. If bility connected with their stations. If the sured that obedience to the rules preassured that obscience to the rules pre-scribed for their government and the com-mands of their chief were the only price required for the continuance of their em-ployment, I am sure that public vice and crime in this community, could not escape the ceaseless scourgings of the law's pun-isoment.

crime, in this community, could not escape the ceaseless scourgings of the law's punishment.

The benefit thus attainable, however, cannot be fully realized without according to the mayor's office authority to compel the execution of the orders of its representative. The notions heretofore entertained concerning the prerognitives and powers of this official are destined to be speedily revolutionized. He is the chief executive of our city government, and the recognition due to this position must be yielded. I have in the plan of reorganization referred to, indicated a method by which your honorable body can elevate his office to this grade of dignity. But if you persist in your refusal to grant the legislation necessary to its introduction, the sentiment of this people will soon force us into the general municipal system of the commonwealth. They appreciate the absurdity and inexpediency of a scheme of management that conters upon the council the privilege of appointing and controlling the public servants charged with the duty of procuring obedience to their legislation. They realize the fact that disease in the public service is remediless unless responsibility for its existence is easily ascertainable. Their local price and divic particitism prompt them to insist upon a treatment of the mayor's of-floot that will secue for its administration men qualified to represent their city, at home and abroad in a manner corresponding to their intelligence and enterprise. Way do you discepted this demand of the people? Surely you cannot deny its existence. You know that all the people whom we represent indorse every past and present effort to advance our mayor to the rank and dignity and power occupied by those of the other cities of this commonwealth. Why, then, do you resist these efforts? If you are induced to take this position because you believe they are intended to bear conditions violative of the charter, you are following the guide of an error which is plainly apparent to all men learned in the law who have impartially investigated the question. If your opposition results from an unwillingness to trust the present incumbent with any additionly powers or privileges, then I any additionl powers or privileges, then I respectfully submit that, however abun-I respectfully submit that, however abundantly his unworthiness may justify the apprehensions by which you are actuated, your action constitutes a conspiracy against the will of the people and the law of the land. Finally I am sure that your determination to continue the degradation of the mapor's office of this city is not supported by any reason that cannot be annihiliated in the light of patriotic and dispassionate consideration.

der ordinary circumstances such an act of insubordination would furnish full war-rant for his impeachment, but because of rant for his impeachment, but because of the fact that he surrendered to an influence that has been for a long time allowed to govern his office, it would be unjust to hold him responsible for the offense. I know that he would cheerfully render obedience to the orders of the mayor if assured that it is his duty to do so, and I respectfully suggest that this assurance be given to him in an ordinance commanding him to give this recognition to the authority of the mayor. Supplied with this and the other ordinance I have recommended in this communication, all opportunities for the unseemly and harmful contention to which I have directed your attention would be removed and the people served in the executive departments of our government by those whom they choose for that purpose. Yours respectfully. F. M. Nichols, Mayor.

due to a governmental management in which the spheres of duty and responsibility are not ascertained and the fundamental allottment of civil powers and prerogatives ignored. Thus destitute of fixed boundaries each of the major and minor divisions of our municipal service is continually disturbed and weakened by the aggressions and usurpations of the others. Every public servant is subject to the dominion of many masters frequently exacting of him obedience to conflicting rules and policies. Twenty-one custodians of the councilmante or legislative power, supported alone by the authority of an unlawful custom, through the voice of their ruling number, their committees and the chairman of these committees, are the suppreme directors of the operations of every executive department of the government. Under such an illogical and discordant regime, vigor, efficiency and harmony of administration are impossible.

Especially is this statement true concerning the relation of the mayor to the council. His jurisdiction embraces all powers whose supreme function is to compel obedience to the laws, and he alone is responsible to the public for the execution of the trust thus confided to him. Any at-Gentlemen-I respectfully direct your at-powers whose supreme function is to compel obedience to the laws, and he aione is responsible to the public for the execution of the trust thus confided to him. Any attempt on the part of the council or a committee or member thereof to abridge this range of authority or to influence public agents assigned to its service to disregard the mandates and wishes of its representative is an act of usurpation of the most reprehensible character. Nevertheless, during all the time I have been permitted to allege that "I am the mayor of this city," like all my predecessors, I have been hindered and exasperated in the effort to discharge the duties of the office by just such invasions and interferences. I shall not at this time make specific application of the council other than the chairman of the police committee. He has continually and in the most offensive and tyrannical manner controlled the management of the police force, both in detations to the commanding officers and reprovals and suggestions to the individual patrol-man. The authority he thus arrogates to and suggestions to the individual patrol-man. The authority he thus arrogates to himself, accompanied with the menace in and in which all ordinances shall be tran-scribed within the period of time specified in the charter.

THE CHIEF'S REPORT. Arrests for the Month of May With Causes, Etc.

Chief of Police Briggs yesterday filed is report of work done in police circles in May, as follows: Arrests, 191; males, 160; females, 61; married, 68; single, 114; minors, 9. The nationalities were as follows: American, 100; Arabians, 2; colored, 16; English, 12; German, 9 Irish, 31; Jewish, 2; Polish, 10; Scotch, 4; Welsh, 5. The causes were: Assault and battery, 8; assisted home drunk, 29; carrying concealed weapons, 1; committed to jail, 29; drunk, 51; drunk and disorderly, 9; disorderly, 14; desertion,

2; disturbances quelled without arrest, 52; fighting, 7; frequenting houses of prostitution, 16; indecent exposure, 1; insane, 1; keeping houses of prostitution, 9; larceny, 2; maintaining nuisances, 16; nuisances removed, 52; obstructing sidewalks, 1; open bar on Sunday, 1; resisting officer, 2; renting houses of prostitution, 2; selling without license, 1; selling to drunkard, 1; trespass, 9; threats, 2; vagrancy, 36. There were nine fires discovered during the month, six of which were extinguished without alarm. Twentyfive dollars in stolen money was recovered by the police, and $62.44 was taken from arrested prisoners and restored.

Squabble Over a Bill.

down the murderers of Barney Reick, have presented the commissioners their bill which they claim is due on the case There was a dispute over some of the items, but finally the commissioners are said to have accepted the bill as fair and just. It is also said that County Treasurer Reed is considering the advisability of refusing to cash the order if presented. He does not claim that there is anything illegal about the bill, but there is barely enough ready money in the county treasury to meet current expenses until the tax returns come in, in August, and to disburse ready money for extraordinary expenses might embarass the county financially. The extravagance of the commissioners in the court house mat-ter, and their suspected, although not proven, collusion with the tricky westtern architect, to despoil the county treasury, has resulted in a revulsion of ublic feeling against them that should the opportunity occur, will be made manifest in a startling manner.

But the plea of this communication, in this behalf, only embraces one small crumb of the large loaf of recognition unlawfully denied this office and, therefore, I shall not at this time ask of your honorable body any action not thus solicited. Pursuant to the advice of the chairman of the police committee the chief of police has refused to execute certain orders of the mayor having for their object the suppression and punishment of crime. Under ordinary circumstances such an act The testimony given by Norris was . I never received any money from Myers or his son or do I know of any-

any intimation that Norris or anybody else had received money until Norris testified on Friday. Norris has been chief clerk since I went into office, Jan. 1, 1894. Was clerk for preceding board. I was also clerk under that board. Mr. Norris has had charge of the minute book and papers showing the proceedings of our board. He has also taken an active part in the business of the office and advised with the commissioners. Norris did not go with the commissioners on their trip; he went with me. Our mission then was to see buildings, to find something to suit our county. Norris was taken along as an ssistant. In the negotiations between Norris and Myers, Norris acted as chief clerk. He had an informal voice in these matters whenever he was asked Mr. Norris was intoxicated when he was sworn. He has been on sprees from clerk. We went for him on several ocgo on another spree. Mr. Norton further said that when he was examined before, he did not know for certain whether it was the first or the second $5,000 he saw drawn Thursday, June 20. from the bank, but now recollects it was the first time. At the bank were Tom Haines and George Reed, who saw the money paid in cash. The negotiations to give Myers $20,000 were conducted in the county commissioner's private office, before the commissioners, Mr. Moore and Mr. Bedford. The contract was submitted to Mr. Moore and Mr. Bedford for advice as to terms, etc., before it was signed. It had been re-written three or four times before it was signed. There was no estimate of court house to cost $600,000.

At this point Mr. Farnham asked: Will you build a court house now which Mr. Norton said: "We will if the people let us." Continuing his testimony, Mr. Norton said the plans were not submitted to the court but to the judges individually. Mr. Bedford instructed Mr. Myers to cut down the cost to $600,000. Mr. Norton said that Mr. Norris is an unusually competent clerk when sober, and the examination
