WILKES-BARRE.

[The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 20, Laning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luzerne county news. For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it to the people throughout northenstern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

The Lest Meeting of the Class of '95 As a Class.

Yesterday morning the class of '95 held its last session as a class in their class day exercises, which commenced at 19 o'clock. The assembly room was handsomely decorated with flowers and trimmed with maroon and white, the class colors, and the exercises were attended by the members of the class and a few invited friends.

President Harriet Davis delivered the opening address. Bayard Hand, the class orator, followed with an oration discussing the immigration question, its benefits to America, very ably. The oratory was also very creditable.

Appropriate quotations for each member of the class were then read by Laura Hoffman. Daisy Stevens followed with a well delivered recitation. After a selection in the class chorus, Minnye David prophecied the future of the members. Some were told of the humorous positions in which they will be seen in the future while others will fill more serious roles. Miss Kittle Terry was the diarist of the class and read a very humorous composition, dealing with the past events and doings of her schoolmates. Miss Anna Potts read a well-written essay on "Friendship," after which Miss Mary Gillespie read the class poem. This was both humorous and pathetic in places and was a very creditable poetic effort. Miss Lillian Lane gave a short recitation, which was well received, after which Frank B. R. Sahm delivered the "Mantle" address, which was responded to by Edward McGinty. '96. The will was then read by Miss Louise Lines, and the gifts presented amid much merriment, after which the exercises closed with the class song, written by Rose Monahan. The class day exercises were much enjoyed both by the class and by their friends who were fortuniate enough to be present. Closing exercises were also held yesterday in the Hillard Grove school. They were largely attended by the parents and friends of the pupils.

SALVATIONISTS MEETING.

They Hold a Big Rally in the First Presby

Yesterday morning Commander Booth, of the Salvation army, was called to New York on urgent ners and Mrs. Booth addressed a large meeting held at the First Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock. She spoke in an earnest, emphatic manner that car-

It was all so interestingly told. and so replete with the life of actual incident, that the sympathy was thoroughly awakened and many a heart touched. While Mrs. Booth in her address acknowledged the great work being done by the churches, by individuals and societies, she claimed that the Salvation army gets numerous opportunities to do good, that never come to any other organization, and the army goes right into sin's own stronghold and grapples with it in an aggres-

She told by way of illustration ho her little daughter clung to a rag doll with the child's great sympathy, long after dolly had lost her eyes, her arms and portions of both legs, and had become generally dirty and disreputable. She spurned the new and more pretentious dolly and clung to the first inanimate treasure of her heart. So God cares for the fallen, the maimed, the erring and the unfortunate-not the less for the ninety and nine but the more for the one which is lost.

At the close of the address an opportunity was given to subscribe to the fund for the purchase of a lot and the erection of a barracks for the local branch of the Salvation army, and enough was added to bring the sum total up to $1,300. This amount, added what has been previously raised, makes a total of $2,800, leaving $3,700 yet to be secured.

paradise, so to speak. Heretofore the jokers of remown have been found among the best and most prominent citizens and their joking has been of the higher standard, partaking of the genuinely humorous. Recently there has been an innovation. An entirely new and novel class of jokers has appeared, and it is astonishing to see how the number has increased. The first of the lot was James M. Norris, late chief clerk in the county commissioners' office. James was placed on the witness stand under oath, to testify in the matter of the injunction against the commissioners. He testified that a portion of the money paid by the county commissioners to Architect Meyers had been received by himself and one of the commissioners. Subsequently Norris seemed to realize that possibly he had been indiscreet. At all events he declared that he was only joking when he testified as he did; he wanted

The construction of this material somewhat esembles that of the Duck Suitings, so prominent-

There is a distinguishing feature, however, about Teviot Suitings that separates them far above any wash materials ever introduced to the American consumer, in that they are the most desirable cloth ever suggested for gulf, cycling, ten-nis and walking gowns. In fact, they are almost indispensible, on account of the various uses for which they are adapted.
