DEFENDANTS WERE ABSENT

Their Bails Forfeited and Capiases Issued for Their Bodies.

MANY BONDSMAN ARE UNEASY

Cases in Which Pleas of Guilty Were Entered—Frank Scavo Tried for Shooting Miss Harriet Williams at Old Forge in August, 1893.

Defendants showed a great anxiety to keep away from quarter sessions court yesterday, whereby clogging the wheels of justice and giving the deputies in the sheriff's office plenty of employment chasing after the delinquent ones to bring them to the bar of justice. The failure of the defendants to appear for trial caused great anxiety among the worthy men who are entered on the records as their bondsmen and all the sweat the latter shed yesterday was not due to the heat of Old Sol.

As a result of the coyness of those accused of crimes there was not enough of business to keep the courts going and at 2 p. m. an adjournment was taken in the main court room until this morning.

Peter Jones was called upon to answer why he had forcibly and brutally violated Mary Befka. Thrice did Court Crier Snyder, in his deep bass quarter session voice, command Peter to appear, and when he failed to respond his bondsmen was a like number of times commanded to "produce the body of Peter Jones" as he had promised to do or "otherwise forfeit his recognizance." The bondsman was as little in evidence as the accused and the bail was forfeited and a capias issued for Mr. Jones.

Others Who Were Missing.

Thomas Pomphrey, charged by H. Goodman with false pretenses, did not answer when called and his bail was forfeited and a capias issued for him. Others with whom similar action was taken are: Thomas Loftus, aggravated assault and battery, Patrick Roach, prosecutor; Michael Kinish, larceny and receiving, John Jeznots, prosecutor; Mary Jeznots, larceny and receiving, John Jeznots, prosecutor; Mary Jeznots, adultery, Thomas Leyshon, prosecutor; M. D. Smith, tippling house, Alton Comstock, prosecutor; M. D. Smith, selling liquor on Sunday, Alton Comstock, prosecutor; George Chabra and Peter Bashtaska, felonious wounding, Powell Myulck, prosecutor; August Miglin, felonious wounding, Joseph Biddochas, prosecutor; Paul Bilski, felonious wounding, Samuel Meshanek, prosecutor; Mary Mahalka, assault and battery; Pauline Dehofsk,i prosecutrix; Charles Thiel, bawdy house, John Gilbride, prosecutor; Charles Thiel and Catharine Thiel, bawdy house, J. W. Clark, prosecutor.

Cases against Michael Coggins and Michael Ruffer, charged with larceny and receiving and receiving stolen goods respectively by George W. Okell, were continued until the next term.

Withdrew Plea of Guilty.

On Monday Albert Hammond and Sterling Bruce went before the court and admitted that they had looted nickle-in-the-slot machines at the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Saturday was fixed as the day for imposing sentence on them. Yesterday Attorney A. W. Bertholf obtained permission to withdraw the plea of guilty and substitute one of not guilty. The young men will now be tried before a jury.

James McCloskey, an attache of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, was arrested by Constable E. J. Neary, of Carbondale, for conducting a gambling house and soliciting people to gamble. He was committed to the county jail and remained there until yesterday, when a verdict of not guilty was taken on payment of the costs and McCloskey allowed to regain his liberty.

Verdicts of not guilty were taken in two cases against James Grant, of Dunmore, who died since being indicted. Grant tried to shoot Officer John Johler, of this city, after being placed under arrest and the indictments against him charged pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons.

They Admitted Their Guilt.

James Gerrity, Frank P. Richards and Lewis Brown admitted having stolen brass and lead from the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company. They are young men and will be sentenced on Saturday. George W. Okell is the prosecutor in the case. Joseph Hullsmaster, jr., of Carbondale, also entered a plea of guilty and will be sentenced Saturday. About a year ago he stole $30 from James Maxwell, of Carbondale, and then left that city. He returned two months ago and was arrested and indicted.

The case of Joseph Kinofski and John Shulkofski, charged with assault and battery by Louis Olshefski, which was on trial before Judge Albright when court adjourned Monday afternoon, was resumed yesterday morning in court room No. 2. A verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury and the defendants directed to pay two-thirds of the costs and the prosecutor, Louis Olshefski, one-third.

Thomas Morrison was arraigned before Judge Albright for embezzlement. The prosecutor was J. P. Reddington, who is a picture frame dealer, having a place of business on Wyoming avenue. The defendant was employed by him to solicit orders, but was directed not to receive any money, the prosecutor says.

He Collected Money.

Contrary to this understanding it was charged that Morrison had received money and appropriated it to his own use. The defendant testified that according to the terms of a written contract he had with Reddington he was empowered to collect the first installment on all orders. He did collect money and kept it, but it was in lieu of salary due to him by Reddington. He denied that he owed the prosecutor one cent. At 11 a. m. the case went to the jury, and later a verdict of not guilty was brought in and the defendant directed to pay two-thirds of the costs and the prosecutor one-third. Morrison was represented by Attorney L. P. Wedeman, and Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris appeared for the commonwealth.

Edward Heeney was tried for the theft of cabbage and hams from the store of F. P. Price, on Washington avenue. The jury said guilty but recommended Heeney to the mercy of the court. John Ribano was found guilty of having obtained a large quantity of bottled beer and other forms of liquid refreshments of a softer nature from Bottler James H. Davitt by false pretense.

Trial of Frank Scavo.

Frank Scavo was tried before Judge Albright for feloniously wounding Miss Harriet Williams, at Old Forge, on Aug. 13, 1893. Scavo and a number of other Italians were intoxicated on the night in question, and one of them, supposed to be Scavo, shot into a crowd and seriously wounded Miss Williams, who was on her way home from church. After the shooting Scavo fled, but three months ago was located at Hazleton, where he stabbed and badly wounded the officers who arrested him.

In his defense yesterday he tried to prove that he did not do the shooting, the guilty man being a companion of his. At 4 o'clock the case was given to the jury.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

(Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied, for publication, by the writer's name. The Tribune will not be held responsible for opinions here expressed.)

Those Shoplifters.

Editor of The Tribune.

Dear Sir—The police force of this city, led by Chief Simpson, are doing their best to cover themselves with glory over the recent arrest of the Italian gang of shoplifters, who, during the past few months, have stolen goods from the merchants of Scranton worth a good few thousands of dollars. Now, the fact of the matter is simply this: the police are deserving of the severest censure for their action in the whole preliminary proceedings, as they positively did nothing whatever to run down the gang, and had it not been for the untiring energy of G. L. Ackerman, jeweler 224 Wyoming avenue, the thieves would undoubtedly have remained unmolested still.

Briefly stated, the facts of the case are as follows: A week ago Mr. Ackerman lost two solid gold watches, and in thinking the matter over had no difficulty in placing the theft at the door of the Italians who were yesterday brought before Alderman Millar. Believing that the shoplifting was the work of shrewd professionals, he at once set out to find if his brothers in trade had suffered likewise. The result was that almost every jeweler in the city was caught the same way, and a comparison of events and notes led to the belief that the thieves resided in the city.

Before any action was taken Chief Simpson was notified, and all the information at command was placed before him. His answers to questions, etc., simply amounted to this in substance: "You locate the thieves and I'll see they're prosecuted," but from the day information was first given by Mr. Ackerman he did not, so far as we know, budge a peg to search for them.

About noon on Friday last Officer Meinzer, then on duty on Lackawanna avenue, saw one of the Italian women in the store of Edwin G. Lloyd. Mr. Pryor, an employe, recognized the woman as leader of the gang and passed the word to Mr. Ackerman and the officer, meanwhile shadowing her as she left the store, till he came up with Meinzer, who knew she was wanted. For some mysterious reason that officer wanted to change his clothes, although he could have placed his hand upon her and taken her in, and while he was engaged working up this mystery the woman escaped, going to Green Ridge, presumably, on the noon train.

These facts rekindled the belief that the thieves belonged to town, and seemed to be perfectly well known, yet the police were still inactive, waiting for something to turn up. Seeing that the police would or could do nothing, although one of the officers was in a position to identify the leader, Ackerman kept up his search and on Monday spotted the same woman with three men on Spruce street. Once more an officer had to be sent for, and Meinzer came along again and picked up the woman he had already let go. After her arrest hours were wasted with nonsense and inactivity. The three men were allowed to go and got home ahead of the police quite a long time. As a result none of the valuable jewelry or diamonds stolen have been found, the thieves being allowed ample time to place or dispose of the swag as they saw fit.

At the hearing yesterday afternoon the crowd were held in $500 bail, and there is not a business man in the city that does not think they were dealt with too leniently, as they are all known to be worth money, probably amassed from their operations among our merchants. Among the party who went to raid the home of the thieves special credit is due to the exertions of Captain Edwards as leader, and the untiring work of Mr. Pryor, Edward Miller and, last but not least, Mr. Ackerman. We may add that the report published in your issue of this date is the most accurate of any that has yet appeared. Trusting you will give this a place in your first issue, as we believe in giving honor to whom honor is due, we are

Yours,
G. L. Ackerman.

MORE GOODS UNEARTHED

Found in the House of Joseph Remona at 124 Ninth Street.

HE IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Three Large Trunks Full of Goods Were Shipped to New York by the Shoplifters Ten Days Ago—Merchants Who Have Identified the Goods.

Chief of Police Simpson is the recipient of congratulations on all sides for the completeness with which the shoplifting gang of Sicilian Italians was brought to the end of the tether.

More information was received which caused Captain Edwards, Detective Stephen Dyer and Patrolmen Walsh and Feeney to be sent to the premises of Joseph Remona, 124 Ninth srteet, and search them. The Ladotas used to live in that vicinity a year ago and Remona was very friendly with them. It was suspected that he had received a large quantity of the stolen goods.

His home was searched high and low with the result that enough articles to constitute a good-sized bundle was found; most of them were pieces of dress goods, laces, fine undergarments for children, etc. The building is a small one, but two stoves were in full blast, and the officers emerged half smothered from the search. Mrs. Remona was so nervous and excitable that the officers left her at home, but took her husband in charge. It is believed that this family is not guilty of any complicity in the larcenies, but that the goods found in its possession were purchased at cheap rates from the principals in the case.

Identifying the Goods.

Merchants by the score were at the police station yesterday morning looking over the spoils, each one assorting out what belonged to him. The amount of goods identified so far is valued at $400, and those to whom they belong are: Goldsmith's bazaar, P. B. Finley, Banister, Schank, Lauer & Marks, Brown's Bee Hive, E. Gorman, the Globe store, E. G. Lloyd, Mears & Hagen, Collins & Hackett, Cohen's shoe store, Heal Bros., and G. L. Ackerman.

Every pocket and loop in the goods was searched for jewelry, but none was found except what was mentioned yesterday. There was a large stock of religious articles. Mrs. W. B. Duggan searched the persons of the women and Patrolman Feeney and Sergeant Burke went through the three men, but there was no trace of spoil found.

Chief Simpson learned that Expressman William Noll, of Ninth street, was engaged by the Italians about ten days ago to cart three trunks to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot. The trunks, Mr. Noll says, were very heavy and consigned to New York city. So far the police have not been able to obtain any clue to whom the goods were addressed in New York, but they expect to soon discover the information that may lead to the recovery of them.

Prisoners Waived a Hearing.

The merchants have identified artticles that were stolen early last fall and late in the summer. There was a good deal of guying going on among the merchants; some of them went up to see the goods only through curiosity, but after looking over the goods it turned out that some of the articles belonged to one or the other of them.

The prisoners were taken to the court room in the morning at 9 o'clock and given a preliminary hearing and remanded until 4.30 in the afternoon.

At that hour there were present all the merchants who identified any of their goods among the spoils. The six prisoners were led out and bound over to appear at court. Attorney John T. Martin was present to represent them and he informed Alderman Millar that the defendants had decided to furnish bail to appear at court. Attorney Martin besought the alderman to temper justice with mercy in fixing the amount of the bail. Each of the three women has a suckling baby and Mrs. Spoto's child, the attorney said, will die if forced to breathe the atmosphere of the county jail.

Required to Furnish Bail.

The alderman called them up in couples and bound the husband and wife to furnish $500 bail each. Andrew Lodato and wife were called first, Philip Lodato and wife second, and Peter Spoto and wife third. Patrolman Sartor acted as interpreter.

The police have been on the outlook for the shoplifters for some time, as frequent complaints were made by merchants of the losses they suffered. It was for a time supposed that gypsies who are in the city were the culprits, and last Saturday two gypsy women were arrested and detained at the station house while a search of the camp was made. No goods were found and the women were thereupon released.

Suits of clothes and other articles that it would have been hard to sneak out of a store lead the police to the conclusion that the gang in custody were burglars as well as shoplifters.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

George Jennings is very sick at his home, 1410 Price street.

F. W. Pearsall will lead the meeting at the machine shops today.

Charles Vanfliet and Charles Seeley returned to work yesterday after a vacation of sixty days.

William H. Taylor, a brakeman on the Lake Erie and Pittsburg railroad, is visiting friends in the city.

Michael McCann, the gateman on Lackawanna avenue, is back at work again after a spell of sickness.

Passenger engine No. 188, run by Charles Adams, on trains 9 and 10, is just from the shop. She will be broken in today.

The Ontario and Western Railway company is putting in a system of electric signals for the protection of trains in the yard. They are what are known as "banjo" signals. They are operated by electricity through banded steel rails. One will be placed near each depot, and one a considerable distance from the yard limits at both ends.—Norwich Sun.

Business on the Syracuse division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western is so brisk that they had to make a call on Scranton for engines. Three have been sent up. They are engines Nos. 156, 131 and 105. Patrick Forken and Elija Alten are angry at the loss of their machines. Brother Bill came very near losing No. 166.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Mutual Aid association have ordered the death claims of Thomas Fox, of Black Rock, and William Masters, of Dunmore, to be paid at once from the surplus. Mr. Masters was killed by accident last Thursday and his death claim of $1,000 was ordered paid on Sunday before he was buried.

It is said that Henry Schneider, of Uhrichsville, is having cast a journal and box for car wheels, which will prevent hot boxes. Within the box are oil valves that by his system keep the journal constantly supplied with oil, and it is claimed a car can run 2,600 miles before a new supply is demanded. Two and one-half gallons of oil are specified as the quantity needed for a car to make the distant named.

A heavy retaining wall, which is nearly fifty feet in length, is being constructed in the neighborhood of the Northwest breaker. It is being built by the New York, Lake Erie and Western, and is for the purpose of preventing the ballast of the track from being washed into the river during high tide. The work is progressing under the supervision of Master Bridge Builder Saxton, of Thompson.—Carbondale Anthracite.

Delaware and Hudson switching engine No. 15, which has been undergoing a series of needed repairs at the repair shop, has resumed its business routine, and engine No. 86 of the same road and the duly extra standard class freight engine on the list, has been admitted to the shop in its lieu. Wooten engine No. 69 has also gne in for an overhauling and to be stripped of its American steam brake and be equipped with a new Westinghouse air brake instead of it.

From June 26 to July 9 the Fifth International Railroad Congress will be in session at the Imperial Institute, London. Delegates from all over the world have signified their intention of being in attendance, and it is thought that there will be good results from the interchange of views of the leading railroad men of both this country and Europe. This congress is ten years old and it meets every two years, but this session is the first one to which railroads of this country, outside of the Pennsylvania railroad, will have sent delegates. It has become such a factor that many of the prominent railroads in the United States are now members of it.
