A GREAT PARADE. Some Fine Bands Appear-The Pienie at

Mountain Park. The state convention of Germa Catholic societies ended yeterday with one of the finest street parades that Wilkes-Barre has ever seen. Early in the morning the societies began coming to town with flags flying and playing, and up to 10.30 o'clock th + starting hour, they kept constantly coming in. The best bands, and all were good, were the Ninth Regiment band of Wilkes-Barre and the Allentown band. It was a splendid turnout, one which will not be soon forgotten by those who saw it. WONDERS OF ANIMAL LIFE. From the Philadelphia Press There are a couple of curious snakes at the Zoo which really ought to become famous. Any one with a yearning to kill time ought to see these snakes. Nobody knows anything about them, simply be-cause nobody is willing to sit down for an hour or so and keep an eye on them. These snakes actually turn themselves into a clock and keep time. () of the serpent all the time. Whenever the two hands would ordinarily cross each other on a clock, the bands on this make clock and keep lime. They are two in number, one black as the noe of spades and the other alternate rings of red and black. Both are about two feet long. The ringed anake turns himself into a perfect circle, apparently putting the end of his tail in his mouth. The other these these these the to his marke. The other the starke. The other ties a knot in his middle, places this knot in the center of the circle made by his companion, puts its head and feet
