NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Open Air Meetings Conducted at Nay Aug Falls by Y. M. C. A.

TRAINING CLASS OF WORKERS

Organized by a Number of Boys--Items of Interest to the Members of the Different Denominations--Work That is Being Done.

An interesting phase of religious work in the summer open air meetings to be held Sunday afternoons at Nay Aug falls by Young Men's Christian Association workers.

The Roman Catholic church has been universally credited with being alive to the things which strengthen its hands among the people.

The Young Lutheran, edited by Rev. E. L. Miller, contains the following article on the "Roman Catholic Sisterhood."

The Little Sisters of the Poor care for the aged; the Sisters of Bon Secours are trained nurses who go out to the homes of patients whenever they are called.

The parochial report from May 31, 1894, to May 31, 1895, contains the following among other interesting items:

A. D. Holland was elected a member of the standing committee of the diocese at the Reading convention, and also a lay delegate to the general convention.

Mrs. Helen M. Fellows has accepted the position of matron of the summer home.

Wilbur M. Urban, candidate for holy orders from the Scranton parish, has recently graduated from Princeton college with the highest honors.

The parish house of St. Mark's church, which is to be built at once, will consist of two stories--the first for Sunday school and parish purposes, the second for worship until the church is built.

The Home Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held a very unique social Thursday evening.

It is announced that Rev. Owen Evans, minister of English Calvinistic Methodist church, Colwyn Bay, one of the most popular preachers in North Wales, has received an invitation to undertake the pastorate of the Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church at Minneapolis, United States of America.

Charles Pierce, Bangor, who founded the Pierce scholarship of 1891 in 1892, has given value to the Theological college, Bangor. A mass meeting of the Festivo quinquennial was held last week, when it was unanimously decided that an application be made for an advance in wages all round, in view of the higher prices obtained for slates and the general briskness of the trade.

The workmen of Mountain Ash are about to erect one of the finest institutes in Wales. It is to consist of a large hall, a lecture theater, club rooms, recreation rooms, together with a reading room and library. The total cost will be $3,500, of which $1,300 have already been collected. It is practically the outcome of a suggestion made some years ago by the present Lord Aberdare, who then promised in the name of his father the sum of $100 towards the formation of a public library.

A novel incident is related in connection with the visit of the Rev. Thomas Levi, Aberystwith--editor of Tysor's Plain--to the Holy Land. It appears that the company climbed the hill from which the priests claimed the blessings of God to the Israelites. Mr. Levi being a descendant of the tribe of Levi claimed the privilege of announcing some of the blessings. He did so, and was treated to a Welsh response. It came from an old Arab, who had accompanied the late Rev. John Mills, the eminent Welsh Palestine explorer, upon his travels, and had acquired Cymraeg pur.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bedford are rusticated at Crystal Lake.

ton, brother of our burgess, E. J. Stone, and Miss Fannie R. Sherman, of Waverly, had been married. Rev. F. H. Parsons, of the Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony at the parsonage. The young couple are well known throughout this part of the county and are highly esteemed. Mrs. Stone has been teaching school at Edella during the past school year. Many friends join in wishing the couple a long and happy life.

The Glenburn school house was crowded with a very attentive audience last Wednesday night to listen to Scott Palmer's recital of his trip to Europe, Asia and through Holy Land.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church met at the home of Miss Ida Sherman last Friday afternoon.

Children's Day was observed in the new church at the Summit on Sunday evening last in a very creditable manner.

The Children's Day programme, "The Garlands of Praise," was most creditably rendered at the Baptist church on Sunday evening last. The platform was tastefully decorated with the many hued flowers, and a very fine artificial fountain.

Main avenue, through Lorraine, is now completed, and thus supplies the missing link between Clark's Green and Clark's Summit. We trust that the chain will never be broken more.

H. P. Wilcox, our genial druggist, spent Sunday with friends at Nicholson.

Miss Sadie Maddas, of Scranton, spent several days with Sylvester Isby on Sunday, the finder will receive due reward by returning the same to Fred Clancy.

John Hannas now occupies his new home on the Highlands.
