WILKES-BARRE.

The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 29, Lanning building, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, for the transcription of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of the Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a complete department of news, and for the purpose of success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of the Tribune. The general character of the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general character of the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. THE PRICE JURY OUT.

The sensational ending of the case, probably a conviction. On Saturday morning court room No. 1 was crowded to the doors to hear the ending of the sensational Grand Central case. The case is one of the most ever tried in this court, and Judge Lynch was frequently obliged to call order and finally to threaten to have the court room cleared if the untimely applause and laughter were not stopped. The attorneys for each side gave the names of the witnesses, each in turn, and finally to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.

POLITICAL POINTS.

On the surface there are no indications of an intervention in the most of Quary battle for supremacy in the Republican party in Pennsylvania. It is known, however, that the great Republican leader, who has always had a strong following here, in connection with the delegates to the state convention, is looking to the selection of the delegates to the state convention. Linsme will have nine delegates in the convention, and the most of the delegates are devoted to Senator Quay. There is not much doubt that a majority of the delegates will stand in with the old leader. The Democrats are currently hoping that the effects of which will be felt in local politics, but there is no cause for apprehending such results. The masses of Quary Republicans are not just yet ready to give up the ghost. The general character of the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial.

FATAL STABBING AFFRAY.

Two Young Slavonians Get Hurt in a Fatal Stabbing Affray. What will probably be a fatal stabbing affray occurred at Welsh Hill on Saturday. The men who were stabbed were Martin Kikonig and Steve Poruch, two young Slavonians, who are about 18 years of age each, and the man who did the cutting was John Kotch and George Habina, two fellow-countrymen, but were much older. All four had been quarreling violently, and the men who did the stabbing claim that it was done in self-defense. The boys threatened their lives with big rocks with which they were assaulted. Both Habina and Kotch were given a hearing and then committed to jail to await the result of the injuries they inflicted.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gaston have returned from their wedding tour. Dr. Billard will not spend much time this season at his summer cottage at Loch Eden, Susquehanna county. C. W. Bixby and family moved to their Glen Summit cottage on Saturday, where they will remain until autumn. English guests of the United States may be the guest of Lieutenant Richard Sturdevant, at the residence of Dr. B. Sturdevant, of this city.

PLYMOUTH.

McCormack No. 1 will take care of No. 2's district until such time as he can be provided for the latter. Captain Wolf announces that today he will be charged to the Buick building. All people wishing to attend the opening of the Hanover Park theater should avail themselves of the reduced rates. At the last meeting of the Philomathean Literary society the question, "Resolved, that all railroads and telegraph lines should be owned by the government." Negative. Jones, Reese, Freeman; affirmative, Close, Jenkins and Armstrong. After one hour of heated discussion the debate was awarded to the affirmative side. Thomas R. Thomas spent Sunday as the guest of numerous friends at Nanticoke.

PITTSBURY.

The Pittsburg office of the Scranton Tribune has been opened by H. W. Cruser, agent No. 2 Williams street. Distribution of news, complaints of non-delivery, orders for job work of all descriptions, should be addressed and regular subscriptions received. Advertising and subscription rates cheerfully submitted.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Mr. J. D. Larkin, wife of a prominent soap manufacturer at Buffalo, N. Y., was taken violently insane on Lehigh Valley train No. 1 near Falls, this county, Friday afternoon, while returning to her home from a visit down the river. Her son, who is in the place, was telegraphed to and on the arrival of the train boarded it and accompanied the patient to Buffalo. She was wildly delirious, and could only be made tractable by the free use of opiates. IMPORTED JOKES.

An old admiral, well known for his powers of exaggeration, was describing a voyage to his wife. "While cruising in the Pacific," said he, "we passed an island which was positively red with sugar cane." "But said one of the guests, smiling incredulously, 'lobsters are not red until boiled.'" "Of course not," replied the undaunted admiral, "but this was a volcanic island with boiling springs."

MINOCKA.

Anthony Gallagher, of Pittsburg, circulated among friends here Sunday. P. J. Kelly, a student at St. Michael's college, Toronto, Can., is spending his vacation with his parents on Main street. W. J. Buckley, M. F. Judge, John Kearney, James Boland and Richard O'Donnell will represent the St. Joseph Total Abstinence and Benevolent society at the West Side quarterly convention.

ABOUT STREET CLEANING.

Wilkes-Barre has nothing to complain of on that score. There are people in Wilkes-Barre who complain about the condition of the paved streets. They are mostly people who do not visit the city but have asphalted streets, and therefore do not know how little cause there is for complaint at home. They do not appreciate the blessings they enjoy. As a matter of fact, there is not another city in Pennsylvania whose paved streets are as methodically or as thoroughly cleaned as are those of Wilkes-Barre. Visitors from other and less favored cities note and remark this fact constantly. There are times when the streets are in bad condition, but when the weather is such as to permit them to be cleaned. No, Wilkes-Barre has little cause to complain about the cleaning of the paved streets. They are habitually free from dirt and all kinds as can reasonably be expected. They are kept in a cleaner condition than the streets of any other city in the state.

BETTER CAR SERVICE.

Changes in Running Schedules Made to Facilitate Travel. Beginning today, June 24, the Scott street line will have two cars instead of one as at present. Car will leave each end of the line at 6:15 a. m. and every fifteen minutes thereafter until 10:45. Sunday from 8 o'clock a. m. until 10 p. m.

THE MURDER CASES.

The Suspected Reik Murderers' Trials Responed Until Fall. On Saturday District Attorney Fell decided not to call the cases of murder against James Fisher, John Robinson and Michael Kearney, who are in jail charged with the murder of Barney Reik, until next September. The cases were down for trial today, but Mr. Fell is not ready to proceed, and therefore decided not to call them. It is said that William Gillespie, attorney for Robinson, is endeavoring to have his client tried in Lackawanna county, but leading lawyers think he will have to be tried in Luzerne, as the crime of which he is suspected was committed in Wilkes-Barre.
