QUAY COUNTY SQUELCHED

Governor Hastings Vetoes the Menace to Luzerne.

THE GARB BILL APPROVED

Probably Due to the Practical Unanimity with Which It Passed the Legislature.

Various Other Measures Receiving Governor's Autograph.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 27.—Governor Hastings signed the religious garb bill tonight and vetoed the Quay county bill. He also disapproved the bill giving the auditor general the sole power of appointment of mercantile appraisers in Philadelphia and eleven other bills, many of which are local in their character.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Harrisburg, Pa., June 27.—Governor Hastings signed the religious garb bill tonight and vetoed the Quay county bill. He also disapproved the bill giving the auditor general the sole power of appointment of mercantile appraisers in Philadelphia and eleven other bills, many of which are local in their character.

Governor Hastings says, in support of his disapproval of the bill which proposed to create the new county out of portions of Luzerne and Schuylkill, that after a careful consideration of the measure he has reached the conclusion that it is without merit and that there seems to be no necessity for the legislation. He believes it would be exceedingly onerous and oppressive to the taxpayers of the district contained within the new county limits and that the taxing population of the district is not sufficiently large to warrant the expense of erecting public buildings and paying the cost for the administration of county affairs.

AT THE GOVERNOR'S DESK.

Important Measures That Receive the Signature of the Chief Magistrate.

Harrisburg, June 27.—Governor Hastings is rapidly disposing of the bills before him. Several important measures will be found in the following list approved today.

Senate bills—Providing for the employment of persons sentenced to simple imprisonment in county jails; to code jurisdiction to the United States over certain public roads within the National park at Gettysburg; empowering boroughs to tax persons, property and occupations for general borough purposes; to permit corporations organized either for the purpose of carrying on any manufacturing business or for the supply of water, or for the manufacture or supplying of light to purchase bonds or stock of other corporations of the same character or to guarantee the payment of interest and principal of such bonds or other principal or interest, or to lease or operate corporate property.

House bills approved. Making lying declarations competent in prosecutions for criminal abortion. To provide for the more immediate relief, care and support of indigent insane persons committed on criminal charges, less than the present law.

Providing for the appointment of inspectors by the governor for the cities of the first and second class to inspect scales, weights and measures, and providing for their compensation.

Authorizing the incorporation of companies for constructing and maintaining boulevards.

Punishing the printing, posting and distributing of any libelous circular or poster or other written or printed paper.

The Bills Vetoed. Among the bills vetoed are the following: Prohibiting the erection of temporary structures for bathing in the streams and lakes except in Lake Erie; relating to judgments against joint tortfeasors; repealing an act to prevent cattle and swine running at large in certain parts of Butler county; repealing an act for the improvement of the Tazewell township, Bradford county; authorizing an annexation of separated territory to an adjoining borough or city; requiring the payment of a bonus by corporations hereafter incorporated of one-half of one per cent. upon the capital stock authorized; authorizing courts to decree the dissolution of certain corporations in certain cases; to erect an individual school district in parts of Sullivan county; authorizing foreign glue companies to hold real estate in Pennsylvania; to prevent the adulteration or selling of adulterated liquors. This bill, the governor says, is unnecessary.

TO HAVE A DOG BARBICUE.

Crows Ready for a High Old Time on the Fourth.

Omaha, Neb., June 27.—Great preparations are being made by the Indians on the Crow reservation for a reunion of all the tribes in the Northwest on July 4 and 5.

At least 4,000 Indians are expected to take part in the celebration of the nation's birthday. For several years past the Crow Indians have been holding their annual reunion on the Fourth. The war department has indicated that the annual gathering of the red men, even for the purpose of celebrating the independence of the United States, is not conducive to any betterment of their condition.

YALE'S CREW VICTORIOUS.

They Win the Two-Mile Freshmen Boat Race—Harvard Leads for a Mile—Columbia's Bow Catches a Crab and Becomes a Load in the Boat—Yale Wins by a Boat Length.

New London, Conn., June 27.—The two-mile boat race between the freshmen crews of Yale, Harvard and Columbia was rowed this morning on the Thames and was won by Yale by about a boat length in ten minutes and twenty-eight seconds; Harvard was second, and Columbia third, sixteen seconds behind the winner.

The official time at the various points of the race was: Half-mile—Harvard, 2:18; Yale, 2:20; Columbia, 2:25. First mile—Yale, 4:38; Harvard, 4:53; Columbia, 5:15. Second mile and finish—Yale, 10:28; Harvard, 10:33; Columbia, 11:18.

The referee, Guy Richards, soon after lined up the crews, while the veteran timor, Adcox, stood beside him to do official timing. At 10:35 o'clock the usual warning rang out: "Gentlemen, are you ready?" Every one of the brawny arms stretched to the oar, and in a moment came the command "Go," and they were off.

Harvard first caught the water, Columbia next, while Yale, in the middle course, was sagging back of Harvard on the Groton side, and Columbia on the New London side, pulled each a length ahead within six strokes. This order was brief, however, Harvard, after her short starting strokes, was squared away in an effort for the lead. Before a quarter mile had passed she was bowing at forty strokes to the minute, gaining on Yale, while Yale had overhauled and was leading Columbia by an equal distance. As yet there was no clear water between the shells, and the oarsmen all cheered the races.

Entering the second half of the first mile Columbia's row caught a crab and broke the fastening bar of his rowlock. He was hardly able to pull his weight. The boat was drenched and Yale's boat, No. 2 was losing his first wind. No. 4 in Harvard's shell was bucking his oar. The crimson crew was "saw-tearing" from side to side in ragged form.

The closing of the race, viewed from the boat, however, and Yale's boat, No. 2 in Yale's boat had "gained his second wind," and was again getting his back to bear on the oar with some power. Harvard's men had dropped their strokes to a weary swing at 32 and 34 strokes. Columbia was losing every moment. Her bow frequently unslipped his oar, and his comrades had to carry his dead weight until he was able to replace the blade in position.

FIRE AT SAN FRANCISCO

Three Hundred Families Made Homeless by the Flames.

SEVERAL DEATHS REPORTED

Conflagration Discovers in a Box Factory Spreads to Neighboring Warehouses—Firemen Injured.

San Francisco, June 27.—The worst fire San Francisco has had in over thirty years started shortly before 6 o'clock today in the box factory and spread across the street to the Southern Pacific buildings. Before the department reached the ground the flames were sweeping through a number of frame buildings on Fourth street which backed into the box factory and leaped across the street to the Southern Pacific buildings. The second alarm was turned in only to be followed by a third and fourth in rapid succession. Word was telegraphed across the bay to Oakland and Alameda, but assistance was reported to arrive only after the fire had been under control.

Shortly after the second alarm was turned in a heavy explosion shook the city, and it is said that four kerosene light factories were destroyed. Three houses of the Southern Pacific blew up. Heavy embers were whirled through the air for blocks. These landed on the light frame buildings further east and it is believed that the flames were practically hemmed in. Shortly after 7 o'clock the wind suddenly changed to the east and drove the flames back over the portion burning district.

At 8:45 the fire was gotten under control. During the progress of the fire all sorts of rumors were current. It was reported that when the powder exploded several persons had been killed.

IS CALIFORNIA FOR GOLD?

Peculiar Attitude of the Golden Gate Democrats.

TAKE NO POSITION ON SILVER

The Democratic State Chairman Refuses to Call a Convention—Unfriendly in Ill-Judged Also Believe the Silver Question is Loaded.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 27.—Chairman Gould of the Democratic state central committee has addressed a communication to J. W. Mitchell of this city, in answer to a letter from the latter that the state Democratic committee be convened for the purpose of calling a convention of the Democratic party to take a position on the silver question. Mr. Gould says in part:

"I cannot now see how it will be practicable to call together a convention in this state whose conclusions could supplant the position taken by our party last fall unless primaries and county conventions be held, which course I am satisfied would not meet with popular favor. A Democratic state convention met last fall in San Francisco as numerous, as able, and as representative as any that ever assembled in California. That convention announced the position of the party on the silver question, as on other matters then deemed to be important political issues, and it is not to be considered either presumptuous or unrepresentative to be selected and no means of bringing any issues before the public existing except by adopting resolutions for me of the central committee to assume that the silver question was held by our last convention, that convention which brought this committee into existence, was a blunder, and that another convention should be called by us to rectify that error."
