Manner in Which Mr. Natter's Spectacles Were Returned to Him—Officer Charged with Extorting Money—Short Paragraphs of News.

Everybody on the South Side knows Mr. Natter, the veteran hotel-keeper of Alder street, who relishes a good joke as well as any one in the world. Provided, of course, that it's on the other fellow. Thursday he was engaged in reading his favorite paper, The Tribune, when Philip Robinson, Dr. Kolb and a number of others entered the place. The paper and Mr. Natter's glasses went to the table and he took his station behind the bar to serve his customers. When they departed the spectacles went with them and Mr. Natter searched for his eye assistants in vain.

The jokers went to Kaestner's and got a cigar box, filled it with saw dust and, putting the glasses in the center, they wrapped up the box carefully, using colored twine for binding purposes. Mr. Natter was just after paying Mayer & Son, of Philadelphia, a bill of $50 and the box was labeled compliments of Mayer & Son, of Philadelphia, to Mr. Natter, of Scranton. Not satisfied with this the jokers obtained a bottle, filled it with water and, enclosing it with tin foil, put the same inscription on it as on the box. Summoning a messenger boy the packages were sent to Mr. Natter, one of the jokers being present to watch the reception they received. The bottle was opened first, and after tasting its contents, Mr. Natter declared that it must be a new brand of whiskey. He was sure he had tasted a similar liquor sometime or other, but when or where it was he was unable to decide. Of one thing he was convinced, the liquor was choice and rare. Then he opened the box, found the spectacles and woke up. It's as well not to mention the episode to Mr. Natter at present. He has an aversion to talking about it.

Special Officer Joseph Stroll, of South Washington avenue, served a warrant on Special Officer E. Weiss, of South Seventh street yesterday, which was issued by Alderman Hore, of the Eighteenth ward, at the instance of Joseph Bolander. Two weeks ago Bolander had two Arabian trinket peddlers arrested for assault and battery and he was not able to substantiate the charge, the defendants were dismissed and the alderman ordered him to pay the costs. Bolander claims that Special Weiss extorted money from him in connection with the costs, and hence the warrant. Weiss entered bail in his own recognition to appear at court.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

June Has Justified Its Reputation as the Month of Roses and Brides.

THEY RULED THE SOCIAL WORLD

Many Society People Have Left the City for the Summer—Attorney W. S. Diehl and Mrs. C. F. Manness Married in New York City.

Weddings were the only social events of the week, but there was an abundance of that form of social event. June has this year justified its reputation as the month of roses and brides. The latter had well-nigh exclusive possession of the social world during the month, but during the last week their grasp was particularly monopolistic. All other social functions were ruthlessly crowded off the calendar, so that society might pay homage at a shrine of the brides of June.

Good feeling was the uppermost sentiment possessing all the folks at the "comandrum social," given in the interest of the missionary fund by the King's Daughters and Sons at Elm Park church last evening. Mrs. W. H. Pearce, Miss Jessie B. Conwell, Mrs. Richard Hiron, Miss Jennie Andrews, Miss Genevieve A. Hazlett, Miss Frances Baul, Rev. Richard Hiron, R. E. Connelly, E. J. Trimmer, and John McConnell were watchful that each one was perfectly at ease and enjoying the amusement of the evening.

The comedians were written on caribboards, ornamented with daisies, and the answers were in the minds of only a few, so that no correct guess came the comedians would be solved by the knowing ones. A sample of the merry interrogatories was, "Why is copper the most harmless of metals?" "Because a copper is a preserver of the peace." "Why is the sun like a paticake?" "Because it rises in the east and sets in the west." While these things were going on refreshments, ice cream and cake, were served and the evening passed away very pleasantly, a nice sum having been realized for a worthy purpose.

A large number of society people have deserted the city for the summer and many others are making active preparations to follow their example.

Attorney W. S. Diehl and Mrs. C. F. Manness, both of this city, were married on Thursday at the home of the bride's sister in New York by Rev. Sylvester Jones, of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

JOHN WHITE'S BODY FOUND

Discovered in the Woods Two Miles from His Archbald Home.

HAD BEEN MISSING ONE MONTH

Apposed That He Fell Over a Cliff Into the Ravine Where His Body Was Found—Was a Veteran of the Late War.

Since May 24, John White, an old veteran, 64 years of age, of Archbald, has been missing from home, and a thorough search kept up by his relatives for weeks failed to show what became of him. But they gave him up for dead.

The mystery surrounding his disappearance was cleared at noon yesterday by the finding of his dead body in the woods about half a mile east of No. 5 mine of the Delaware and Hudson company, and about two miles from his home.

The discovery was made by Charles Yarns, a 14-year-old boy who was picking berries on the mountain. The boy could not identify the body but informed Driver Boss Nealon at the Delaware and Hudson mine of what he had seen. Mr. Nealon informed Mr. White's stepsons, and after an examination they were satisfied that it was their missing relative.

In Last Stage of Decomposition. The body was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to identify him except by his clothing. The head was detached and lay about three feet away from the body, it presumably having been carried off by the crows which abound in that part of the woods.

The flesh had also fallen off the parts exposed to the air. The remains were immediately taken in charge by Undertaker Law and the coroner notified.

The body was found in a ravine beneath a precipitous embankment, and the supposition is that in strolling through the woods he stumbled over it and met his death.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury. Coroner J. A. Kelley went up in the afternoon and empaneled the following jury: Thomas G. Gildea, P. E. Timlin, John H. McElaie, T. F. Battle, Thomas Law and Charles B. Eaton. Owing to the condition of the remains was impossible to decide how the man came to his death, and the verdict of the jury was to that effect; but there were no marks of violence on the skull.

He was the father of James White and Mrs. William McElaie. The funeral will be held this morning with interment in Archbald Catholic cemetery.

Edward Mitterer was tendered a surprise party by his many friends at his home on Grove street last night. A large number of young folks were present and enjoyed the many games which were played, after which refreshments were served.

The funeral of the late William D. Osterhout was held yesterday afternoon from his late home on South Blakely street at 2:30. Rev. O'Neill, of the Baptist church, having charge, assisted by Rev. A. L. Urban, of the Episcopal church. A quartette, composed of Mrs. T. P. Palmer, yellow, contractant, and Owen Hieseker and Joseph Jeffrey, sang very sweetly and tenderly "Abide with Me," "Some Sweet Day, Bye and Bye" and "Good-Bye." The pall-bearers were P. H. Dewild, Jacob Bronson, John Mooney, Carl Minnick, James Evans and George Schultz. Those who bore the flowers to the cemetery were the oldest employees of the deceased, William Weidner, Thomas Payne, Frank Dings and William Haus. Floral contributions were made by the following persons: "Gates Ajar," from his employees; pillow, from his grandchildren; crescent bouquet, bouquet of roses and sheaf of wheat, from the family; anchor, Harry Winters, Sam Snyder and Fanny Haycock; bouquet of roses, T. P. Palmer; pillow, contractant; bouquet of roses, Mrs. N. P. Osterhout. Mr. Osterhout was a man loved by all, and a large concourse of friends followed the remains to their last resting place in Dunmore cemetery.
