WILKES-BARRE.

[The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 29. Laning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luzerne county news.
For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day—domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

ROBBED ON THE FLATS.

Jacob Warner Has a Lively Fourth of July

in Wilkes-Barre. Jacob Warner, an employe of the Du Pont Powder company at Wapwallopen, was assaulted and robbed on the flats on Thursday night, and so badly injured that he is now unable to leave his bed. He came from Wapwallopen to Wilkes-Barre on the Pennsylvania railroad to visit his sister, Mrs. A. S. Kinsey, at 296 North Main street. He met two men on East Market street and the spoke to him as if they knew him, The three talked a while and Warner said he was going to visit his sister on North Main street. Warner didn't know where North Main street was and the two men said they would go along with him and show him the way. The men took him down West Market street and when they passed a saloon Warner asked his friends in to have a drink. They consented and all went into the saloon. In staying for the drinks. Warner laid his purse on the bar and one of the men picked it up and examined it, commenting on the leather of which it was made. While he was handling the purse Warner noticed him trying to slip some change into his hand and told him to put it back, which he did reluctantly. The other man said to Warner that he nev- Welch in $100 bail as an accomplice. er thought his friend would do a thing like that, and that he was ashamed of him. When they left the saloon War-ner told the man who had tried to steal the money that he wanted nothing more to do with him and he went away.

After finishing their drink the two went out and Warner says after walking some time he told his companion he thought they were on the road to "Then," he says, "we came to a high board fence and finally to a gate. My friend asked me to go inside and rest. We entered and sat down when he said: 'I'm going to rob you,' and seized me around the waist. I got the best of him and threw him on the ground. At this he began to laugh, and I said 'I guess you were only fooling, wasn't you?" and he said 'yes." We talked awhile longer and he asked me what time it was. I pulled out my watch and as I did so he grabbed it Then there was a lively scutfle. I don't know whether he some one else hit me,

I three or four blows on the head and face which partly stunned me, though I continued to fight and at last got my arms around the fellow's waist. When I did this someone kicked me three or four times in the ribs and I had to let goo After that I could do nothing to He or they, for I think there were two of them, cut my pants off, stole my watch and about $20 in money and that is all I know. When I came to myself it was getting daylight and not having my trousers I could not go out; so I laid alongside the fence until I saw some workmen passing and I begged them to get me a pair of pants, which they did. I struggled out of the place, crossed the river and met Constable Bertles and he took me to Hart's drug store, where patched me up as best they could and Bertles afterward took me to my sis-

Warner is in bad shape, his head be ing badly cut and his side is a mass of bruises, where he was kicked to make him relinquish his hold on his assailant. He will not be able to be about again for some time, but when he is, he will take vigorous steps to have h assailants punished for their attack. The man who went across the river with him is a small man with sandy moustache and light hair.

WILL THEY ENDORSE?

A Democratic Party Paper Urges an En

Editor Boyd, of the News-Dealer, is heartily in favor of an endorsement of the Republican candidate for judge by the Democratic party, but whether the bosses of the coming Democratic convention will think the same or not is a question. It would be but fair in the Democracy to endorse a Republican judge in return for the four endorse ments which the Republicans of this county have given the Democratic nominees for judge, in order to keep the judiciary non-partisan. Mr. Boyd says: be compelled to change the course of Sensible Democrats all agree with the stand taken by the News-Dealer on the line of pipe near the bridge against the nomination of a Democratic judge by the county convention. That some gentlemen have judicial ambition, and are anxious to fill a place of course of the pipe line. that kind hasn't got anything to do with the question. It is simply one of good politics and good politics is against any nomination. The plain matter of fact voting people will reason, if the Democrats have now two judges, why should a third be given them. Better far for the party in every respect, and for the people as well that a Republican be placed on the bench adorned by Messrs. Woodward and Lynch in preference to a Dem-

The News-Dealer man has a good political head. He knows that the argument of a non-partisan judiciary is one of the most patent that can be advanced, and he also knows that it would be far better for the Democratic party to endorse a Republican judge, than to put up a candidate against the Republican nominee and have that candidate beaten at the polls. But then, Mr. Boyd's ideas are not the ideas of Mr. Garman, who will, in the absence of John T. Lenahan, probably be in charge of the Lenahan "influence." It is well known that Mr. Garman aspires to a seat on the bench, and had he not been "called off" last fall, would have made things pretty lively for Judge Rhone in the convention for the nomination of judge of the orphan's court. This chance, opened by Judge Rice's promotion to the Superior court, is one not to be thrown lightly aside, and it is prob-able that the Democratic convention will hear from Mr. Garman. Mr. Mc-Lean is also spoken of as a possible candidate, but his well-known opposition to Judge Lynch a few years ago will bear fruit if he is nominated. As ties for the Democrats to make a nomination, but Luzerne county Democrats were never noted for good policy, and it is altogether likely that July will see a candidate for judge nominated on the Democratic ticket.

STABBED IN A FIGHT.

ohn A. Mills Stabbed by a Drunker Polander.

Late Tuesday night Andrew Umlah Polander, stopped in front of the resilence of John A. Mills, a well known resident of McLean street, and made a number of insulting remarks. Mr. Mills came out to drive him away, when the latter drew a knife and made an attack on Mills, stabbing him five times before he could get away. The injuries were in the shoulders, and one In the side under the ribs. The last is the only one that may be dangerous. Dr. Trapold was at once called in to see Mills, he pronounced his injuries comparatively slight. The physician says that Mills will recover if no complications set in.

Umlah, in the meantime, had beer arrested, and offered no resistance when he was taken to the lock-up. Yesterday morning he was given hearing before the mayor, and he claimed that Mills had made an attack on him and he had only used his knife to defend himself. Mayor Nichols held Umlah in $1,000 bail for appearance at court. The unfortunate Polander had no one willing to risk that sum on his turning up at court, and in default of the ball he was sent up the river to await his trial.

Joseph Baker's Wife Assists His Honor in Punishing Her Husband.

Joseph Baker, a Polander employed at the Hazard Rope works, was before the mayor on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by a Pollsh woman who lives near him. Joseph had been drunk, and the prosecutrix presented enough evidence to warrant the mayor imposing a fine of $1 and costs. Joseph's wife was present and told the mayor she had but $3, which she gave up, and her husband was allowed to depart. As the couple went out of the court room the wife soundly berated her husband for getting into trouble, and with an umbrella belabored him flercely for his bad conduct. Joseph took his punishment meekly and seemed to feel that there might be some grounds for the wrath of his better

Up More Unfortunates.

Mayor Nichols and the police are now it work in earnest to raid all the disreputable houses in the city, and on the night of the Fourth an unexpected visit was paid by the police to the house of Mrs. Hatfield, on Barney street. As the result of this attention the proprietress and three men were before the mayor men got away in the confusion of the raid. The mayor held the woman in $300 bail and the men in $50 each for a further hearing this evening.

Willie Morgan and his wife, Lizzie Morgan, were arrested on Wednesday night charged with keeping a disorderly house at 36 High street. The raid was made by Officer Drake at 1 o'clock and Minnie Williams or Wallace, an inmate, was also arrested. The old German who rented the house, appeared against them. Willie was fined $10 and costs, his wife $5 and costs for keeping bawdy house. Minnie Williams paid $5 and costs for frequenting a disorder ly house and Morgan and wife held in $300 ball for court.

The Fourth of July passed off in an inusually quiet and peaceable manner on Thursday. One of the most interesting and hotly contested games of ball seen in this place during the season was played on the school house grounds Fourth of July morning between the Electrics and Batsmashers, both of this place. The latter secured eight runs off of Shield's delivery in two innings. He retired on account of a sore arm and was succeeded by Watkins, who pitched in excellent form, allowing his opponents but two runs the balance of the game. It was thought by many that this lead could not be overtaken by the Electrics, but by a stiff uphill game and assisted materially by a few disartrous errors by their opponents, they succeeded in pass-ing them before the close of the game by a score of 10 to 11. The feature of the game was the brilliant fielding and batting of Mulligan, and the daring base running of Hayes, both of the Electrics.
