RIOT AT GEORGETOWN.

The Usual Pay-Day Fight Follows the Receiving of the Money.

A riot which came near ending in murder occurred at Georgetown late clip with the shaft as the horse passed Thursday night between a gang of Lathuanian residents on Northampton street, in the "Hollow," in Wilkes-Barre township. The fight began in a saloon, but they were put out and the fight was continued, and Anthony Luckaswage is now lying at his home in a precarlous condition as a result. After the fracas was over he and Joe Krugal, another participant, went before 'Squire Ford and swore out warrants for the arrest of Joe Burtrush, Frank Burtrush, George Gellenstofski Egnit Dumbofsky and Charles Legis, charging them with agravated assault and battery with intent to kill.

While lodging the information Luckowsfsky, who was the most seriously injured, suddenly fell unconscious from loss of blood. He was revived and taken to his home and Dr. Eugene Butler summoned, who put fifteen stitches in the injured man's head. The squire gave the warrants to Constable Lyons to serve, and together with Deputies Foy and Flannery, who went to the boarding house to make the arrest, they were assaulted and had the clothing nearly torn from their bodies. Lyons later got the assistance of Constables Edwards and Evans from Wilkes-Barre, and together they went to the house at 5 o'clock yesterday and made the arrest. The prisoners were given a hearing before Squire Ford this morning and held in $1,000 ball each for a further hearing, pending the result of Luckaswage's injuries.

After the hearing Constable David S. Davis, of the Third ward, this city, who was present at the trial, arrested Joseph Burtrush, one of the prisoners, on the charge of assault and battery and obtaining goods under false pretense. These charges were made before Squire Thomas by Thomas and John Kanczis. There are fourteen warrants in all for this man.

THE TRAMPS' HEARING.

Conclusive Evidence That These Men Are the Robbers.

At the hearing of the tramps, whose arrest on suspicion of having committed the recent burgularies, was noted yesterday morning, the tramps gave their names and residences as follows: John Beamish, Mooste; John Howarth, Colorado; John McGovern, Beamish is apparently Plymouth. about 30. The first two are ordinary looking tramps, but Howarth is the toughest looking "mug" ever gracing the prisoner's bench in the mayor's court.

The prisoners denied an acquaintance with each other until tripped up by the mayor's cross-examination. When Howarth was asked to account for his appearance, he said he arrived in town from Findlay, Ohio, two days ago, and that yesterday while strolling in the woods at the west end of North street bridge he was accosted by a gang of tramps, who asked him to take a drink from a bottle. He complied and they further asked him to take some cigars and tobacco to the jail for some friends of their's who were confined there and he refused. They thereupon knocked him down, kicked him terribly, stripped him of a good suit of clothes and threw him into the river. He swam for the opposite shore and would have drowned were it not for the assistance of a boy in a row boat. The man's appearance and condition at the time of arrest confirmed the statement of the prisoner, but the officers contend that Howarth was a part of the gang and that the fight was the result of a misunderstanding among themselves.

The missing goods was identified in part by those who had been burglarized, and the tramps were held for a further hearing on Monday morning at 10 These men are the men who robbed Alexander Dick's residence and several other places on that side of the river.

MYERS BEGINS SUIT.

The Commissioners Refuse to Pay, and the Architect Goes to Law,

Elljah E. Myers, the Detroit architect, who drew the court house plans, began proceedings yesterday through his attorney, James L. Lennhan, to compel the county commissioners to pay over to him the second payment of $10,000, as per stipulations in the contract. Mr. Myers presented his claim to the commissioners recently and they refused to honor his demand. He therefore takes recourse to law and has employed Mr. Lenahan to prosecute his claim. The case will be of unusual interest and will be closely watched by everybody.

Door Boy Hurt.

Thomas Burns, a door boy, aged about 12 years, and employed in Simpson & Watkin's Broderick breaker, was hurt yesterday afternoon. He forgot to open the door and a loaded car of coal came down the plane and smashed the door, pinning the boy against a prop. The doctor has little hopes of his recovery.

Jumped from a Train.

Thomas Reilly, a driver employed by Contractor Tyrell, at Laflin, jumped from a moving train yesterday and fractured his ankle. Dr. Lathrop, of Miner's Mills, was called in, and found the man wuffering intensely. He was made as comfortable as possible and is now at a house in Lafin. Reilly's home is at Forty Fort.

Another Drowned.
