[The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 29, Laning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luzerne county news.
For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day-domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an carnest advocate, editorially and otherwise. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dallies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphis and New York papers can from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.]

OFF FOR CAMP.

The Ninth Leaves for Their Week's Outing at Mount Gretna. Last night at 10,30 the soldier boys of the Ninth regiment left for their camp at Mt. Gretna. The various companies met at the armory in the evening and in neavy marching order, with rations to last until camp life begins, marched to the Lehigh Valley station, headed by the Ninch Regiment band. The special over the Pennsylvania road left promptly at 10.30 and the regiment nearly filled ten cars. The drum corps accom-panied the soldiers, who made a splendid appearance as they marched through the street. Company I, of Plymouth, came upon the electric car, and marched directly to the depot. The officers and staff of the regiment who went, were as follows:

Call for Convention in Sacred Heart Hall, Plains.

M. J. Walsh, president, and James J. Gaffney, secretary, of the Third district C. T. A. U., have issued the call for a convention in Sacred Heart hall, Plains, tomorrow afternoon. The societies have been furnished with credentials and it is hoped a large delegation will be present.

There will be short addresses on per-tinent subjects and questions of inter-est to the union will be discussed.

Delegates from Wilkes-Barre and further down the valley will take the Plains car, which stops near the hill. The Plains St. Aloysius society has aranged for a reception to the delegates. The local delegates are: S. J. Connor, Charles Mackin, John McNulty, Patrick O'Brien and Peter Swinburne,

BROKE UP THE PARTY.

The Police Make a Sudden End to Pleasant Little Banquet.

Late Thursday night the keen ears of Officer Tom McGraw detected the clink of glasses and the sound of laughter in a house in Gabtown, which bears none too enviable a reputation. He at once notified the police headquarters. Bergeant Kline, Officers Mulhern, Reister and Williams proceeded to the house, 132 Jackson street, and demanded admittance. Immediately lights went out but no response came. Fimily a woman unlocked the door and bade them enter. In the dining room on the table were soft shell crabs, fried oysters, steamed clams, salads, sandwiches, cake and a case of wine. Evidently the banqueters had just sat down. In one room were found two men, while a young woman reclined on a shake down in another chamber. The policemen gathered the quartette in.

Early yesterday morning the mayor gave them a hearing, thus disappointing a later crowd. The prisoners gave their names as Ella Krosge, of this city, wife of a former bartender at the Exchange; "Belle Gibbons," a pretty brunette from Pittston: A. Remington, a prominent business man of Scranton, nd A. J. Ambro, a shoe clerk. With the exception of the Kresge woman, the names of the others are fictitious, but are well known in town.

Belle was fined $10. Remington $15. Ambro $15, and Mrs. Kresge $25, and held for court. All were paid, and Mrs. Kresge got ball.

From the Chicago Herald. "Husband," sald Mrs. Coin, as she untied her bonnet and proceeded to put away her things Saturday evening. "I had such an experience this afteroon. After we came out from the matinee we went into a candy store where they sell light drinks as well as ce cream soda. As soon as we sat lown at a little table the walter came up and says he: 'Bullion, lady?' So I thought your predictions were coming out al right. 'Which kind?' I says 'Hot or cold,' he says. Really, it did not seem to me that they ought to be giving out buillon hot, but I suppose he meant right from the mint. 'Gold or silver?' I says. He looked puzzled. Just then the proprietor, who had heard me, smiled, and says he: 'Silver, lady.' Fifteen,' says he. 'Fifteen to one,' 'Yes,' says he. 'or twenty-five for two.' Then he brought us two cups of just common beef tea. I wonder why they keep such lunaites in such places, husband."

Coin seemed pensive, but said nothing.

Mrs. Coin was rocking pleasantly Saturday evening as she darned Coin's stockings. "I was talking to that man was in each of those sp bought them of him just before the Sherman law was repealed, when silver had got so cheap. 'About 50 cents worth,' says he. I says: 'Well, one of these days you'll have to take those same spoons back for $1. Says he 'Who'll make me?' I says: 'Coin will; haven't you read my husband's book? I'd like to see him make me take back 50 cents' worth of silver for $1,' says he 'I am not a fool,' says he. 'My husband will attend to your case,' I says. Won't

It was Sunday morning that Mrs. Coin showed how well she had been at school. She descended, bonnet on prayer-book in hand, and dressed in her largest sleeves. Her short curls, the product of a mechanical process of the night and morning, were primped to perfection. She laid down rayer-book, finished drawing on her rloves and then showed Coin her empty

You said that Professor Laughlin said he did not know what redemption money meant in your book. I do, though, I am not a financier's wife for nothing. Am I. Coin, dear?"

"Redemption money?" repeated Coin "One would think you do not want to be saved," said Mrs. Coin. "Redemption money!" he repeated

THEY GOT THE PIE. The Scheme Worked by Two Waitresses

A "Lovely" Pie." Few of the patrons of restaurants where waitresses are employed suspect the comely damsels who serve the food have voracious appetites, but an inci-dent which happened in a restaurant much patronized by business men shows that the waitrenses reserve for themselves the choicest food. "Oh, what a tovely pie!" exclaimed one of these sprightly nymphs yester-day, as she looked enviously at a tempt-ing product of the plemaker's art. "It is just to cute," responded an-

Then they entered into a conspiracy to get that "lovely and cute" pie. With great adriotness one of them managed to set a dish on the surface of the pie and the "lovely" pie collapsed.

The other conspirator removed the dish and the attention of the chief of the corps was called to the "accident" which had hapened to the pie.

The head waitress was angry, but the others told such a guijeless story that she promptly exonerated them from all blame. The pie, possibly not so "lovely," as it was, but just as "cute" to the taste, was removed to the kitchen and the two schemers ate it with great

GIGANTIC DIAMOND FOUND.

Indian Credited with a Remarkable Discovery in Rainy Lake Country.

Duluth, July 19 .- An old guide from the Rainy Lake country stated that a diamond of tremendous size had been found by an Indian while on a hunting trip. This Indian, according to Tom Reynolds, the guide, while out on a hunting trip, came to a small cave in a hill fifty miles from Rainy Lake City, and on making an investigation of the place, which showed signs of having been inhabited, noticed a stone box which he broke open with considerable difficulty, an immediately a bright light filled the place, almost blinding him. Badly frightened, but brave, he exam ined his find and saw that it was a huge diamond of the utmost brilliancy, from whose ragged corners the light from his torch was reflected in a thousand different hues. The Indian was now thoroughly frightened, and, dropping his torch, made his escape from the place fully convinced that a demon had possession of the cave. On his return from his hunting trip he was taken sick and to a friend confided the secret of the cave. This friend had the sick man explain to him as well as he was able the exact location of the cave and is now making arrangements to lead a party there.

OPIUM SMUGGLER'S TRICK.

Convey the Drug from Canada in the Stomacks of Decrept Cattle. Devil's Lake, N. D., July 19.-George S. Stevens, a prominent cattle buyer of Towner, has been arrested for oplum smuggling. For some time certain cattlemen have been purchasing worn-out oxen on the Canadian side of the line and have wrapped opium in tin foil and forced it down the throats of the oxen. The cattle are then driven across the line and a small duty paid on them. After driving them some distance be-yond the customs office the cattle were killed and the opium recovered. This has been a very profitable business, and the customs inspectors have been at work for some time running down the alleged smugglers. Stevens is the first to be arrested. He was held to the United States court in $2,000 bonds.

REVIVALIST CAUSES WAR.

Members of His Congregation Resent His Sloux City, Ia., July 19.—Sloan, a town eight miles south of here, is greatly excited over a fight last night at a revival camp meeting, in which several people were badly burt. The revivialist, in the course of his remarks, became so personal that about 100 members of the congregation left the tent where he was preaching. This aroused the indignation of the few who remained, and they went out to expostulate. The crowd responded with a shower of rotten eggs and a rush, in which the tent was torn down and a number of people considerably battered. The fight was finally quieted by a posse of special constables sworn in for the purpose.
