cast upon Attorney Byron F. Akerly, who was deputy in the register's office when the caveat was filed on Oct, 5, 1886, of having thrown it in the waste basket.

Yesterday, before Attorney J. Altor Davis, master in partition in the estate of Mrs. Hiram Nichols, James Nichols was allowed the sum of $5,000 as one fifth of her estate. This is a complicated case, but, briefly, the summary is this: Hiram Nichols and wife lived at Clark's Summit and owned considerable property. She owned a large estate in her own right, and died without making a will. He made a will which disinherited one of his sons, James, there being another son, Asa A., and three daughters. The litigation that ensued since the death of the parents has gone a long way toward eating up the estate in counsel fees and court costs. The estate of the mother was settled up yesterday, and had nothing to do with the present trouble. Hiram Nichols died on Sept. 29, 1886, testate. On Oct. 5 the caveat was filed in the office of Register A. C. Atherton, and given to Attorney
