Instructing Stretcher Corps. In nearly every regiment the physiclans were instructing the stretcher corps as to the proper manner of caring for the men overcome. This was necessary, because of the numbr of men who are daily overcome by the heat. No revere illness has yet resulted from those n dropping out. The general health is excellent, and under the careful supervision of the splendid corps of surreons, under the charge of Dr. Fulton, there is no danger of any serious injury resulting. Thus far in the history of the regiment the members have been healthy while at camp. The other surreons are Drs. Capwell and Parke, and they are equally careful in regard to

C. F. Whittemore, Luther Keller and J. 1 Stelle Tell of the Great Gatherings in the Two Cities-Remarks Were Instructive and Interesting.

Interesting recollections and reminis nces of the two recent and big religious conventions in Beston and Baltimore were told to a large gather ing at last night's prayer meeting of the Penn Avenue Baptist church by C. F. Whittemore, who attended the Christian Endeavor convention in Boston, and Luther Keller and J. L. Stelle, who were present at the Baltimore convention of the Bapast Young People'

Each of these gentlemen spoke briefly but what they said was instructive, and gave an idea of the great extent and ice of two of the targest conven tions of their kind in recent years. As Rev. Warren G. Individually and collectively, they said, the people were in sympathy with the delegates and the spirit of the object of their visit. Previous to the Baltimore convention, Mr. Keller said, he had an opinion that the churches were being organized to death-that so many societies in each denomination were likely to detract from the main church object -but his opinion was changed by the great gathering of the union, which
