GATHERED HERE AND THERE.

There was much rejoicing about the city yesterday among the friends of the members of the Thirteenth regiment over the brilliant showing made by that body of soldiers in the inspection drill at Camp Curtin Thursday. They have given proof anew of their right to be known as the first regiment of the state.

"The Wisard of the Nile," with Frank Daniels as star, will be produced in Scranton Friday, Sept. 27, in advance of the Pittsburg engagement at the Alvin which begins Sept. 30. This will be the beginning of Mr. Daniels' career as an operatic star. He will be remembered for his clave. He will be remembered for his clever work in "Little Puck" and as the comed-ian in "The Princess Bonnie." His com-pany will include Miss Dorothy Morton, pany will include Miss Dorothy and two who has been starring for the past two who has been starring for the past two seasons in "The Fencing Master;" Louis Cassavant, Helen Redmond, Mary Pal-mer and Edwin Isham. Frank Palima, former musical director for Thomas Q. brooke, will have charge of the music. Harry B. Smith, the author, has written the two most successful American operas, "Robin Hood" and "Rob Roy," and Victor Herbert, the composer, is the leader of Gilmore's band and composer of the Bos-tonian's opera, "Prince Ananias."

It so happens, and it is very aggravating, too, that it was a dirty, ragged speci-men of the traveling gentry that was the first to be arrested by the police after the long season of quiet in the station house. He was caught in a Delaware and Hud-son freight car at 2.15 a. m. yesterday by Officer Feeney. For the sake of making a record the officers might have left him

With His Hands Locked to Bars of His Cell Wareo Succeeds in Getting a Noose Around His Neck and Tries to Strangle Himself.

The light regard in which some men hold their lives was illustrated in the police station last night by a drinkcrazed Polander, who made a delfberate attempt at suicide in a spirit of bragga-

The man, whose name is Warco, was arrested for creating a disturbance in a saloon on Fourth street, Bellevue, yesterday afternoon. He broke a win-dow and smashed pictures and other articles inside the saloon by throwing cuspidors, bottles, etc., promiscuously about at the heads of those who were unlucky enough to be present at the time. His rage was cooled but little by his being placed behind the bars in the central station house, for when the band concert was progressing outside he made such a racket by slamming his iron bunk around that he attracted about as much attention as the band, and to prevent his performance Sergeant Deiter, when argument failed, was compelled to handcuff him to the bars of his cell. This, however, did not deter him from kicking against the sides of the cell, banging his manacles against the bars and shouting at the top of his voice, making enough noise to keep the neighbors for a block around from going to sleep. Said He Would Hang Himself. About 11 o'clock Warco stopped an officer who was passing by his cell, and with the foulest kind of blasphemy swore that if he was not let go he would hang himself. Seeing that he was handcuffed to the bars the officer regarded Warco's threat in the nature of a good joke, and after some bantering with him about his being afraid to hang himself, passed on. A Tribune reporter gaged in rather peculiar gyrations, paused to watch him. He reached down his hands as far as his manacles would permit succeeded in gasping the upper edge of his overalls and by gradually drawing them upwards with accompanying wringles of his body, finally got hold of the leather strap which served him as a belt.

Before any interference could be offered he dropped the noose over his head, and, with a sudden jerk backwards tightened the strap about his neck until it shut off his wind. One of the onlookers cut the strap from the bars while the other summoned Sergeant Deiter. Warco was grasping and struggling as if in terrible agony, and as the laigue of the buckle had slipped into one of the holes in the belt, it was with the greatest difficulty that he was relieved. Even after he sank down in a semi-conscious condition he clung with a death-like grip to the strap. His terrible experience had no moral Carleton Lee as effect on him, however, for after he ulty now here. had recovered sufficiently to stand up he was again at his blaspheming and dinmoking.

REED COMMITTED SUICIDE.

That Was the Decision Arrived at by Coroner's Jury.

A letter written by himself shows that

Ezra Reed, the 19-year-old young man who was found on the roadside two miles this side of the Hillside Home with a bullet in his abdomen, from which he died at the Lackawanna hos pital Thursday afternoon, intentionally ended his life. He gave it to a colored acquaintance named Joe Tyler, who turned it over to Mrs. E. Dostner, the deceased's sister. The letter ran as fol-

My Dear Brothers and Sisters: I am going to write you a sad letter, which I cannot help. My wife has been a burden to me. I think I have passed through a life no other young man has. It seems hard for me to leave my brothers and sisters, but I have no more to live for on earth. So you can tell my mother and my friends that will attend my funeral. I think I am in my right mind, and don't think I am drunk, for I am not.

The coroner's jury, consisting of Dr. Heald, John A. Weish, M. H. Keogh, P. J. Vetter, Michael Flaherty and A. Cohen, met at the hospital at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The evidence of Tyler was first taken. He testified that the afternoon he received the letter from Reed, the latter was very gloomy and intimated he would destroy himself. Tyler was told by him to give th letter to some one of his (Reed's) friends. It was sealed. There were other witnesses, but this testimony went to prove that Reed premeditated the act. The jury returned a verdict of death by siucide. The relatives present at the inquest were: Mrs. E. Dostner, Lewis Dostner and Otis Reed; they took charge of the body, and it was removed to Schuktsville for interment.

WILL NOT SUPPORT WIFE.

Frank W. Ellis Arrested at the Instance of His Wife.

Frank W. Bills, of 1506 North Main avenue, was put behind prison bars yesterday by his wife, who charges him with wilfully failing to support herself and three children.

The warrant charging him with non The warrant charging him with nonsupport was issued by Alderman Fulier, and served by Chief Simpson. It declares that Eills and his wife, Jennie
L. Eills, were married July 23, 1885.
They lived together until about five months ago, when he deserted her and their three children, and left them with no means of support. The alderman committed Ellis to answer at court, as he was unable to furnish ball. It is expected, however, that his father, who s a prominent citizen of Lake Como. Wayne county, will go his ball today.

At the hearing and by subsequent investigations made by Chief Simpson it was learned that the cause of the unpleasantness between Mr. and Mrs. Ellis was the alleged discovery made by the wife that her husband is a bigamist. She says, and he admitted yesterday, that he had a wife and family living in Williamsport when he married the second time. This Williamsport wife and several of his children are still in Williamsport, but they have never shown any interest in his whereabouts. On the other hand, as a sort of offset, Ellis avers that his wife has proven unfaithful to him and for that reason and no other he refuses to support her. He produced, in proof of this allegation, a letter from a man named Lawson, written to his wife, in which there is, he says, undoubted proofs of her infidelity.

The case will receive an airing in court, and will doubtlessly prove to be a very racy one.

LOOKING OVER GROUND.

Rev. George Reed, D. D., LL. D. and Dean William Frickett, I.L. D., of Dickinson Law School, Visit the City.

Rev. George Edward Reed, D. D., LL. D., president of Dickinson college, and Dean William Trickett, LL. D., of the Dickinson Law school, arrived here yesterday afternoon on a visit of investigation tending toward the locating in Scranton of the law department of the Dickinson college. They remained over night at the Wyoming, and will leave this morning for Carlisle.

The two gentlemen were met at the Delaware and Hudson station by ex-Judge Alfred Hand, William Connell, Captain W. A. May and Secretary D. B. Atherton, of the board of trade. During the early afternoon the visitors were driven to many of the various points of interest about the city, and were shown several proposed locations for the school, which, in case the transfer is made to Scranton, will only be used temporarily, until a final location is made in the Mears or Board of Trade buildings.

FORTUNE OF DR.

Tribune Will Make an Effort to Unravel the Mystery.

MR. TRAUGER INTERVIEWED

There Saw the Announcement That Dr. Leoto Had Been Left Money by Henry B. Carey.

The Tribune has undertaken the task of unraveling the mystery surrounding the Dr. A. N. Leete legacy and will sift the matter to the bottom, and if it is within the scope of possibility the people of this city will know ere long whether the fortune is a myth or exists and some one is endeavoring to defraud the rightful heirs.

Far more than looked for success has already been met with. The investigation was scarcely begun when the dis-covery was made that one of our own citizens was in Los Angeles, Ca., at the time the Carey will is supposed to have been made public, and that he read in the papers there at that time of the bequest to Dr. A. N. Leete.

This man is George H. Trauger, and his residence is at 525 East Market street, Green Ridge, Mr. Trauger is a clerk in Atherton's store on the Providence corners, and there he was sought by The Tribune representative yesterday afternoon.

What Mr. Trauger Had to Say. When asked if he could throw any light on the case he said he did not know whether or not he could tell anything that was not already known, as he had not followed up the case and ensequently was not familiar with what had been published on it. "I spent last winter in company with my wife, in Pico Heights, a suburb of Los Angeles, California, where I went for the benefit of my health," said Mr. Trauger. "One day in the early part of February the man with whom I boarded. Silas Umstead, asked me if I knew a man named Dr. A. N. Leete in Scranton, at the same time handing me a copy of the Los Angeles Times, and pointing out a paragraph in a long article about the bequests of a man named Carey. This paragraph an-nounced that $50,000 had been bequeathed to Dr. Allen Norton Leete, of Scranton, and spoke of him having loaned Carey money many years ago. I at first thought the reference was made to the physician Dr. Lest, but but when I recollected that his initials were N. Y. I concluded that it must be some brother of the physician, of whom I had not heard, and with that dismissed the matter from any further thought until a few days ago when my wife called my attention to an article in the Philadelphia Press, which, she remarked was about the same Dr. Leete matter, which we read of when we were in California.

I had not been reading the papers closely of late, and, not knowing anything about the case. I did not realize that what I knew had any important bearing on the matter." Thinks It Was a Copy of a Will. (Mr. Trauger was asked if he could remember what the nature of the article was of which the Dr. Leete paragraph was a part, but he was unable to state, saying that to the best of his knowledge article and merely glanced over the body of it. In answer to a query as to Dr. Trickett gave the impression that whether or not the article had any verification or denial he said that his imonly that he would formally report his one way or another. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon which corresponds to 1 o'clock in the afternoon in California, the following telegram was sent with "rush" instructions over the Postal lines to the Los Angeles Times:

Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles, Cal. Some time about the latter part of January you printed an article concerning the will of one Henry B. Carey and a bequest of $50,000 to Dr. A. N. The programme was carried out as dvertised, and each number met with liberal applause, the solo by Joseph Summerhill being especially well re-

PROGRESSIVE ART OF MURDER

From the Cleveland World. Medieval romances have many a blood-curding tale of poison, stabbing and other kinds of murder, with various degrees of cunning, malace and deliberation. The motives generally were revenge, jealousy, rejected love. But with all their horrors It is doubtful if they were as wanton, cold-blooded and fiendish as the modern assassination for the purpose of getting the life insurance of the victim. It has grown almost into a regular industry and like all other things is passing through various stages of development. At first the insured was permitted to survive and share the spoils with his fellow-conspirator. But as the science advanced the leading But as the science advanced the leading spirit of the plot evidently did not see why he should not absorb all the insurance boodle, so he proceeded to but the man actually out of the way. ENLARGING THE MILL.

Big Addition to Lackawanna Knitting Works to Be Erected at Once. The extending of industries on the South Side keeps on apace. The latest news in this respect is the announcement made last evening by William Connell that an addition 50 by 160 feet and as high as the main building will be made to the Lackawanna Knitting mills on Brook street.

The contract was let yesterday to Conrad Schroeder, with instructions to begin it right away and finish it as soon as practicable. The addition will be chiefly for work floors, but a certain part of it will be apportioned for office room to relieve the crowded condition of the offices at present.

The addition will be equal to almost an entire new factory, and will cause upwards of between 75 and 100 new hands to be added to the pay roll. This, with the new addition to the Sauquoit Silk mill and the Simpson and Co.'s new mill in the upper part of the Twentieth ward will represent a vast force of industry. Mr. Schroeder will put a force of men to work, perhaps, Monday to excavate for the foundation, and in about two weeks everything will be ready for the masonry. The addition it is believed, will make it almost the largest woolen mill in the country.

THE VIRTUE OF CRITICISM. 'Amber,"in the Times-Herald. If you expect to escape criticism in this world you put yourself in the attitude of flower roots that expect to grow without the discipline of the hoe. Before we can amount to any thing, either in blossom or as fruit, we must undergo much honest criticism, and of such we need never be afraid. A candid enemy is of far more benefit, often, than a timid friend, who, seeing our faults, is afraid to tell us of them. The fact that boys stone certain trees and pass others by is explainable when we find that the stones are always thrown at the trees that bear fruit. And so with character; the fact that we are criticised proves that we are something better than scrub-oaks. All criticism, however, that does not set in growing and stimulate a show of blossom and a yield of fruit is like a hoe made of wood, or a cultivator without applied power to make it cast the weedy growths. If the honest and unanimous verdict of the community in which we live asserts that we are lazy, and selfish, and proud, we may be pretty sure that we need the particular stroke of the hoe to accelerate our crop of blossoms. Nobody (save One) was ever yet universally condemned without some cause. If, then, we find that the people who do not know us very well, nor like us very much, are criticising certain lines of our conduct, it is time to admit that we need the hoe and time to accept its ministration. El. Modelo, Key West Cigars. Babies Take Lactated Food with Evident Relish.

Safety for Pale, Weak, Sickly Bables in Not Weather.

Perfect Substitute for Healthy, Vigorous Mother's Milk.

To the thoughtful parent hot weather brings the consciousness of increase care and forethought regarding the diet of the little ones. It is appalling to anyone understanding the subject to see the carelessness of parents and nurses in the matter of infant feeding. With cholera infantum raging as it is east and west this summer, these facts cannot be put to parents too plainly. This mortality is not a necessary evil for, as every single writer on the subject (from the eminent Dr. Routh, to whom every physician turns for advice, down to the honest medical student whose opinions see light in the popular medical journals) agrees, it arises principally from the improper feeding of children. Watch your baby's actions carefully, especially at this season of the year so trying to little children. Is he cross fretful or peevish? Is he troubled with constipation, colic, or diarrhoea? Is his sleep short or easily broken? Then his food disagrees, and he is in serious danger of fatal disease.

"What can I do?" we hear you ask. Change at once to lactated food, a pure and scientific food that makes the sick baby well and keeps the healthy child hearty and strong, even in summer's dangerous weather.

The best physicians prescribe it, intelligent mothers recommend it and use it, and bables living on it prove its worth by their healthy and happy faces. The worry and sadness that it keeps away is alone sufficient reason for using lactated fodd, but it is also very economical, costing less than five cents a quart, when prepared from the larger sizes. The small size costs only 25 cents, and will be mailed on receipt of price by the manufacturers, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. If your druggist down before you have ordered some.

It may save the baby's life. The mother's milk in the summer is affected by the heat, and is often dangerous for the infant. It is much safer to wean the child and put it upon this reliable food that is always the same.
