

Wilkes-Barre.

The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 23, Leaning Building, Scranton, Pa. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.)

BEFORE THE MAYOR.

Offenders Whose Cases Were Considered by His Honor.

The first case to attract the attention of Mayor Nichols was a case of Dugan, Mrs. Mary Ann Dugan, it appears, lives at 35 Jones street, and is a young widow, blessed with two small children. She and her brother-in-law had a quarrel recently, and as a result she has a black eye and a badly swollen face. She then broke some windows in her mother-in-law's house, and the elder Mrs. Dugan had her arrested. Each woman has her story to the patient mayor, then each tried to contradict the other. Peace was finally restored by Mary, the younger, being held in $1,000 bail to keep the peace.

BURGULARS ENTER A STORE.

Some time during the night burglars broke into the store of Flory Gemmel on Main street, Ashley, and ransacked the place. They secured an entrance by cutting through the panel of the rear door. When Mr. Gemmel entered the store yesterday morning he found all the drawers and money chest forced open, and about $1 in pennies, was taken, also twenty-four pocket knives, several razors and other articles. The matter was referred to the chief of police of Ashley, who thinks from the work of the cracksmen that they are the same gang who operated successfully on the west side. There is no clue to their identity.

The cars were going out at a good rate of speed, and in trying to unhitch the mule, Connell fell under the trip and was very badly hurt. He is a son of Daniel Connell, of Welsh Hill, and was taken home after the accident, but after lingering in great agony for two hours he died.

Registered as a Physician.

Samuel Perry Menzel, of Parsons, registered yesterday afternoon with the Pruthonotary Llewellyn as a practicing physician in Luzerne county. He has the degree of doctor of medicine and doctor of surgery, given by the University of Pennsylvania in 1894. He spent one year practicing in the Episcopal hospital in Philadelphia, and now locates in Parsons.

POLITICAL POINTS.

On Saturday of this week the Republican primaries will be held, and the county convention will follow on Tuesday. There is little doubt that this convention will decidedly uphold Governor Hastings and his administration, and the resolutions to that effect. The only place where the Quays promise to make a dangerous fight is in the Sixth district. In Ashley, John B. Graham is running as the Quays candidate for the state convention, while Edward Deitz is the Hastings man. The pressure has been brought to bear upon Deitz to force him out of the battle, but he refuses to go, and the chances of his election are excellent. In the First district, a Hastings man is sure to go to the convention. The candidates for the honor, who have thus far expressed themselves, are Dr. Weaver, Sol Bacharach, Hon. H. W. Palmer and Dan Thomas. Dr. Weaver and Mr. Palmer were slated to go to the convention at first, and Dr. Weaver announced himself openly a Hastings man. There is a well defined doubt among the rank and file of the party as to Mr. Palmer's position. No one seems to know exactly where he stands in the fight, and many Republicans suspect that he has Quays tendencies, although the suspicion is not justified by anything he has said. Mr. Bacharach is another Hastings man, and has pledged himself in his circulars to support the administration. He has a wide acquaintance with Pennsylvania politics through his long residence in Philadelphia, and is well-known to many of the state leaders. Dr. Weaver is making a fight against Dr. Weaver, but it will be unsuccessful. The First district of this county is solidly for Hastings, and Dr. Weaver has pledged himself to support the governor, so he will probably be elected at the district convention.
