RAILROAD NOTES.

The peach crop promises to be usually heavy this year.

The Baldwin locomotive works recently delivered to the Reading a new locomotive with only one pair of drivers and those seven feet high. It is expected that with a light train this engine will be able to maintain a speed of ninety miles an hour.

The tests upon 50-foot steel rails made upon a section of the Pennsylvania Railroad has shown that they possess many advantages over the 40-foot rail, now the standard, and it is stated the longer rail is to be adopted by that company in the future. Rails first begin to wear at the joints, and the joints give the track hands considerable trouble as they begin to sink or get low, making a rough track. The bolts which hold the rails together are provided with devices that can be applied, and fewer joints mean a better and more durable track, so that even 100-foot rails are advocated. The cars run much easier and almost noiselessly over the road so constructed. Other roads will no doubt follow the example set by the Pennsylvania in all future construction.

The inter-state commerce commission granted a hearing to the representatives of the receivers of the New York, Lake Erie and Western, on their petition for an extension of time within which to comply with an act of congress requiring the railroad companies engaged in inter-state commerce to equip their cars with grab-irons and hand-holds for the greater security of the men coupling and uncoupling cars, by July 1, 1895. Samuel T. Conklin, attorney for the Erie railroad, presented the grounds of the petition, which asks for one year's extension of time. He said that in February, 1894, 7,000 cars belonging to this company had been equipped as required. The work had been continued since with as great dispatch as possible in the depressed times until 60 per cent. of the cars in this system were equipped as the law required in respect to grab-irons. He said that another year's time was necessary to complete the work.

Hamilton county, Ohio, can probably boast of the shortest steam railroad in the world. Down at Adyston a little standard gauge track runs from the pipe foundry down to the river's edge. The main line is not a half mile in length and by taking a short cut one may walk the entire distance in thirty seconds. But this little road has six or seven miles of track and figures in the annual railway report of the state of Ohio at the head of the list which contains reports of such lines as the Pennsylvania, C. & D. C. & O., Big Four, Cincinnati Southern and the B. & O. W. It is known as the Adyston and Ohio River Railroad company, and has a full board of five directors, and a complete list of officers according to law. The duties of the passenger department are not arduous, as the little road never carried a passenger in its history. The railroad report gives the following details about the little railroad: Number of shares of stock, 500, $100 denomination, making the capital stock of the line $50,000. Whether dividends have been declared from time to time is not stated. The total cost of construction to June 30, 1894, was $75,000, or about $10,000 per mile. The freight earnings for 1894 are given as $24,588.20. The baby road has a station agent who receives 40 cents a day compensation (he has other duties), three engineers, four firemen, no conductors and eight other trainmen. One section foreman cares for the entire line, and eleven men act as switchmen, flagmen and watchmen. The road has three freight engines, sixty-four coal cars and thirty-seven other cars. In the reports on accidents the Adyston and Ohio River road has a clean record.

STATE AID FOR INSANE

Report Read by Secretary Lynett at the Poor Board Meeting.

VISIT TO DANVILLE ASYLUM

Committee Discovers That the Bill Did Not Mean What at First Was Supposed—Report Explaining the Act of Assembly.

A meeting of the poor board held yesterday afternoon transacted only routine business aside from a report presented by Secretary E. J. Lynett and Director Shotton, a committee appointed to visit the state department in relation to the measure passed by the last legislature giving the Scranton district state aid. The full text of the report is as follows:

To the directors of the poor of Scranton: Your committee appointed to investigate and report in relation to the requirements necessary for the district to take advantage of the provisions of the act providing for the care of the insane in poor districts and to ascertain the manner of keeping accounts between the state institutions and the commonwealth would respectfully report:

That in accordance with instructions of the board we visited Harrisburg and called upon Auditor General Mylin, to whom we were kindly introduced by Captain John J. Delany. That we were cordially received by the auditor general, who was not familiar with the provisions of the bill. Having been furnished with a copy of the measure, and having read it, he acknowledged the justice of our claim and expressed regret that the provisions of the bill were not sufficiently broad to cover his own county of Luzerne, which also takes care of its own insane.

He mentioned as the first requirement a certificate of the secretary of the committee of lunacy of the board of public charities that we had complied with the requirements of the act. This having been secured, the district would be entitled to an allowance from the state from the date of the approval of the act by the governor, June 28, 1895, to be collected quarterly upon the requisition of the poor district authorities.

About the Norristown Asylum. This allowance is not $25 per week, as it is the actual cost of maintenance in excess of $1.75 a week which the district must pay. In the expenses of maintenance may be figured in the cost of carpets, furniture and other articles that may be necessary, also any repairs that may be made upon the buildings, but the cost of new buildings, nor the interest upon the cost of the buildings, cannot be included. The just proportion of the cost of administration, such as salaries of officers, etc., may also be charged in this bill. The amount paid by the state to Norristown asylum, according to a report shown us by the auditor general, was equal to $1.86 per week for each patient.

To take advantage of the provisions of the bill it will be necessary to keep accurate accounts of the cost of maintaining the insane, as quarterly accounts must be made to the state under oath of a majority of the members of the board. These accounts must be submitted to and approved by the secretary of the committee of the board of public charities and approved by him. Accounts must also be rendered of all from whatever source receipts received for the maintenance of the insane, and the amount of such receipts will be deducted from the amount payable by the state.

The accounts between the state and the state institutions are not at all complicated. They simply involve a quarterly statement, and a quarterly roll of inmates with the number of weeks of treatment set forth. But as we have never kept a separate account of the cost of maintaining insane, and as in the case of the insane asylums the same belongs to the state, while in our case the farm belongs to the poor district, the new law will involve a revolution in the system of bookkeeping at Hillside Home and probably the employment of a clerk to keep the accounts.

Must Notify Board of Charities. We, therefore, recommend: First, that a committee be appointed to communicate with Cadwallader Biddle, secretary of the board of public charities, to get the certificate that we have complied with the requirements of the act. Second, that a committee be appointed to make an account of the insane kept at Hillside Home whereby the exact cost of the maintenance of the insane may be determined. Your committee would further report that our visit to the Danville Insane asylum was made pleasant by many courtesies at the hands of Superintendent Meredith, Dr. Adams, a resident physician, and Mr. Orth, the clerk, and by which, instead of your instructions, we made inquiries as to the terms and treatment of the attendants. We find that the authority of the superintendent in the hiring, placing and discharge of help is absolute. Attendants are on duty from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m., when they go to bed. They are expected to be on duty every day and always in the wards with their patients. At meal times half of the number of attendants remain in the wards, while the other half go to dinner. Attendants are given one week of leave every six months with pay, one-half day every week and part of every third Sunday on their turns. In addition to this the men are allowed to spend Sunday evenings out on their turns. The female help is not being granted this privilege, in lieu of it, the right to take two additional weeks off each year without pay at their option. A change is now meditated by which, instead of the two weeks without pay, the female attendants will be allowed two hours a week with pay. The schedule of wages is as follows:

The Schedule of Wages. For female attendants—First six months, $14; after that, $16 to $17, according to time of service and efficiency. Two dollars per month is retained for the first six months, to be forfeited if the attendant leaves for any reason. For male attendants—Eighteen dollars for the first six months, and $22, $24 and $25 per month afterward, according to term of service and efficiency. Three dollars per month is retained for the first six months, to be forfeited if the attendant leaves for any reason. We were particularly impressed with a book known as the "Nurses' Report," which contains a record of the doctor's instructions to sick inmates and the nurses' report as to how they were carried out. Such a system should be adopted in our institution.

We were kindly escorted through the institution and were agreeably surprised by the home-like comfort, even luxury, with which the female department is furnished. There were carpets on all the halls, and in every room, and the halls were plentifully supplied with easy chairs, sofas and couches, upon which the patients might take needed rest. Under the provisions of the insane act, we hope that the district may be able to supply like comforts in our own institution at the cost of the state. Thomas Shotton, E. J. Lynett, Committee.

John Gibbons was presiding officer in the absence of Chairman Langstaff. He appointed on the committee to formulate a system of accounts, Directors

SHOTTEN, MURPHY AND SECRETARY LYNETT.

On the committee to communicate with the secretary of the State Board of Charities, Mrs. Swan and Director Tropp were appointed.

LAINE IS OUT OF PRISON

He Was Released Upon Agreeing to Bring No Prosecutions.

PARK TO BE OPENED TODAY

Bloomburg Patriotic Order Sons of America Will Hold a Picnic This Afternoon and Evening—Bauer's Band Will Give a Free Concert.

Deputy Warden Price received from Alderman DeLacy, of the Seventh ward, yesterday the papers necessary for the discharge of J. H. Laine from the county jail. At 4:20 the erstwhile lessee of Laurel Hill park was released, and walked forth a free man.

The creditors of the park took charge of it yesterday; it will be opened today for the first time since the recent fiasco. The Patriotic Order Sons of America, of Bloomburg, will come to Scranton on an excursion and hold a picnic this afternoon and evening. Next Wednesday Bauer's band will give a free concert. Hereafter there will be dancing afternoons and evenings.

Agreed Not to Prosecute.

The release of Laine from the county jail was the result of an amicable arrangement whereby the criminal suits against him will be discontinued and none of the creditors will be prosecuted by him. The latter claim they never feared that he had any case at all against them, but they were averse to being drawn into litigation on account of the expense necessarily required in a defense.

The creditors were not satisfied to withdraw the warrants against Laine until he signed an agreement not to engage in any prosecution against them. He waived the right to any suit against all the creditors but one, Robert Alexander, who made use of some derogatory language. It is alleged, against the character of the prisoner, Laine is quoted as saying emphatically that he would rot in jail before signing a waiver of prosecution against Alexander. He thought better of it, and decided to bring no action against Alexander, and on such condition was released.
