Tell-Tale Prices On Parasols

Look at the old tags on our Parasol stock, and at the new ones put on this morning, and you'll find the closing out bargain story revealed at a glance. Such heavy figure cutting was not done thoughtlessly, or with a recklessness that we so often read about in advertisements. We don't do business that way. We figured the whole thing out carefully and found out that the bulk of the stock had been sold at fair paying prices. The balance left is just as good in styles and everything else, as those already disposed of, but the quantity is limited, so we've concluded we can afford to lose a little money on what we've left, in order that a thorough and complete clearance may be effected.

Quality and Elegance

Distinguish the two following numbers, which, for convenience sake, we have placed together. THE KUCHENG MASSACRE

Roar of the British Lions Is Already Heard.

MURDERERS TO BE PUNISHED

American Mission Property at Yungshu Is Burned—Details of the Massacre Are Horrible—Are Our Representatives in China Indifferent?

London, Aug. 6.—A despatch has been sent from the foreign office to Mr. O'Connor, British minister at Pekin, instructing him to demand of the government of China that it secure the safety of British subjects residing in that country. Mr. O'Connor has also been instructed to demand a full inquiry into the recent massacres at Kucheng, and the punishment of those found to be guilty of the crimes.

In addition to the instructions sent to Mr. O'Connor, Her Majesty's consul at Kucheng has been ordered to make an independent inquiry into the massacre.

Intelligence was received here this afternoon from China stating that the emperor and the government had agreed to the demands made by Lord Salisbury, through Mr. O'Connor, the British minister at Peking, and that an imperial proclamation had been issued ordering the capital punishment of the murderers. A military escort has also been ordered to protect the British consul at Kucheng during his inquiry into the outrages.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The state department this afternoon received a despatch from Consul General Jernigan reporting further missionary outrages in China. The despatch follows: "Hixton (consul) wires that American mission property at Yungshu burned. Details of Kucheng massacre horrible. Houses stealthily surrounded and sleeping ladies and children speared to death. Situation unsettled."

Mr. Denby Criticized.

The attack on Mr. Denby, the United States minister to China, during a public meeting in Shanghai yesterday, with reference to the missionary massacre at Chengtu, does not create any surprise at the state department in view of an incident that occurred during a previous outbreak against missionaries in China, which was followed by severe criticism of the minister for alleged apathy in protecting the interest of American citizens. That these attacks have little weight with the department, was shown by a statement obtained there today from one of the highest officials that Mr. Denby is one of the most capable, most aggressive and generally efficient ministers that has ever represented the United States at Pekin. It was insisted that he is thoroughly alive to the interests of American residents and has gained a reputation for unsparing aggressiveness in pressing the demands of Americans for redress and indemnity. During the past six months, it is stated, he has secured the granting and made collection of no less than four separate indemnities to American citizens for losses sustained during anti-foreign riots. Altogether, Mr. Denby stands well with the state department, whatever the missionaries and other Americans in China may think of him.

The incident referred to as tending to counteract the effect of the denunciation of the minister at yesterday's meeting occurred during one of the many anti-foreign agitations. A number of American missionaries and their families had reached a certain point and wired Minister Denby to send a United States war vessel to take them out of harm's way. Mr. Denby made the request to the admiral of the United States fleet, but the latter found that he could not get within twenty-eight miles of where the missionaries were on account of a vast marsh stretching from deep water over that distance. Mr. Denby requested the missionaries to go to some accessible point, with the result that he was condemned by members of the missionary party for alleged neglect in the case of American interests in not sending the gunboat to the point which, according to the United States admiral and Mr. Denby was twenty-eight miles from the nearest place that a gunboat could reach. A complaint on the subject against the minister reached the state department and was explained by Mr. Denby in the manner intended.

The miners who are under the control of the Italians held a secret meeting today, at which it was determined to remain out until the Spring Valley coal company will give assurances that they will not in the future give employment to negroes, which the company refuses to do.

The negroes are assembled principally at Seatonville, and received telegrams today from members of their race in Chicago and Peoria that gave them great encouragement. The purpose of these telegrams is to stand firm and assistance would soon be forthcoming. The negroes during the last few days have procured a number of shot guns and small arms, and if more can be secured they propose to march back to Spring Valley, occupy their homes and resume their employment with the coal company.

EVIDENCE OF FOUL PLAY.

Charles H. Slander Found in a Dying Condition Near Fayette Station.

Connellyville, Pa., Aug. 6.—Charles H. Slander, a Morrell boarding house keeper, was found late last night in a dying condition near Fayette station. Slander was evidently the victim of foul play. Earlier in the night Slander had $100 and a gold watch and chain on his person. When found his pockets had been rifled. Numerous bruises covered his face and body, and both legs were cut off below the knees.

Slander lived but a few moments after he was discovered and could give no description of how he came by his injuries. Slander was 50 years of age and leaves a widow and family of growing children.

FORGED TO GET A BIBLE.

Peculiar Charge Against Salie Stoyer of Reading.

Reading, Pa., Aug. 6.—Sallie Stoyer, aged 18, was lodged in jail here this afternoon on the charge of forgery, in securing a family bible from an installation house on a forged order. The prosecutor is William Rothenberger, to whom she was to have been married in a few days.

He says that she forged his name to the order unauthorized by him.

Fight to the Finish.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Senator Quay returned here today from his home at Beaver. Mr. Quay is as irrevocably pledged to the fight against his opponents as ever and said it was to the finish.

CONDENSED STATE TOPICS.

Hallstones as big as hickory nuts fell near Lancaster during Sunday's storm.

Two employees of Eckert's furnaces, Reading, have received notice of a 10 per cent. increase.

Montreal, Aug. 6.—It is almost certain that the three postoffice thieves, Killoran, Allen and Russell, who held up the guard at the Ludlow street jail, New York city, and escaped to Canada, are at Sorel, Quebec, a short distance below Montreal, in company with a band of smugglers.

The employees of Leisinger & Co.'s pottery at Mincora, have agreed to devote one day's wages to the family of any employee meeting death by accident.

The haul was made a large number of finished notes were captured and many more in process of completion, so that the gang were taken into custody just at the moment when they had gathered together the greatest amount of incriminating stuff, and just in time to prevent the public from becoming losers by their operations. Dr. Bradford is said to be a very shrewd operator, and Brockway is one of the most dangerous counterfeeters in the country. Work of the latter is all of a high class, and he deals in nothing but large notes and securities, many of which he has in the past successfully put into circulation.

MISS FLAGLER IS ILL.

It Makes Her Very Nervous to Kill a Negro.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The Evening Times today says:

Miss Elizabeth Flagler has been located. She is at the home of a physician on Lexington street, in Baltimore. Immediately after the verdict of the coroner's jury was announced exonerating Miss Flagler of the killing of Ernest Green, the young lady left the city, and up to the present time her whereabouts have remained a mystery.

Miss Flagler is said to be a very ill woman, bordering on nervous prostration. She was so ill that it was thought advisable to remove her to a private sanitarium in Baltimore, situated on Lexington street, where she could receive the best medical attention.

As soon as her physical condition will permit she will return to this city, to answer any charge that may be brought against her.

ABUSING THE NEGROES.

Manner in Which an Italian Mayor and Italian Police Run a Town—Outrages at Spring Valley.

Princeton, Ill., Aug. 6.—The Italian miners of Spring Valley today made an attempt to carry out their resolution of yesterday to expel all the colored people remaining in the city, and the result was one of the most disgraceful outrages ever perpetrated in Bureau county. It was done under protection of the mayor and policemen. Innocent women and children were driven from their homes and insulted and their trunks and belongings dragged about and despoiled.

During part of the time Martin Delmaro, the Italian mayor, accompanied by several Italian members of the police, was on the grounds watching the proceedings. Mayor Delmaro said he was there to see that the negroes got along peaceably, but if this was his purpose, he did not accomplish what he went for. Governor Altgeld has interested himself in the matter. This afternoon Sheriff Clark, of Princeton, received a message from the governor asking for information on the subject. He wished to know what was being done by the officers of the law. Sheriff Clark replied that the authorities in Spring Valley were doing nothing, and that he had not been called upon by the mayor for assistance.

As the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train entered Spring Valley the passengers saw a lot of negro refugees who had been waiting anxiously for the train for a few minutes, board the cars like a lot of wild animals in fear of their pursuers.

The passenger train had just got out of Spring Valley when the engineer saw a colored girl 22 years old coming out of the woods and running toward the train. The engineer stopped at once and took the girl, who had been chased by several Italians. It was some time before she could compose herself to relate her story. She said that a crippled relative had started from home with her, but that he had been shot in the shoulder, and as he could not move fast, had to be left behind by her.

The miners who are under the control of the Italians held a secret meeting today, at which it was determined to remain out until the Spring Valley coal company will give assurances that they will not in the future give employment to negroes, which the company refuses to do.

The friends of the state administration were on hand at an early hour and made a lively fight for their favorite candidate, but their efforts were unavailing, and Susquehanna county, the home of some of America's most noted statesmen and thinkers, was whipped into line in the interest of one of the county's perpetual office-holders, and numbered among the districts opposed to Governor Hastings.

Nominations by Acclamation.

The convention was called to order at 11:30 a.m. by W. D. B. Alney, chairman of the Republican county committee. Every district was represented. George B. Tiffany was made chairman of the convention. W. D. B. Alney was re-nominated for county surveyor by acclamation. R. B. Little, Hon. L. W. Moore and L. T. Birchard were nominated for delegates to the state convention. Moore and Little, Quay delegates, were chosen by large majorities.

Resolutions were adopted as follows:

Resolved, That we deprecate and denounce the efforts of outside parties to effect and influence political action in the county during the late factional strife.

While at all times we extend the hand of welcome to visiting statesmen from adjoining and other counties and tender our thanks for kindly invitation and cordial counsel, yet when by a continued and skillful canvass, by the attempted assassination of private characters and demoralizing and corrupt influences, they seek to control the politics of the county we feel constrained that the fair name of our county and the high moral standing of its citizens demand that we put the stamp of disapproval and condemnation upon their practices and attempted manipulations.

Resolved, that the course pursued in the transaction in the case by the German Tribune tended more to mislead than to create prejudice than to enlighten or educate. By groundless attacks upon personal character and vituperation, its effect was to corrupt the minds of its readers and to bring local journalism into disrepute. We therefore denounce its methods as disreputable and demagogic.

Resolved, that in Senator M. S. Quay we recognize a wise and sagacious statesman; a bold and intrepid leader, an experienced and successful organizer whose services and fidelity to his party entitle him to recognition and due reward. We endorse his candidacy for chairman of the state committee, and call upon our delegates to the coming state convention at Harrisburg to act for him in that convention, and use all honorable means to secure his success.

Resolved that all resolutions presented in this convention be submitted to the committee without debate.

Hon. O. A. Lines was chairman of the committee on resolutions. A "Hastings resolution" was handed to the chairman, but the committee refused to read it to the convention.

Montrose, Aug. 6.—The Republican county convention, held in the court house today, was one of the most remarkable in the history of glorious old Susquehanna, the bulwark of honest Republicanism. It was remarkable for the absence of genuine enthusiasm that usually characterizes Republican gatherings in this town; and remarkable as an assembly controlled by elements that were beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the indifference exhibited by the staunch Republicans of the past; remarkable for the lack of enthusiasm displayed by the grand old men who would recoil at methods employed by individuals who pose as the leaders of today; remarkable for exhibitions of narrow-mindedness and petty spite that are beneath the dignity of grown-up men of any party; remarkable for the
