Threatening the Judges Again.

Immediately after Senator Quay announced himself as a candidate for chairman of the state committee and declared open war against the state administration he announced his purpose to make up a slate of his own for judges of the Superior court...

Within the past week Quay has scored successes in a few counties and his chief lieutenants are so jubilant that they are again threatening the Superior court judges.

Within the past week Quay has scored successes in a few counties and his chief lieutenants are so jubilant that they are again threatening the Superior court judges. It is now openly declared that if Quay secures control of the convention he will take his revenge by knocking out all the judges except Wickham and Reeder.

The Republicans of Luzerne on Tuesday nominated an excellent county ticket, and with a reasonably earnest effort it will be elected by a decisive majority.

The Republicans of Luzerne on Tuesday nominated an excellent county ticket, and with a reasonably earnest effort it will be elected by a decisive majority. The county convention was entirely harmonious and not in the slightest degree permeated by the state faction fight.

The Turning Down of Palmer.

The fact that ex-Attorney General Palmer was turned down by the combine leaders in Wilkes-Barre, although selected by Judge Rice as the man to represent him in the convention and present his name, simply exhibits the misanthropic madness that rules the small leaders under the inspiration of the chief lobbyists who are managing the fight.

The above is a paragraph from an editorial in yesterday's Philadelphia Times in which the attempt is made to hold Judge Rice responsible for the defeat of General Palmer for delegate to the state convention.

The Worm at Last Turns.

Alderman Kent, of Chicago, has written to the Times-Herald of that city, which paper has been unparalytic in its criticism of Chicago's municipal council, an amusing yet withal salient account of the part of traitor with Governor Hastings, and that in the state convention the Northampton delegates will be turned over to Senator Quay.

The Best of Them

Of the new English parliament, which convenes Aug. 12, a well-informed writer in the Chicago Times-Herald says: "In 1841 Ireland contained 32 per cent, and a little more of the population of the United Kingdom. Today that island contains only 12.5 per cent. England in 1841 contained 54.4 per cent. of the population of the United Kingdom; today that country boasts 72.2 per cent. In the half century Scotland has risen from 2.7 to 10.7, and Wales from 2.4 to 3.8. In the face of these startling facts it will be difficult to prevent the Tories from passing a radical redistribution measure, which will make England in fact the predominant partner."

were known it might even appear that Senator Quay himself inspired the attack on Judge Rice in the Times.

Senator Quay has returned to Philadelphia and is directing his battle from that point. He has issued another statement defining his position and improves the occasion to once more assure his friends that he is absolutely certain of victory. He also announces that he is fighting this battle for good government and pure politics.

A Question of Veracity.

The Philadelphia papers are still engaged in a lively controversy concerning the alleged meeting between Quay and Martin. When the Press, some days ago, alleged that Quay had sought an interview with Martin for the purpose of inducing him to abandon the "combine" and assist him in overthrowing Hastings, Colonel Quay indignantly and unqualifiedly denied the statement, and added that he had not met Martin since the rupture between them occurred.

Missionary Work in China.

The recent massacre of Christian missionaries in China furnishes food for reflection in the minds of those of a practical turn. Should a man climb to the top of a high church steeple and plunge headforemost earthward, depending upon kind Providence to save his life, he would doubtless be regarded as a fool.

the streets and falls to replace them? Who fills the air with soot and the streets with filth and the garbage boxes with waste paper? We don't. Is it the good citizen who wants reform? But the disease is deeper than the prophane personnel of the council. It is deeper than the skin game of politics, which is embodied selfishness or worse.

COMMENT OF THE PRESS.

Wilkes-Barre Times: "The battle for delegates in Luzerne county is over and the result was overwhelmingly in favor of the Liberal administration."

Defeat in the Distance.

Olyphant Gazette: "Joe Scranton's Journal has been putting up a good fight for Joe's political sponsor, Matt Quay, but the acting editor evidently views defeat in the distance, judging from the following plea for peace which occupied space in Thursday's sheet: 'If the Republican party has any desire to win against the common enemy in the race next fall, it will need a peacemaker instead of a pacemaker.'"

ENVIRONMENT AND CRIME.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch. Heredity and environment as the well-springs of crime are being more recognized every year. The most advanced thinkers are more than ever convinced that prevention must take the place of reformatory work if there is ever to be a diminution of the number of criminals.

Attempted Bribery.

"No," said Smallwort, who was taking his ease under his vine and fig tree, "no, I won't give you anything to eat, but if you'll do some work I'll give you a quarter in cash."

Reducing the deputation from Ireland proportionally upon the reduction of population, and increasing representation of cities will enable the Tories to shape the destiny of Great Britain for at least a generation.

Reducing the deputation from Ireland proportionally upon the reduction of population, and increasing representation of cities will enable the Tories to shape the destiny of Great Britain for at least a generation. The city vote is biggest, ignorant, bestial. The frog and beer element of the cities is solidly Tory. It cares little what ministers may do with imperial affairs so long as the tax is light on hops and distilling continues to be a prosperous investment for capital.
