WILLIAMS & McANULTY 127 WYOMING AVENUE. CITY NOTES.

Mrs. Eugene Leibert yesterday contributed $5 to the St. Luke's fresh air and free excursion fund. The total amount received to date is $23.85.

The Homevale Liederkreis will run their second annual excursion to Central park, South Washington avenue, on Thursday. The feature of the day will be a base ball game between the Amity, of Homevale, and the Scranton Amateurs. Game called at 3 p. m. sharp.

Marriage licenses were yesterday granted to the following couples: John M. Lack and Estella Avey, Scranton; Louis Davis and Margaret Lewis, Scranton; Daniel Shea and Bridget Jordan, Scranton; Michael McGee and Angela Karszesock, Scranton; and John Doyle and Mary Flynn, of Carbondale.

Mrs. Thomas Benton was reported in yesterday's Tribune as one of those who attended the spiritualistic seance conducted in the Women's Christian Temperance union rooms on Monday night by Dr. James T. Luton. The lady who attended the seance was not Mrs. Thomas Benton, of North Washington avenue, wife of the secretary and manager of the Scranton Bedding company.

WILL RESUME TOMORROW.
South Works Will Resume Operations After an Idleness for Repairs.

Word has been sent out to all of the employees at the South works that the mill will resume operations tomorrow morning and they are instructed to act accordingly.

The mill shut down twelve days ago for repairs and meanwhile has undergone a thorough overhauling. No new additions, except live rollers at the farther side of the finishing rolls, have been added. The most of the repairing was by way of replacing worn out machinery. It is not expected that the usual effort to work with full force will be made until next Monday.

NEW STREET SWEEPER.
It Will Be Given a Test in This City Today.

A new idea in the way of a street sweeper will be given a trial in this city today. The machine was patented by a colored man, who is employed as a porter on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and it is claimed for it that it sweeps a street with less dust and gets closer to the curbstone than any similar machine now in use.

Through the aid of George M. Hallstead the inventor of the machine was enabled to get one of them constructed at Bloom's wagon manufactory, and today its merits will be thoroughly tested.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF AGE.
Interesting Event Celebrated by the Knights of Pythias.

A large company gathered in Odd Fellows' hall, on Wyoming avenue, last night to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of Pythias lodge, No. 283, Knights of Pythias.

An interesting programme was rendered, which was followed by the serving of refreshments and a social time.

THERE IS ONLY ONE BED

Those Taken from Crystal Engine House Have Not Been Returned.

MUST BE PURCHASED BY CITY
Ordinance Allowing That to Be Done Cannot Be Passed for Some Time as There is No Available Fund to Draw From.

The Crystals have replaced the automatic apparatus in their engine house, but have not returned the beds which were taken out at the time the apparatus was removed. According to one of the members they do not intend to replace the beds unless the city buys them, and as there is but one bed there is the one that the Mayor Council had out in there is only one man sleeping at the engine house, where, formerly, there were seven.

LIGHTNING RODS ARE UP.

Have Not Been Paid For and Suits Are the Result.

Attorneys Taylor & Lewis, representing Martha Kress, of Allegheny City, entered up thirteen writs of fi. fa. against that many citizens of this county yesterday, directing the sheriff to make a levy and collect the amount allowed to be owed by each to the plaintiff. The defendants and the amounts are as follows:

Patrick Powell, $17.75; Gem Gregory and Joseph Lalvorage, $117.60; C. E. Haslam, $51.83; Frank Perza, $52.75; Martha Gettings, $50; Salvatore Valarano, $73.51; Edmund Gallagher, $49; M. J. Neary, $56; Michael J. Lyden, $40.25; Michael Forester, $48.55; John Andrews, $75.25; Mike King, $45.

The plaintiff is the wife of a lightning rod dealer, whose agents went through the county within the past two years canvassing among the property owners. The result was that every other lightning rod district is rigged out with lightning rods.

The work was supposed to be done for a certain amount, but, according to the property owners, when the bills came to be paid they were found to be much larger than was expected.

In almost every case the agent would have the person agreeing to equip his house with lightning rods, sign a judgment note for a certain figure for which the work was supposed to be done. Some refused to pay altogether until the amount demanded would be made to tally with the contract price, and others paid just the contract price. Hence the suits.

GATHERED HERE AND THERE.

John Pirie, of this city, ex-chief of the Scranton Caledonian club, attended the annual games of the Caledonian club, of Philadelphia, on Monday night.

C. P. Boland has been chosen deputy supreme archon of the Heptasoph of district 20 and E. A. Case, of Carbondale, alternate. Of district 21 Walter V. Henderson, of this city, is deputy supreme archon and J. S. Miller alternate.

Some of the girls of the Young Women's Christian association will have an evening of singing on Thursday of this week. They will leave the rooms on Washington avenue about 2 p. m., returning at 7 p. m. Any young women who would like to go with them will be welcomed.

J. R. Beem yesterday formally turned over to Frank Stillman, his successor as general manager of the Scranton Traction company, the charge of the trolley lines in this city. In the afternoon Mr. Beem went to Philadelphia, where he is now general manager of the People's Traction company.

R. W. Crane, of Philadelphia, and C. H. Johnson, of Wilkes-Barre, state councillor and state vice councillor respectively, of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, will be in the city tomorrow to attend a union meeting of the council of this city and nearby towns. The members of Moses Taylor council, under whose auspices the meeting is to be held, are determined to make the visitors feel "at home" while here, and have made extensive preparations to entertain them.

The citizens of Bradford county intend to erect a new court house in the near future and yesterday a number of its officials and representative men came to this city to inspect our court house and get information that could be utilized in the construction of a temple of justice in Bradford. The party was made up of Judge B. M. Peck, County Commissioners Horace Horton, W. R. Oregan, John Wolfe and M. E. Lilly, R. E. Mercer, William W. Cupwell, Henry Streeter and architect William B. Camp.

The following comments are clipped from the Western Mail, of Cardiff, Wales, concerning Judge H. M. Edwards, of this city, who acted as conductor at one of the sessions of the national steeplechase held in Llandudno, Wales, on July 31:

"Judge Edwards yesterday won the so-called 'the Mabon' of America."

"Judge Edwards, of Scranton, only took two seconds to get right into the hearts of his huge audience. He spoke in Welsh with Welsh fire and Welsh 'berry' and his happy reference to Jonathan coming over to help David took on like a needle to a magnet."

New face was seen on the steeplechase platform yesterday, and the opinion was formed that it would be good to see it often. Judge Edwards, the distinguished Welsh-American, showed himself an excellent conductor of an audience of many thousands. He has a far-reaching voice, quite a gift of the routing eloquence that Welshmen like, and a command of pure Welsh as pleasant as it is surprising in one who has been out of Wales since his boyhood.

DOCTORS AT LAKE ARIEL.

They spent an Enjoyable Afternoon at That Resort.

Fourteen doctors, accompanied by their wives, hid themselves to Lake Ariel yesterday and spent a day of real, unalloyed pleasure, uninterrupted by calls and undisturbed by noisy patients. It was the annual mid-summer outing of the Lackawanna County Medical society, an event which is always looked forward to with much anticipation by the members, and one which is always a source of rare enjoyment to them. "No rigidity and no shop talk" is the order of the day.

Yesterday's outing was one of the most successful that has occurred. The party left Scranton at 2:24 p. m., and upon arrival at the lake spent a short time in boating, after which they adjourned to Hotel Pines, where dinner was served. There were no set speeches, but nearly every one present contributed to the flow of conversation, and as the doctors are, as a rule, ready wits, there was no lack of after dinner merriment. After supper there was a Yachting party, and at 8:40 the return was made.

The members who enjoyed the outing were Drs. A. J. Connell, C. L. Frey, J. C. Bateson, M. J. Williams, J. W. Heath, H. D. Murray, H. D. Gardner, John Burnett, L. M. Gates, P. F. Gunster, A. D. Dean, D. H. Jenkins, D. A. Capwell and L. S. Barnes.

AN ELECTRICAL PLANT.

Proposition to Establish It on the West Side Under Consideration.

At the meeting of the West Side board of trade last evening was introduced by William Farrell a proposition for the establishment of an electric light plant in the West Side. The proposition to the body the argument that fuel is cheap and there is plenty of it stored up in the numerous culm banks that dot the surface. He impressed his colleagues well with the feasibility of the scheme as to the benefit that would accrue to the community at large and also the ultimate profit that will come to the investors.

After several members had committed themselves as being favorably disposed toward the undertaking, the board was canvassed for stockholders and D. M. Jones, chairman of the manufacturers committee, headed the subscription with $1,000. William R. Williams, E. M. Clarke and Mr. Farrell promised to subscribe $200 worth of stock. This formed a nucleus of $2,500, and it is expected that an amount necessary to carry out the project can be easily raised among the citizens of West Side.

Nothing was said as to the probable location, there being several available. The condition of West Lackawanna avenue was discussed, and action was taken that the city engineers will be notified that it is regarded as the sense of the members that the widening of the thoroughfare at the intersection of Ninety and Robinson streets would add to the value of the roadway.

A capitalist from Germantown has gone over the ground on the West Side looking up the site of a woolen mill. The board will encourage the gentleman if he shall take any definite steps toward bringing his proposed mill across the river.

NEW MUSICAL CLUB.

Was Organized Monday Night and Gave a Concert.

A number of friends gathered Monday evening at 518 Adams avenue to form a glee and banjo club, which is to be known as the Leslie Glee and Banjo club of Adams avenue. The following are the names of those who compose the club: Professor Harry Leslie, leader and violinist; Samuel B. Johnston, banjo accompanist; Allen Hollender, mandolin; C. Decker, pianist; George J. Alexander, harpist; and John Kemp, piano accompanist.

A very excellent musical programme was rendered by the club and refreshments were served. Those who had the pleasure of being present were: Mr. and Mrs. William McLean, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene I. Surdam and Mrs. William Taylor, of the Misses Annie and Jennie Stratton, and Harry Leslie, Allen Hollender, Samuel J. Kelly, Clarence E. Decker, Samuel B. Johnston, Dr. William A. Taft, Joseph S. Van Nest, George A. Johnson, Truman Surdam, Ross Surdam, Elbert H. Nichols, and John Kemp.

FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Weekly Social Given Last Night in the Y. W. C. A. Rooms.

A large gathering of members and their friends enjoyed a delightful musical evening last night in the Young Women's Christian association rooms. The committee of members known as the "First Presbyterian church committee," and of which Miss Florence Richmond was chairman, had arranged for a programme of songs, piano and violin.

Lawrence Hamblen rendered several splendid selections on the mandolin, and Richard Weisenfue and Harry Luce contributed largely to the evening's success. The concert was well attended and the ladies who participated were Miss Bessie Phelps, banjoist; Miss Richmond, pianist; and Mrs. B. T. Jayne, soprano.

The entertainment was the usual weekly social affair to which all young women and girls are invited.

BASE BALL TEAM ARRESTED.

The Stone Avenue Stars Stole Colonel Boies' Fruit.

Last evening Alderman Millar had seven arrests before him charged with stealing fruit from Colonel Boies' premises. They are members of the Star Base Ball club, of Stone avenue.

While returning in a body from a game, they invaded the Boies premises and helped themselves to a quantity of fruit, in doing which they injured some of the trees and trampled upon the shrubbery. The uniforms which they wore were of their own identity and warrants were sworn out for the whole team. Seven of them only could be found, so the alderman, after giving them a severe scolding, released them with the injunction that they themselves in readiness to be called up for sentence at any time in the near future.

A BROKEN ANKLE.

Driver Boss of the Sand Banks Shaft Injured by a Runaway Mule.

Edward Mullen, of 1925 Washburn street, driver boss in the Sand Banks shaft, sustained a broken ankle yesterday by being dragged by a runaway mule in the mines.

The green driver boy had charge of the animal and could not control it. The mule had started to runaway and Mullen, in his effort to prevent it, was knocked down and trampled upon. He was brought to the Moses Taylor hospital, where he may be detained for a few weeks. He is 29 years of age and married.

BRIBE OF BLACK BROOKS

Two Swindlers from Buffalo Working a Sharp Game.

STOCK IN TRADE OBJECTS
The Name and Influence of a Prominent Colored Man is Used in Their Operations—He Objects and Exposes Them.

Two colored men, Charles A. Smith and R. Brown, had the room of the Electric City Colored quartette, were arrested last night on suspicion of being swindlers.

They have been going about town for the past few days, carrying advertising for a business directory and have received a great deal of money through their allegation that they were to publish the directory in the interests of the Electric City Colored quartette, and that George Marshall, head waiter at the Wyoming, had given them permission to use him as a reference.

C. S. Seaman was one of the many business men who paid a dollar for an "ad" in order to help along the well-known colored boys who compose the Electric City quartette. Last evening Mr. Seaman met Mr. Marshall and casually inquired about the directory.

Mr. Marshall told Mr. Seaman that he had nothing whatever to do with the directory, did not know the canvassers and was quite sure that the quartette knew nothing of them. He further stated that he had never given permission to use his name as a reference.

Accordingly the matter was placed in the hands of the police and at 11 o'clock last night the two men were about to start for their room in the Scranton House they were taken into custody by Sergeant Davis and locked up in the station house.

A Tribune reporter visited them about midnight in their cell. Both were in a bad way, and the reporter of the best workmanship. Smith is very big of the tongue, after a fashion, and would no doubt drain the city of its wealth if his persuasive eloquence was allowed to run loose.

The intimation has been perpetrated that we took occasion to use Mr. Marshall's name as an auxiliary to our article. Mr. Smith in answer to the reporter's request for a statement, "Had we been interrogated pertaining to the identification of the head waiter at the Wyoming, we might have responded that Mr. Marshall was the individual who officiated in that capacity. However, if any one asserts that we used Mr. Marshall's name as an inducement to trade, he is guilty of ignominious perjury."

The reporter quit at this juncture.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Clark Summit Case.

Coroner J. A. Kelley went to Clark's Summit yesterday morning to inquire into the death of the man who was killed on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at that place Monday afternoon. The jury consisted of C. A. Benjamin, Frank Bronno, Nelson Reynolds, J. R. Haines, Benjamin Ross, and Michael Malloy.

The deceased was about 25 years old, had a smooth face, dark hair and dark clothing. In his pocket was a coupon for a watch given by George W. Slater, Academy street, Poughkeepsie, a lock of auburn hair and a small purse. On his left arm were tattoo marks of a woman's head, a cross and an anchor on the right arm similar to the marks of a sailor boy leaning on a tomb-stone, with the words "In memory of my mother."

The testimony of the trainmen employed on the freight which killed the man was taken, but nothing of importance was gleaned and a verdict of accidental death was returned. The body will be sent to the Clark's Summit undertaking establishment today, awaiting news of identification.

FIGHT OVER CORBETT.

Brothers-in-Law Could Not Settle Their Arguments in Any Other Way.

Alderman C. C. Donovan of the Twelfth ward, issued a warrant yesterday for the arrest of Martin McGurri at the instance of Edward Lyon, on the charge of assault and battery. They are brothers-in-law and live on Irving avenue. A hearing was given the defendant at 12 o'clock yesterday, but he required to furnish bail for his appearance at court.

McGurri was in Lyon's house after supper Monday evening and they were having a friendly chat about the ability of Jim Corbett as a fighter, which developed into a warm argument regarding their own ability. They are both big men and in a twinkling were squaring off at each other; before they terminated the debate, there was not a stitch of clothing on either of their backs.

YUSKE IN MORE TROUBLE.

The Sheriff Has Closed His Saloon on West Lackawanna Avenue.

William Craig, representing E. S. Robinson's Sons Brewing company, of Seventh street, filed a judgment note of $500 against William Yuske, the Polish saloon-keeper on West Lackawanna avenue. An execution was issued and placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff J. D. Ferber, by whom it was served. He found the proprietor conspicuously by his absence, the saloon up.

Not over a month ago Special Officer John Tierney on a warrant sworn out by J. D. Reynolds, of Wilkes-Barre, arrested Yuske and confiscated an electric dice machine, placed the proprietor under arrest, and brought him before Alderman Morgan for a hearing, who held him in the sum of $500 to appear at court.

AND STILL THEY COME.

Slender Suit Springs from a Diamond Plats' Scolding Bee.

Papers instituting a suit for damages in the sum of $2,000 were filed in court yesterday by Attorney John P. Scragg, who represents the Diamond Plats, of the Diamond Plats, a young woman claiming to be aggrieved to that amount as the result of slanderous words spoken by her by Miss Bridget Murphy, who is a near neighbor.

A capias was issued and will be served today. The defendant will be required to furnish bail in the sum of $1,000. The slanderous words are alleged to have been spoken a few days ago while the two women were holding a lively debate on Carbon street.

WORLD'S PRODUCTION OF ALUMINUM.

In 1885 France was the leading producer. In 1894 Germany took the lead, and in 1898 England. Since 1898 Switzerland has outstripped the world. During 1904, however, only three countries were producers. France 10 per cent, Switzerland 50 per cent, the United States, 30 per cent. The price per pound has gone from $12 in 1885 to 35 cents in 1896.

DIED.

CLARK.—In Scranton, Aug. 13, 1896, Francis E. Clark, aged 71 months and 13 days. Funeral Wednesday afternoon, 2 o'clock from the family residence, 1347 Capouse avenue.

ANXIOUS MOTHERS DREAD THE HOT SUMMER DAYS.

Everything Depends Upon the Diet on Which They Are Fed.

Located Food Best Supplies the Materials for Healthy Growth.

Not only the physicians, but thousands of modest parents who have seen their children safely through the trying years of infancy and youth, now know that there is no rational excuse for cholera infantum entering any intelligent home in the land.

Every case of diarrhoea that terminates disastrously must be set down to culpable inattention to baby's great need of pure, nourishing food.

The fearful number of infant deaths every summer from cholera infantum due to the ignorance of well-meaning mothers.

Improper food is now known to be the cause of nine-tenths of all the frightful infant mortality of August.

Mother's milk, when healthy and sufficient, is the ideal infant food; but when in the first year of the baby's life recourse must be had to another food, or when the time comes for weaning the child, lactated food by all means should promptly be given in preference to anything else. It has saved the lives of thousands of babies.

Mother and nurse who have used lactated food all agree that it best supplies the materials for baby's rapid growth and development. Lactated food is prepared with a regard to purity, cleanliness and freedom from possibility of contagion that merits all the praise that has been so lavishly bestowed upon it by physicians.

The nutritious parts of barley, wheat and oats are so prepared as to be easily assimilated; to these are added sugar of milk and the salts which are the basis of mother's milk. These constituents are thoroughly cooked at high steam heat, and make a predigestion, palatable, nutritious food, a perfect substitute for mother's milk, fit for meeting every demand of the rapidly growing child.

Lactated food has tided thousands of babies through the sickly hot days. It should be in the hands of every parent.

Mrs. Edward Hilland, of Franklin, Pa., whose beautiful baby is shown above, says:

"Our baby was very delicate, but now is one of the healthiest children in the state. If it had not been for lactated food I know she would not be alive today, for before she commenced its use she was skin and bones. I tried 'o's' food, and I don't know how many others, and they seemed to do more harm than good. She is two years old now and is still living on lactated food, and will be for two years to come, for it keeps her in perfect health, and that is what I want."

HE SUFFERED REMORSE.

Worked on His Conscience and Forced Him to Return.

This is the story of a man with a stricken conscience. Last winter the man boarded for a number of weeks in a well-known Northside hotel. He appeared to be a person of means, adorning himself according to the latest fashions and dropping hints occasionally about his calls in Prairie avenue. He was a favorite with the proprietor, and the clerks asked him where he bought his neckties.

But one day he left suddenly. The books showed that he owed $28.50. Bitterness swelled up in the proprietor's heart.

"I could have sworn that the man was honest," he said, and the clerks all agreed with him—as they were in the habit of doing.

After the man had been away about two months he suddenly reappeared. The proprietor scowled.

"I've come back to pay my bill," said the man. "It has been troubling my conscience ever since I left, and I couldn't rest until I knew that my account with the world was clear."

The proprietor was gratified. "I always thought you were an honest man," and I told my clerks I couldn't believe that you intended to do me out of the board bill."

"I've always heard that you were a close judge of character," said the man; "many people have told me so. But the proprietor was more gratified than ever. He had more than half believed for a great many years that he was a man of phenomenal shrewdness."

The man with a stricken conscience drew out a roll of money and gave the clerk a $50 bill.

"Take it out of that," he said, with a flourish of his hand, "and enough more to pay for the drinks."

The man received $20.65 in change, and after he had rubbed against the bar for ten minutes he shook hands all around and hurried away.

Then all agreed that he was a man in a thousand. The proprietor said you couldn't fool him about money—he knew 'em."

But the $50 bill was a counterfeiter. Sometimes a man suffers from remorse, not because he stole, but because he stole so little.

AN AMERICAN GIRL.

In a riant mood nature made the American girl. After trying her "prettice hand," she has been producing an angel on the lasses of other climes, she gathered herself up for her masterwork and, says William B. Walsh, produced an angel with a spice of the devil in her. This she set loose in the new world of America to bewilder, to baffle and to enchant. All nations own her spell; none are able to read the secret of that spell. She is a mystery in silks and boucians. Her own countrymen give her up as a conundrum, while as a flesh and blood entity they eagerly take her in. Even the realistic novelist, a gentleman who prides himself on his Kodak fidelity to life, owns that when he pulls the string that flashes and flashes, he is struck by her rest, and so his picture is dim and blurred.

HER HUSBAND WENT AWAY.

Mrs. Gehling Wants a Divorce, Because He Has Never Returned.

Away back in 1867, John F. Gehling and Martha Jeremiah celebrated Independence Day by getting married. They lived in bliss and were happy for nine twenty years. On April 24, 1893, John stalked out of the house in the silks and has never darkened the door since. She believes that he intends never to return, and through her next friend, William Jeremiah, she has applied for an absolute divorce. The libel in the suit was filed yesterday by Attorney John F. Scragg, her counsel.
