

Wilkes-Barre.

The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 25 Lanning building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre. It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailies, and deliver it conveniently from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them.

HABEAS CORPUS HEARING.

Two Are Held by Judge Bennett in the Bar

Yesterday morning Judge Bennett held two habeas corpus hearings in the bar office, the prisoners being "Farmer" Gibbons and John H. R. Jones, the assistant district attorney, represented the commonwealth.

Gibbons, who was charged with assaulting and robbing Edward Boyle on the public streets, was given the first hearing. Boyle, the prosecutor, was the first witness and swore that on the evening of July 10, he was drinking with Gibbons and several others in a saloon on Public Square until midnight.

John H. R. Jones, being sworn, said he saw Gibbons in company with Boyle at 12:30 o'clock on the night in question. He testified that he saw Gibbons and Boyle together in the saloon and that they were drinking.

At the evening service Rev. J. S. Lewis, of West Pittston, preached from Isaiah, 72. He reached the hearts of his auditors, and a blissful season of consecration followed.

Thursday morning—Love Feast led by Rev. W. M. Treble, of Wyoming. A season of spiritual uplift and refreshment was had.

The preacher of the morning was Rev. T. M. Furey, of Wanaque, who delivered a sermon of grace and power from Exodus, 13:1, 21, moving the people to seek more complete conformity to the ideals of Christian character.

The commonwealth had a sermon by Rev. J. Madison, of Yatesville, from Isaiah, 43:1, 18. The preacher was happy in his thought, moving his audience to seek more complete conformity to the ideals of Christian character.

Blank Books, Pamphlets, Magazines. Upon his arrival he was put in a position and whipped until he fell into a room. It was then night and Allen and Hoag carried him to the barn, where they actually hanged him in the doorway and left him to die. Despite his weakness the boy, freeing one hand, succeeded in clutching the rope and saved himself from strangulation, while he braced himself against the doorway with his feet. A storm came up just then, and four cattlemen from Lafayette chanced along and came to the barn for shelter. They heard Lispenard's groans and the wailing of his wife and rushed in. When Allen and Hoag were called upon to explain they said that they had found the body of a man hanging from a tree and that it was nobody's business how they did it. The reply so angered the cattlemen that they came back taking Lispenard with them. Lispenard gave into the charge of a man named Newton, and through his testimony his wife's story was afterward convicted and sentenced to some term in the penitentiary. At the age of 15 he came to

Rev. F. J. Brady, of Baltimore, Md., yesterday concluded his tour of the Mountain House, which began on Wednesday, Aug. 9. Father Brady spent yesterday afternoon as the guest of Rev. Father McAndrews, leaving for his home in the Maryland metropolis last evening.

His First Case. Attorneys S. S. Herring and Barney McManus were the first attorneys of the Luzerne county bar to argue a case before Judge Bennett. The case was that of George Burst vs. Adam Weisenbarn, and Mr. Herring appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. McManus for the defendant. A minor son of Mr. Weisenbarn was killed on the railroad, and held at the time a benefit certificate for $500 against the Philadelphia Railroad Relief association, in which Mr. Burst, his uncle, was named as beneficiary. The father got the benefit and Mr. Burst sued to recover the same.

At the evening service Rev. J. S. Lewis, of West Pittston, preached from Isaiah, 72. He reached the hearts of his auditors, and a blissful season of consecration followed.

Thursday morning—Love Feast led by Rev. W. M. Treble, of Wyoming. A season of spiritual uplift and refreshment was had.
