THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE .-- TUESDAY MORNING. AUGUST 20, 1893.

WE WERE DEMORALIZED.

And Lancaster Easily Won the Victory of the Diamon

the Diamond. A general demoralization in the field in the first and second innings was the direct cause of yesterday's defeat. Six Lancasterians crossed the home plate in these epochs and each one brought an added burden to that tired feeling with which our ownest own seemed to be af-flicted. These six runs served to dis-courage the homesters and all the yore-time snap which we were wont to see was invisible thereafter. Big Bill Massey made his appearance ent that the big fellow has not yet re-covered his grip. He seemed very weak yesterday and only kept to his work by a determined effort. It was a busy day for "Chorch" by a determined effort. It was a busy day for "Chorch" Staltz. He reached first base four times out of five times at bat and scored both of Carbondale's runs. In addition thereto he successfully nego-tiated his seven chances and handled ten ground balls without the semblance ten ground balls without the semblance of a juggle. His side partner, Mart McQuade, also distinguished himself by making a neat return of Seybolt's long drive, putting that ambitious gentle-man out at the plate. Wetzel and Patchen also earned applause by co-operating in this play. Totay's game will be for blood, and, of course, everyone wishes that the force of water is hardly strong enough to reach the second story of the dwell-ings. People supplied at the outskirts of the town are even in greater stress. The scarcity of water again brings up the question of home control of our watreworks. The water company re-cently changed hands, and it was hoped it would be controlled by our own townsmen, as it was understood there were numerous persons here that de-sired stock. No doubt the fabulous price asked deterred many from buy-ing, with the result that our water sup-ply is controlled by parties from out of town, only one shareholder being lo-cated in Honesdale. # On Friday Borough Attorney Batten

of course, everyone wishes that the blood will be Lancasterian. Two straight defeats are more than we are accustomed to up in this neck of woods. Following is the score:

On Friday Borough Attorney Batten-bury certified to court that a vacancy exists on the board of borough audi-tors, and asked that an appointment be made. Contrary to the custom in vogue here he did not ask for the ap-pointment of a specific person, and the court will properly be allowed to name whoever it sees fit. The vacancy on the board has been caused by the res-ignation of Mr. O'Horo, who is now a school director. It is said that there are several aspirants for the position. A special meeting of the board of trade will be held this evening. It is hoped that all the members will be present as it is expected that important business will come before the meeting.
