UP THE LADDER.

Carbondale Wins Through the Fine Pitching of Yerkes. Yerkes pitched good ball yesterday afternoon, and, as a result, the coming champions of the State league won rather easily from the chipper Lan-casterians. The victory was not obcasterians. The victory was not ob-tained with the consent or connivance of the visitors. Far from it. They strained every nerve to make it the third straight victory, and they did not give up the fight until Horatio Best, dhe agile and talented left fielder, sent a sharp bounder to Danny Shields in the ninth inning, thereby ending the agony.

agony. Martin Tullius Cicero McQuade and Washington Irving Patchen were the theroes of the hour. Their work at the Robinson Got the Plum. Joseph F. Robinson will collect the school taxes of the city of Carbondale for the year 1895-96. The matter was finally decided at the last meeting of the board. Mr. Robinson offered to do the work for 3½ per cent, which is ½ per cent. more than his bid of a week ago. There seems to be some doubt as to the school board having authority to appoint a collector without the sanc-tion of the court under the existing charter of the body. The directors ridicule the idea. They apparently have the courage of their convictions, at all bat fully excused them from throwing all the bouquets at themselves which an the souquets at themselves which they deemed proper. Mac made four safe hits, including a screaming three-bagger. "Patchen, old boy," made three safe hits, including the hair-raising home run to the back stretch. He also made a pretty sacrifice. made a pretty sacrifice.

The haughty Hazletons are next on the list. Our boys are in prime condi-tion once more, and nothing less than three straight from the Mackerels will satisfy them. The struggle for the championship will, in great measure, depend upon this series. Massey's physical condition was much improved yesterday. ### Base Ball Briefs.

No professional base ball today. Carbondale and Simpson play county league game at Alumni park afternoon Luby or not Luby. That's the question. Yesterday's victory inspired confidence in the downcast cranks. It touched that well of hope which "springs eternal in the human breast" and now they're only waiting till the oracker jacks get a chance at Hazleton tomorrow. They think the home team will retrieve itself for the "rocky" play-Mill fetrate itself for the focky play-ing of the past few days, and fatten its percentage at the expense of the Quay-kers during the tail end of the week. and is survived by his mother and one brother, with whom he lived. The mystery surrounding the origin of the fire in the grist mill operated by Fowler & Johns is now thought to be solved. It is laid to spontaneous combustion. It is a known fact that the dust which accumulates in mills will sentence the sufficient to cause an ex-position. The grist mill has been in operation for the past twenty-five years, which has allowed a great deal of dust to accumulate. The fire origi-nated in the third story, or attle.
