HASTINGS PORCES CONFIDENT

mates-The District Conventious Pass Off Without Friction.

Philadelphia, Aug. 21.—Conventions to nominate candidates to the Republi-fices and for delegates to the Republifices and for delegates to the Republican state convention at Harrisburg on next Wednesday were held today. The county convention excited little interest, as they were of the cut and dried order, and the delegate conventions absorbed all the attention, as upon the result of their action there probably hung the mastery of the Republican party leadership in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia has twenty-eight legislative districts and these twenty-eight districts send seventy delegates to the districts send seventy delegates to the state convention. Of the result of the state convention. Of the result of the convention in these districts, as they bear on the Quay-Hastings fight, considerable doubt and confusion exists. Both sides are claiming several districts, and in two of them, the First and Fifth, there was a spik, and two conventions were held, and two sets of delegates elected. The estimate of seventeen delegates for Senator Quay made in these despatches last night seventeen delegates for Senator Quay made in these despatches last night seems to be about the right number, and the victory appears to rest with him, as he was originally conceded only ten delegates by his opponents. The Hastings leaders tonight give to Mr. Quay but fifteen delegates, but tactly admit that at least seven dele-gates are in the doubtful column. The Hastings leaders claim they have won Hastings leaders claim they have won what they expected, but the claim of what they expected, but the claim of victory seems hardly borne out by the results. Mr. Quay has undoubtedly carried the Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Fifteenth, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-sixth districts, although the Hastings people claim the Third and Sixth and the professions. claim the Third and Sixth, and thus cut off two delegates from his seventeen, and figure out but fifteen for him. Beside the seemingly assured seventeen votes, the Quay estimate is one puobable. five contested and two pledged delegates, which claims, if borne out, will sive Quay transfer. will give Quay twenty-five votes from Philadelphia in the state convention. The "probable" delegate is William B. Ahern, of the Thirteenth ward, who was one of the nominees today for a county office. The contested delegates are from the split conventions in the First and Fifth districts, and the two "pledged" delegates are from the Twenty-first district. Hastings People Not Disturbed. The Hastings leaders, however, appear undisturbed, and are as confident of victory as they were weeks ago. The conventions today were not marred by any trouble of consequence, and the bitter feeling between the two factions was confined within bounds. If the disaster to the building had occurred a little earlier there would have been great los of life, as over half a hundred men had just quit work for the night. They had been installing the electric lighting for the opening of the big show building, September 2, with Barnum & Bailey's circus. So fas as known at this hour there was no one killed by the this hour there was no one killed by the accident. When the massive arches of iron began to break loose from their fastenings on the four sides of the structure the strain was too much for the thin, low walls of pressed brick. The Platform.

The Platform.

The platform was short. After the usual prefatory paragraphs of congrutulation and denunciation the platform came directly to the financial question. The financial plank follows:

We reaffirm the following portion of the seventh plank of the last national Democratic convention: "We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to coin both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to coin both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of colmage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted by international agreement or by such safe legislation as shall assure the maintenance of the party of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the payment of debts, and we demand that the paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin." We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and fluctuating currency.
