The Hastings Leaders in Philadelphia Are Visibly Encouraged.

LEHIGH SAPE FOR GILKESON

The Quay Side's Profuse Bluster Has Not Blinded Shrewd Observers to the Evident Fact That Sonator Quay Is Beaten.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—Since yester-day's convention Republican politics have quieted down in Philadelphia, as both of the contestants are busy figuring on their possible delegates in the state convention and claiming that they will convention and claiming that they will win. As each side is as positive as the other in its claims of victory, and as many elements of uncertainty are working beneath the surface, no positive prediction of who will win the battle can be made at this time.

When the forces of both sides are mustered at Harrisburg on Wednesday next there promises to be a battle royal, and one desertion from either side may be sufficient to create a panic in the ranks and cause a stampede one side may be sufficient to create a panic in the ranks and cause a stampede one way or the other. Much will undoubtedly depend on the personnel of the committee on credentials and the side that shows a majority in the committee will have a big advantage. The Quay people talk as if they expect to control the credentials committee, but they may find they have counted their chickens before they are hatched.

On the surface Quay certainly appears to have the advantage and to be reasonably sure of victory, but the positive way in which the Hastings leaders talk seem to indicate that they may have knowledge that many of the uninstructive delegates will be with them.

STATE SHOOTERS' SCORES.

econd Day of the Sportsman's Associa tion Meet in Philadelphia. Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—The shooting tournament of the Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's association was continued today on the grounds of the Keystone Shooting league, and pleasant weather still favored the shooters. A recount today of the scores made by Fulford and William Wolstencroft on Tuesday and Wednesday in the shoot for the E. C. Powder company's troph re-sulted in a reversal of the winner and the awarding of the prize to Fulford instead of Wolstencroft. It was found an error had been made in the count and that Fulford had broken ninety-seven instead of ninety-six targets, and that therefore, he was not tied at the latter figure with Wolstencroft and should not have shot off the match with him and which he lost.

The winners in today's shoots at twenty Empire targets and their scores and number of first, follows: Landis, (2), 20; J. Wolstencroft, 20; W. Wolstencroft, (4), 18, 18, 19, 19; Sullivan (2), 20, 19, 0; Wolstencroft, 19; Fulford (3), 20, 19, 20; Apger, (3), 19, 19, 19; Mc Murchy, (2), 20, 20. In several of the twenty target shoots from two to three men were tied for first place, and the mentrance money was divided.

The team shoots resulted as follows:
Team shoot, Reading Shooting association, silver trophy, for teams of five men and the championship of Pennsylvania; trophy, value $200; entrance fer $10, 50 per cent. of entrance divided be tween two second best teams, 30 and 20 bween two second best teams, 30 and 20 per cent.; 25 targets per man at known angles. She is probably the oldest person living in this state. She was once a slave in the Hamilton family of Mount Sterling, Ky. She has been toothless for a great many years, and there is little space between the wrinkles which have been multiplying upon her face, but she is still wonder-fully vigorous, having walked from the railroad station to her home, a distance of two miles, only a few months ago. In her early life "Aunt Parthenia" was several times married and it has been impossible to keep track of her descendants, who are said to number about 200. She is a great-great-grandmother. She was acquainted with Daniel Boone, the Kentucky pio-neer.

MURDER SEASON HERE.

Iniversity of Pennsylvania Foot Ball Schedule Has Been Arranged.

Schedule itas Been Arranged.

Philadelphia, Aug. 22.—The foot ball schedule of the University of Pennsylvania for the coming season has been arranged. All but three game will be played on Franklin field, Pennsylvania's Athletic grounds.

No game has been arranged with Princeton or is likely to be unless overtures should come from the Tigors, in which case Pennsylvania would probably meet their old foe, as two dates are still open. The games away from home are with Harvard, the Pittsburg Athletic club at Pittsburg, and the Crescent Athletic club, at Brooklyn. The hard games of the season will be with Harvard, Cornell, University of Virginia and the University of Michigan. The game with the latter college has not been positively arranged but the negotiations under way will in all probability result in the westerners meeting Pennsylvania.

Yale is no longer considered in making up any of Pennsylvania's athletic schedules, as the New Haven men, for reasons they consider sufficient, have refued to contest with the Quakers. Pennsylvania will have a hard task on its hands to repeat its performance of last year in beating Harvard and rennsylvania will have a hard task on its hands to repeat its performance of last year in beating Harvard and Cornell, as they play the Crimson on Saturday, Nov. 23, and five days later on, Thanksgiving Day, they meet the sturdy boys from Ithaca. Five days is but a short time to recover from the effects of a hard game such as the one with Harvard is sure to be.

On Every Hand Praise Is Heard for th Excellent Manuer in Which the Local Arrangements for the Reunion Were Perfected.

Special to the Scranton Tribune Montrose, Aug. 22.—Although mer-cury stood at 50 when the sun peeped over the Elk mountains this morning the chilly atmosphere had no effect in dampening the enthusiasm of the veterans of the Seven-County organization, who remained in camp on the fair grounds. After the sunrise exercise the morning was spent in frater-nal visits and renewal of old acquaint-ances about camp. At 11 o'clock the reunion of the ex-Prisoners of War as-sociation, of which Colonel Ripple, of Scramon, is president, occurred, and the gathering of these heroes was one of the most interesting events of the encampment. In the afternoon "Old Soldiers' Day" was further observed by speeches from Colonel L. Coe Young, of Binghamton, A. J. Colborn, jr., of Scranton, and Colonel C. K. Campbell, of Pittston. Company G, of the Thirteenth regiment, in conjunction with the old vets of Colonel Hardy's battery, gave an exhibition in skirmish drill, which was followed by a dress parade in which sons of veterans and all old veterans joined.

An Old-Fashioned Camp-Fire. An old-fashioned camp-fire was held at the big tent in the evening, at which the usual speechmaking and story tell-ing was indulged in until a late hour. Among the many speakers of the af-ternoon and evening were Colonel Youngs, of Binghamton, N. Y.; "Our Jack" Colborn, who, by the way, is a very interesting speaker; Colonel C. K. Campbell, of Pittston; Hon, William Jessup, Captain Beardsley and many other good talkers, who can tell their army life in a very pleasant way. One thing that was very noticeable was the lack of drunken people, which was commented upon by visitors. There was not an arrest made during the day.

The visitors are particularly emphatic in their praise of the enterprise of the Village Improvement society, whose members had charge of the din-ner tent on the grounds. All agree that the arrangements and service were the most complete and efficient ever observed at so large a gathering.
