BASE BALL.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Scranton Base Bail association there was considerable discussion of next season's plans and the directors were a unit on continuing Billy Barnie as minager. There seems to be no intension of selling the association stock to outside parties, but the present owners will conduct the club next season. Players for 1896 will be reserved as soon as the present season closes.

Manager Barnie has this year had the same trials and troubles which always come to a manager during his first year with a new club. A centain element has criticized him but the most weighty argument in his favor is that the owners of the club are satisfied with him and will wihout doubt retain him

It has been the rule in the base ball business that new clubs in a league finish among the last division in the race. Toronto, Rochester and Scranton are new clubs in the Eastern league, and of the three Scranton has made the best record and has a reasonable chance of heating Buffalo, out and leading of beating Buffalo out and landing fifth among eight chubs. This result is really better than might have been expected when is considered the fact that Scranton players were not signed until two or three months before the season opened, while the other clubs secured players at the end of last season.

Soon after the scheduled games began Soon after the scineduled games began the club was handicapped by the dis-covery that Whitehead, Houle Sweeney and Patchen would not do, and later Brady. Radford, and Quaries had to be given their releases. There would have been no such disappointments if a team to represent this city had been reserved. to represent this city had been reserved last year, but it is to Manager Bar-nie's credit that the club has done so well. His financial ability has kept the profit and loss account very evenly balanced, which is an added reason that influences the association to re-

Considering all the discouraging cir-cumtances Manager Barnie has had to contend against, he has done all that could have been expected of him, and it is a safe prediction that if he is con-tinued at the head of the club, Scranton will give its competitors a lively hustle for the pennant in 1896.

The Scranton club's weekly record of cames lost and won and gain and loss in percentage since Saturday, Aug. 17, shows that they have lost twice as many games as they have won, and that the net loss is .015 per cent. The figures are as follows:

DIAMOND DUST.

The Brooklyns would have been in first place by this time with a clear margin had they found nothing harder to best than the New Yorks. They won nine of the twelve games played with them.

Joe Quinn the St. Louis second baseman, is an undertaker by trade and has an establishment in St. Louis. While on the road he devotes most of his time to studying embalming, and he recently passed a very creditable examination for a license at home.

Baltimore players say that rather than play New York for the Temple cup they will make an exhibition tour through Virginia, Mest Virginia and North Carolina on a co-operative basis, for they feel that they would be more benefited financially by this plan than by playing second division New Yorkers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

The champions won two games yes-terday on their own grounds from their easy rivals, the Senators, and thereby forged ahead of the Cleve-lands, and are now in a fair way to continue their triumphal procession for the pennant. Philadelphia also won two games from Louisville, and by doing so take fourth position. Brooklyn is within one point of Cincinnati, and New York climbs several points on the base ball ladder.

A ripple of interest was awakened along the busiest section of Broadway Wednesday afternoon by the spectacle of a uniformed messenger mounted on a bright red tricycle wagon. Truck drivers cracked their whips above his head, but the agile messenger darfed with surprising speed and confidence through the labyrinth of cars and drays and wagons, outdistancing all other vehicles in short order. The surprise that his advent created will probably soon be a thing of the past, since the evident success of the novel vehicle will cause its introduction into many branches of trade.

Managers of New York tracks, aside from "Old Fleetwood.." are taking a gloomy view of the situation. C. J. Hamlin said on Monday: "The racing business is practically dead in this state, and it is a pity, for it affects a class that knows no other business. Even the poor 'swipes' are in a pittable condition, and there is isn't a day but they are begging for something to do in order to keep them alive. I am afraid all the big tracks will be closed next year."

Althoug the list of probable starters for the Futurity furnished by the Coney Island Jockey club reaches a total of more than thirty, it is altogether likely that not more than fifteen candidates will go to the post on Saturday next. A number of owners have been feeding themselves upon the idea, that they have Futurity material in their stables, but when it comes to the day of the race there will be an awakening, and a smaler field than usual will assemble for the signal which will make somebody $67,000 the richer.

A BRAAE LITTLE BOY.

From the New York Tribune. Here is a tragic as well as pathetic picture showing something of the hard, barren lives of the children of the poor, not only in New York, but in other great cities:

great cities:

Henry Bauer, 8 years old, living in Front street, was found dead in bed on Wednesday night by his father, who came home from work at 8 o'clock.

The lad's death was pathetic. His mother died four months ago and the father was not willing to send his children to any institution. Henry and his two sisters both younger than himself. two sisters, both younger than himself,

"I guess I'm going to be sick, Mrs.
Weigand," said he, "and mamma isn't here to take care of me. Who'll care of—of them?" he asked, his eyes filling with tears and his face growing paler.
Mrs. Weigand told him to lie down and rest and his little sisters would be taken care of all right. taken care of all right.

"When you wake up your headache will be gone," said she, good humoredly.

He crawled into bed with his clothes on and went to sleep, and when he woke up it was with his "mother." When his father called his name at 8 o'clock there was no response.

"Henry's asleep, papa," said the youngest child.
The father lighted the gas and went to the bedside of the motionless boy. One look at the pale face showed him that little Henry's complainings had been well founded. Death is supposed o have been due to some brain trouble

"There was only one thing that marred the peacefulness of the occasion," continued the young man, "that old snipe trick, you know."

"Caught you, did they?" said the exhoosier, who was witting on the edge of the porch. "That was a great joke when I was young—used to catch every tenderfoot that came that way."

"So we did," chimed in the fat man. "How funny it was to leave the unsuspecting galoot in the middle of the woods with a bag and candle, waiting for us to drive the birds up to him—and then go home."

"So they caught you, did they?" and they both laughed again.

"It really was no laughing matter, I assure you. It was this way: I was approached by several of my friends up there and consented to accompany them on a snipe hunt. As the guest of honor, I was delegated to hold the sack."

"Ha, ha," nickered the fat man.
