September Magazines ED BISHOP IS HEARD FROM

He Wrote a Venal and Intimidating Letter to Alderman Millar.

CONSTABLES ARE AFTER HIM

Wanted the Alderman to Discontinue th Suits, and if Ho Didn't, Warned Him to Look Out for Squalls-Bishop Was Not on Hand for Reply.

Bishop, who was given a leave of ab sence of a half hour by Alderman Mil-iar to go out and hunt up a lawyer and did not return when the time was up. did not return when the time was up, or that day, or the next, or even yet, has been heard from. The alderman received a letter from his runaway recognizance yesterday, but the missive did not contain the flert inkling as to where Bishop has sequestrated himself since his escapade last Thursday. The letter was one of intimidation, and before Alderman Millar gets through with Bishop the latter will likely rue the day that he penned the lines. The contents of the letter would not be given out for publication and lines. The contents of the letter would not be given out for publication and all that the alderman would say about it was that Bishop asked him to discon-tinue the suit and in return he would cease writing to the Sunday News "roasting" the alderman. The intimi-dating wort of it came about in another dating part of it came about in another chapter, where Bishop threatened to do all manner of desperate things if the suit should not be immediately dis-suit should not be immediately dis-continued.

Bishop wanted the alderman to re-ply by messenger and send the letter to an appointed place. Clerk Thomas J. Jordan was sent instead and was on the lookout for Bishop, but Bishop was not to be had. The fuglitive promised if the alderman refused to consider the deal that he would come forward at 8 o'clock last evening and deliver his body up to the commonwealth. He did not keep his promise.

of keep his promise. They Are After Him. The constables are keeping a steady watch out for cadaverous Mr. Bishop. Bishop is under bail to await the action of the grand jury in a case where Alice Sarr, alias Bryant, is the prosecutrix, the charge being maintaining a bawdy house. Another warrant on the same charge, one sworn out by a damsel named Annie Anthony, caused him to be arrested last Thursday and him to be arrested last Thursday and brought before Alderman Millar.] Bishop asked the permission of the court to go out for fifteen minutes to find a lawyer to defend him, and Al-derman Millar made it a half hour. The letter yesterday at noon was the first of anything concerning Bishop that came to the alderman. The intimidation is a very serious matter and it will weigh heavily against the defend-against the defendant unless he shakes the dust of the town from his fect and evades the process of the law.

Besides the intimidation, wherein Bishop threatens to make it hot for some one the alderman is interested in unless the suit is discontinued the let. unless the suit is discontinued, the let-ter is a bribe, for it proposes to cease the attacks in the Sunday News. As to the threat that some person will catch it if the suits are kept up and that the some one meant is a friend of the alderman, the latter said that he did not worry. An exposure is welcomed by Alderman Millar if it is in the power of Bishop to bring it about.

He will not much longer escape the officers. His hiding places have to be changed very frequently and he will soon run to the end of his tether.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The employes of the Central Railroad of New Jersey challenge the em-ployes of the Delaware and Hudson or the Delaware, Lackawanna and West-ern to a game of ball at any date that may be decided upon. W. Sweet, manager. The railroad fever is breaking out again from Binghamton to Williamsport. It is thought that the road will eventually be built.

The inventory of the Erie's stock is being taken. Everything is being in-cluded from a pick to an iron jack. The railroaders' school was opened at Coxton yard on Thursday. The Lehigh Valley company is holding these schools all along the line to prepare the employes for examinations soon to be made in the rules and regulations of the road. Sessions are held morning and afternoon. Some highly interesting and instructive discussions as to rules take place among the men.

A party of Delaware and Hudson Railroad officials, including President Olyphant, C. R. Manville, Division passenger agent, and several other notables, were in this city yesterday afternoon. They arrived in a special car, and came on a tour of inspection of the road and property of the com pany in general.

Apropos of Saturday's article in this column concerning the fast run of the English train and the famous world's record run on the New York Central, English train and the famous world's record run on the New York Central, the following chapter on fast trains may be of timely interest: "The celebrated 'Flying Scotchman' had the honor of being regarded as the fastest train in Great Britain for a long time. Its schedule time from London to Edinburgh, four hundred miles, deducting regular stops, is eight and one-half hours, equal to a speed of 51.6 per hour. For many years the 'Flying Dutchman' was regarded as the fastest train in the world. The fastest regular train in the world for a like distance is claimed by the New York Central and Hudson railroad, whose Empire State express makes the trip from New York to Buffalo, a distance of four hundred and forty miles, at an average running speed of 52.12 miles per hour, the highest rate scheduled being 56% miles an hour over a stretch of eighty miles. If the speed of the fast English train can be regularly maintained this wonderful 'flyer' will have to take a back seat. The Royal Blue Line train, between New York and Washington covers the distance of two hundred and twenty-six miles in five hours, including stops. The Congressional Limited Express of the Pennsylvania, is scheduled to run' between the same points in five hours and five minutes, with about three miles additional track to cover. The long distance record of the world was established as long ago as 1876, when a special Pennsylvania railroad train, carrying Jarrett and Palmer's theatrical company, was run from New York established as long ago as 1876, when a special Pennsylvania railroad train, carrying Jarrett and Palmer's theatrical company, was run from New York to San Francisco, a distance of 3,313½ miles, in eighty-four hours and seventein minutes, or a trifle over three days and a half. This was at an average rate of forty miles per hour, including seventy-two stops and seven changes of engine. The train was moved from New York to Pittsburg, by the same engine without a single stop, covering four hundred and thirty-eight and a half miles in ten hours and five minutes, a rate of forty-three and a half miles an hour. The maximum speed on this trip, strangely enough was made on the Union Pacific railroad, where the Irain attained a velocity equal to seventy-two miles per hour. On Aug. 27 last, a special carrying members of the Knights of Pythias, made the run from Jackson-ville to Washington, a distance of seven hundred and seventy miles, in fifteen hours and forty-nine minutes, an average speed for the entire distance of fifty-five and a half miles an hour. The record of exceptional or test runs made by trains under extraordinary circumstances is very interesting. The present world's record was established on Aug. 27, 1891, by a train on the New York division of the Reading railroad.

which ran one mile between Neshaminy Falls and Langhorne in thirtynine four-fifth seconds, or at the rate of ninety and one-half miles an hour.
The twelve miles were covered at an average speed per mile of forty-three and two-fifth seconds. The train consisted of engine 206 and two ordinary coaches and President McLeod's private car, 'Reading,' which is equal to two choaches in weight. Among the passengers were Mr. McLeod, William M. Singerly and other well-known Philadelphians, and was the result of a wager between Mr. McLeod and Mr.
Singerly that it would be impossible to lower the previous record, which was at the rate of eighty-eight and twofifth miles an hour. This was the fastest mile ever run in the world of which any authentic record has been made.
The run made to Atlantic City on April 21, last by a special newspaper train over the Camden and Atlantic road is regarded as a record breaker.
The average speed was seventy-six and one-half miles per hour for 58,3 miles. There is no record of any trip above seventy miles an hour for more than twenty-two miles. On the Reading's Atlantic City line a speed of a mile a minute is not deemed notably rapidly, and a mile in less than fifty seconds is no uncommon achievement.
There is one drawback with extraordinarily rapid trains, and that is they cannot be brought to a sudden stop.

SOUTH SIDE. Evangelist Schieverea conducted another earnest meeting last evening at the tent on Cedar avenue at the corner of Brook street, and the attendance was the largest of any evening since the beginning of the evangelistic campaign. He addressed the people on the great love God bears toward all mankind, and the readiness of the Savior to extend the hand of grace to all who but desire it. The reverend savior to extend the hand of grace to all who but desire it. The reverend speaker has succeeded in bringing many people to church who had no in-terest heretofore in religion, and that is the object he is laboring for. When he shall leave the South Side it is safe to conclude that an imprint of good will be left. The meeting this eve-ning will be held as usual, beginning at 7.20.

an Uncle Had Died and Left 50,000 Pounds Storling-McNamure and Two Sisters the Only Heirs.

Three weeks ago a letter came from Ireland to Joseph McNamara, of 918 Scranton street, this city, acquainting him of the fact that a bachelor uncle of his had died and left an estate which is estimated to be worth in the neighborhood of a new agonds steeling.

hood of 50,000 pounds sterling.

The news was received with exultation by Mr. McNamara and his wife, and by the next mail they had letters scurrying across the Atlantic ocean calling for a verification of the fortunate intelligence. They arrests calling for a verMeation of the fortunate intelligence. They expect an answer daily and meanwhile are considerably anxious and restless; for if it should prove to be true that they will come in for a part of the estate, fate has played a kind act in their favor.

The prospective legatee rents a house on Scranton street and is employed loading coal in the Oxford shaft. He has been married several years and has has been married several years and has a large family of small children. He is industrious, and the intimation that he has a prospective fortune in store has not caused him to lie idle and quit work. The contents of the letter was a sur-prise to him and his wife; they did not let the neighbors and friends know of it, for fear that after all it might turn out to be a hear.

out to be a hoax. The Uncle Was a Rover. It is stated that the decedent had no settled place of abode in Ireland and had been a seafaring man, too. He made his fortune in distant lands and purchased large estates in Ireland. Be-sides the real estate and property, he is said to have been possessed of a fine and valuable collection of diamonds, secured in the diamond fields of Africa. He never married, and at the time of his death was not more than 50 years of age. Mr. Mc-Namara is from the north of Ireland and expects that the estate is principally in the vicinity of the large manufacturing city of Belfast. He left home when he was a young man and went on sea. He traveled to Aslatic ports and Australia, and after spending several years as a sailor he came to this country and settled in Scranton. On account of his own roving habit he was not well informed as to his relatives in Ireland or their whereabouts, and had not the least idea that he had a rich uncle before the letter came which brought the news to him.
