tend these games is very discouraging. The games are all good and have a vim and dash which is not found in professional ball. The people should encour-age this attempt to revive interest in amateur ball.

OVER THE FALLS.

A Boy's Narrow Escape from Death at

Rocket Brook. Sunday afternoon a lad named Griffiths had a narrow escape from instant death. Griffiths, with several com-panions, was playing near the head of parisons, was playing near the lead of the Rocket Brook falls, in the rear of the Delaware and Hudson shops. The lads were having a good time without a thought of danger. Griffiths was bai-ancing himself on a board at the top of the falls. Suddenly the board, being loosened by the current, went over the falls, carrying the unlucky boy with it. The falls at this place is but about fif-teen feet high, else our story would have had a different ending. He landed in the shallow water at the foot, where he lay completely stunned.
Fortunately W. W. Dimock happened to pass at this moment, and seeing the accident hurried to the boy's assisted ance. He carried him to the bank, where he soon regained consciousness.

M'QUADE RESIGNS.

Had Trouble with "Marty" Swift of the Mad Trouble with "Marry" Swift of the Local Stuggers.

McQuade, the popular left fielder of the Carbondale Base Ball club, has resigned. At least this is what Dame Rumor says, and there is probably some truth in the report. When called upon by Captain Westlake he was told that McQuade was sick and unable to see him. Thus the team left for Hazlehim. Thus the team left for Hazleton yesterday minus one of their best

It is said that the trouble arose at the game Saturday. McQuade was told to bunt the ball, but instead knocked out Sunset at Crystal Lake for the past a two-bagger. Swift, who aims to keep discipline in his ranks, fined him $10 after the game. Swift was perfectly justified in this, but McQuade couldn't see it and so did not leave with the club. The team will be greatly weakened by his leaving and it is to be hoped that the matter will soon be settled.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

A Horse Tears Down Salem Avenue-A Plucky Driver.

Sunday afternoon William Bell and W. Hedden figured in a runaway which they will not soon forget. The horse they were driving was one of Chris Moulter's grays and had never been hitched up single. However, Mr. Bell thought he would make an experiment in that direction, and, needless to say, he will not repeat the performance. At the head of Salem avenue the orse shied and plunged into Louis Slebold's fence. Both young men jumped out without injury. Bell hung on to the reins. Suddenly the horse made another dash and went flying

ANOTHER ATTEMPT.

Simpson & Watkins' Store Entered by Midnight Maranders.

Sunday night burglars tried to gain entrance into Simpson & Watkins' store at Simpson, but for the second time were frustrated in their attempt.

From the manner in which the persons went about the work they are not amateurs, and people should be careful to see that their homes are locked up safely before retiring.
