Harmonious Action Determined Upon by the Leaders Last Night.

CONFERENCE WAS PEACEFUL

Senator Quay Gives Assurance That He Will Not Oppose Governor Hastings' Superior Court Appointees for Nomination-There Will Be but One

Conven-

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Harrisburg, Aug. 28, 2.30 a. m.-The state committee, which is favorable to Quay met at 11 o'clock last night and appointed a sub-committee of nine request a conference with administration leaders regardhouse by both factions tomorrow, and thus have but one convention. Chris Magee, of Pittsburg; David Martin, of Philadelphia, Governor Hastings and meet the committee, and a secret conference began between the factionalists at the Commonwealth hotel at midnight. The conference ended shortly before o'clock this (Wednesday) morning. It was announced that the conferee had reached an agreement and that there would be but one convention. The Opera house will be cleared of everybody except the delegates and newspaper men, and the convention will decide by a vote the contests of the delegates. The present six Republican judges of the superior court will be re-nominated. They are as follows: James A. Beaver, of Center county; Howard J. Reeder, Northampton; John J. Wickham, Beaver; George B. Orlady, Huntingdon; Charles E. Rice, Luzerne; E. N. Willard, Lackawanna. The seventh member of the judiciary is Henry J. McCarty, of Philadelphia (Democrat), the act creating the judiciary providing that there shall be minority representation.

Senator Quay, it was stated late tonight, is willing to have the six Republican superior court judges who were appointed by the governor on June 27, renominated tomorrow. This is the administration programme, and the senator will make the concession, it is said, in the interest of harmony.

STORY OF THE BATTLE.

Graphic Description of the Details of the Interesting Contest.

Harrisburg, Aug. 27.-The largest erowd in the history of Pennsylvania conventions marked the day before what promises to be the most exciting gathering of Republicans in the annals of the commonwealth. At 9 o'clock tonight the crowd was estimated at 16,000, and every train was bringing newcomers by the scores. Fireworks, music and cheering continued until long after midnight, forming a combination of noises almost sufficient to burst an inexperienced tympanum.

The trip of the Lackawanna contingent downward was unmarked by special incident. The Hasting admirers numbered about fifty, while the Quay brigade comprised only a score. At the station the pilgrims from the metropolis of the coal fields were greeted by Major Warren, Reese G. Brooks and Fred W. Fieltz. The Hastings supporters, under the pilotage of Colonel E. H. Ripple immediately repaired to the Hastings headquarters at the Commonwealth, where they paid their respects to the governor. The Lackawanna delegates have secured rooms at the Commonwealth and the remainder of the contingent are quartered at the United States hotel

The Convention Hall Guarded.

The theft by the Quay leaders of the state committee headquarters at the Lochiel has occasioned much bitterness. In anticipation of a similar attempt tomorrow morning to steal the Opera house, where the convention is to be held, the Gilkeson people have placed a strong guard around and in the building. The chief of the Pittsburg police force, Stephen O'Mara, and his chief of desectives, together with a trusty force of assistants, including number of policemen from Philadelphia, are now in charge of the building, and will remain there until the convention opens. Every precaution has been taken to protect Chairman Glike-son in his lawful and customary rights and if any disturbance is precipitated tomorrow by the Quay men it will be fectively met. The situation prior to the caucuses tonight was one of intense bitterness. and there was a great deal of quiet talk among the conservative element in favor of the compromise. It was pointed out by friends of the various judicial candidates as well as by friends of Cashier Haywood, the prospective can-didate for state treasurer, that a special convention would be equivalent to an outright defeat of the ticket at the November election and the argument was used with visible effect. Judge Willard Safe It can be said upon the best of authority that the governor's six judicial appointments will be nominated without opposition, no matter which side controls the convention. Judge Willard is absolutely safe. There are only fifty-six judicial expectants on the ground with lightning rods up, and for Quay to take up any of these would be to create animosities by the score.

Both the Quay and Hastings forces held caucuses this evening and adopt-ed similar policies. After the appoint-ment of committees of five to report ment of committees of five to report to the main caucus tomorrow morning a programme of action for the conven-tion, including the naming of candi-dates for temporary and permanent chairman, the preparation of an order of business and the adjustment of de-tails as to the admission and seating of visitors, each caucus adjourned to meet tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

It is the intention of these committees to get together and agree, if possible, upon a course of action, which will avert the threatened splitting into two conventions. It is now confidently ex-pected that as a result of this confernce it will be decided to admit to the Opera house only the delegates, the press representatives and an equal, but limited number of the unofficial supporters of the two factions. In this event the convention will be called to order by Chairman Gilkeson, and the test of strength will occur without interruption on the motion to elect i temporary chairman of the state con-The Hastings Caucus. The Hastings caucus was held in the upreme court rooms and organized by the election of Dr. Byrne, of the Twenty-third Philadelphia district, chairman, and Harry G. Walton and Joseph F. Brown, of Philadelphia, sec-Upon motion of Governor Hastings, whose appearance was the signal of prolonged cheering, the chair was authorized to appoint a committee of five, as indicated above. He named District Attorney George S. Graham, of Philadelphia; Congress-man Robert M. Yardley, of Chester; Senator William Flynn, of Allegheny; Speaker Harry F. Walton, of Philadel phia, and Emerson Collins, of Williamsport. The attendance at the cauus was phenomenally large, nearly 170 delegates being present. The greatest nthuslasm prevailed, and it was clearly apparent that Hastings and tests of 159. Surprises of the Day. There have been several surprises during the day. But a fair review of them will indicate that they practically balance. The Hastings men lose two out of the three Bradford delegates and also one in Philadelphia from the Twentieth ward. It is also rumored that they have lost two votes from Northampton. Upon the other hand Quay oses three in Berks, one in Carbon, on in Luzerne, whose delegates are now claimed as solid for Hastings and Gilkeson, and, it is reported, one from Delaware, Jack Robinson's home, Strong pressure was brought to bear during the day on Delegate Ford, of Wayne, to leave the Quay column, and he so far vielded as to declare that he would not go with the senator into a rump convention. But if the Quay people decide to fight fair he will remain steadfast.

Considerable amusement was occasioned by the conduct of one of the Luzerene delegates who was reached by Senator Quay during last evening and offered a bed in the senator's private apartment, but who afterward decided that a safer place of repose would be in his own room at the Bolton.

The administration leaders at midnight expressed undaunted confidence in their ability to organize the conventhough their opponents were allowed their contested seats. L. S. R.

QUAY MEN DESPERATE.

From Present Indications Two Conven

tions Are Assured. At the Quay caucus tonight it is said that 153 delegates responded in person to a roll call, and voted to instruct tion of the Republican party at a suitable place. This "suitable place" is understood to mean the Chestnut Street Market house. It is pertinently asked by the Glikeson managers, why, if Quay has 153 bona fide, "sure thing," delegates, he is afraid to enter the Opera house, which has been designated by Chairman Gilkeson as the place for meeting? The Quay people excuse their threatened bolt by the assertion that the opera house is in the possession of armed thurs. The facts are that it is policed by officers borrowed for the occasion from Philadelphia and Allegheny. The city of Har-risburg having only thirteen policemen on its force. There is absolutely no evidence to sustain the claims of the Quay bolters that these borrowed officers contemplate unfair action. Chairman Gilkeson explicitly declares that they are there for no other purpose than to preserve order; and that if the Quay delegates shall come in they will be treated with strict fairness and equity. The Quay assumption, to the ontrary, is pure surmise, and, according to the Hastings managers, is used for no other purpose than to screen the later manipulations of the Quay work-It is pointed out as a significant fact that at the Quay caucus there was no showing of credentials. Neither was there such a system of polling as would prevent any man from answering to the name of any delegate. That many of the responses of the alleged 153 "sure thing" delegates were bogus is the general belief, else why should the Quay men fear to beard the Gilkeson lion in his den. The Quay section of the state committee at midnight appointed a committee to secure a hall. This assures the holding of two conventions unless the Quay men shall at the last moment abandon their bluff. At midnight Chairman Gilkeson declared his absolute certainty of 161 delegates.

inity Bodecked Horses, Brilliant Masoul Uniforms and Waving Plumes Are Soon at Every Hand-Thousands Witness the Spectacle.

Boston, Aug. 27.—Today witnessed a very prominent event in the great Knights Templar conclave in this city the monster parade. The lines of the parade were formed in thirteen divisions in a column of double sections. There was the usual delay consequent to the formation of great processions, but all was in readiness shortly after 10 o'clock, and at 10.55 the long line was in motion, the signal for the start being greeted by the cheers and salute of 10,000 people gathered near the start. As the great body of knights moved down Commonwealth avenue the spectacle was an inspiring one. The music of 100 bands and the applause of thou-sands of people filled the air. Gally be-decked horses pranced at the head of each division, while the contrast of the dignified black cloth uniforms, the waying of rich plumes and the silver and gold emblems, which are conspicuous in the Templar uniform, combined to present a scene that was pleasing and

Although it had been expected that the proceedings, following the parade, which formally opened the twenty-sixth tri-emial conclave of the grand encampment would be inaugurated by 3 o'clock this afternoon, it was 6 o'clock before Most Eminent Sir Hugh Mc-Curdy stepped down from his four-in-hand in front of the masonic temple. The conclave was opened in due form, and after the routine business and impressive devotional services conducted by the grand prelate. Sir and Rev. J. M. Washington, Aug. 27.—The White House mail this morning bore the commission of Matt W. Ransom to be United States minister to Mexico. The commission was dated Aug. 24.

This ends a legal complication by which Minister Ransom, after several months' service at his post at the City of Mexico, was declared ineligible to fill the office to which he had been appointed prior to the expiration of his term as United States senator. It was held by the treasury accounting officers that he fell within constitutional inhibition against the appointment of inhibition against the appointment of congressmen to offices created or whose emoluments had been increased dur-

It has been generally understood that Mr. Ransom would be promptly reappointed, and the slight delay which occurred presumably has been for the purpose of definitely ascertaining that there were no more legal or other obstacles in the way of renaming him for the Mexican mission.
