OFF FOR HARRISBURG.

The Rice Boomers Have a Big Turnon with Badges and Music.

The Rice delegation to the Harris-burg convention went to the capital on a special train at 8.45 o'clock yesterday morning. The league rooms were opened at an early hour, and before going to the train the Republicans going to the train the Republicans went there and all were given neat white caps and badges. The caps were of white duck, yachting design, with the name "Rice" printed across the top, and the badges were white with an excellent portrait of Judge Rice printed thereon, and the words "For Judge of the Superior Court, Hon. Charles E. Rice, of Wilkes-Barre, Harrisburg, 1895."

DULLARD WILL REFEREE.

He Consents to Act at the Big Alley Ball Game in Seranton.

Yesterday morning County Commis-sioner Thomas Dullard received a let-ter from John Rickaby, of Old Forge, champion alley ball player of the state. asking him to serve as referee in the big alley ball game on Thursday at Scranton, between Rickaby and Dove on one side, and Champion James J. Corbett and his brother, Joe, on the other.

The Scranton men are the best open alley ball players in the state, and Corbett and his brother have defeated the best teams in New York city, so that a good game is looked for. The game was arranged during Corbett's recent visit to Scranton, and will be played for $1,000. Both sides are confident of winning, and the game is to fident of winning, and the game is to be played on Thurnday at 2 o'clock at the Scranton Driving park. Mr. Dul-lard is one of the best alley ball play-ers in the state, and his reputation for fine and impartial refereeing is well known. Both parties accepted him without hesitating, and on receipt of Rickaby's lefter, Mr. Dullard at once wrote the following reply:

wrote the following reply:

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 27, 1895.

Mr. John Rickaby:

Dear S'r-Yours of the 25th received.

Will accept the position of referee in the contest of alley ball tetween yourself and Dove on the one side and James J. and Joseph Corbett on the other, on Thursday, Aug. 29, at the Driving jark, Scranton. I will returne the contest in a fair and impartial manner. Yours very respectfully.

The flower bearers were George Peiper and P. B. Reynolds.

Accidents Yesterday. The little son of Mrs. Moyler, a widow residing near the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western station at Kingston, was run over by a heavy umber wagon last evening. The wagon passed over the little fellow's chest, and injured him so badly internally that he is not expected to live. Robert Carruthers, of Edwardsville, was hurt very seriously by a fall of rock yester-day in the Haddock mine at Luzerne borough. One of his legs was broken and the other one crushed so badly that when he was taken to the hospital yesterday amputation was found to be necessary. He is very weak from the operation and may die.

Filling the Cave-in.

The railroad track is now com-pleted from the Haddock breaker to the recent cave-in on Hennett street, in Luzerne borough, and work has begun at filling up the cave with culm from the breaker. The operation will take about a month.

THE USE OF ALUMINUM.

The New Mineral Is Now Mined and Utilized in Vest Quantities.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

During last year 550,000 pounds of aluminum was mined in the United States. The metallic millennium ought to be at hand. That number of pounds represents an enormous bulk of metal. It is common. Every clay bed has it. Every brick house contains a lot. It abounds in corundum. The new mineral havitte is the lit. abounds in corundum. The new min-eral, bauxite, is rich in it. The expense of its extraction, that threatened to keep it out of the market altogether, has become relatively slight. So, why not ships and tools and houses and guns and bicycles and all sorts of other things instead of burdensome and rusty iron?

rusty iron?
To be sure, aluminum—and please not To be sure, aluminum—and please not to burden the language with a needless letter by calling it aluminium—has not lived entirely up to the expectations that were aroused about it; it dents and bends and is not as ductile as they said it was going to be; but it is bright and clean and light, and perhaps with some steadying alloy of other metals it will find its way into a thousand forms for human service.

MONEY IN GARBAGE.

From the Syracuse Post.

It seems fairly well demonstrated that the only sanitary scientific means of disposing of garbage is by the use of heat. There are many different plans of accomplishing the object, but the reduction of garbage to the form of ashes is at the bottom of them all. As in some other things, England is ahead of us in this matter. Experiments are now being made and are to be made on a still larger scale for the burning of the refuse of London in such a way that the heat given off by combustion may be transformed into electric energy, and thus made a wealth producer. London produces, so statistics say, 1,500,000 tons of refuse per annum. Various expedients have been tested for the disposition of this immense amount of wards. It has been carted to sea for a good many years, but this involved great expense and crematories became more and more largely adopted both in London and in other English cities, until now the cremation system is in common use.

A French engineer succeeded not long ago in contriving a furnace with a powerful natural draft by the aid of which refuse and rubbish is consumed without smoke or smell. One of these furnaces is now in operation at Halfax in Yorkshire, and is said to produce enough heat by the burning of the gorbage to operate several 2,000-candle power are lights and a search light of 25,000-candle power. From experiments made with these furnaces, results have been secured to prove that in each ton of garbage there is an equivalent of from one-third to one-difth of a ton of coal. These results are encouraging in the extreme, for they show that the time is coming when cities will not only be relieved from the necessity of paying to have their garbage removed, but that before long garbage will be an actual source of revenue.
