He Addresses Members of His Caucus in Cheerful Mauner.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 27,—"I have won this fight, for without the contestants I have more than a majority of delegates to the state convention tomorrow." Thus spoke Senator Quay at Il o'clock tonight after a caucus of the Quay delegates had been held in the board of trade rooms, The roll call at the caucus showed 158 Quay delegates present, six of whom are contestants, five from Philadelphia and one from Wyoming county. As there are 289 delegates in the convention, 145 necessarily being a majority, it is evident that the senator's claim is well founded, and that the most bitter fight that has ever been waged in the ranks of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, with Senator Quay on one side and Governor Hastings and State Chairman Gilkeson on the other, is at an end. A caucus of the administration delegates was also held tonight in the Superior court chamber, but it was very brief, and no estimate of the strength of the anti-Quay mate of the strength of the anti-Quay faction as there developed was given out.

The Republican state convention, which, besides electing a state chairman by direct vote of the delegates, will also choose a state treasurer and six superior court judgship candidates, will meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The administration forces are now in possession of the opera house, the regular meeting place, and whether the state committee, a majority of whose regular menting place, and whether the state committee, a majority of whose 121 members are favorable to Quay, will decide to hold the convention else-where had not been determined up to midnight. The Quay followers argue that as they have a majority of the delegates it matters not where in Har-rishurz the convention shall be held. risburg the convention shall be held.

Senator Quay's Speech. The friends of Quay packed the board of trade rooms at 9 o'clock to-night. Mr. Quay addressed the caucus as follows:

"I understand that a clear majority of delegates elected to the state convention are present. In that case the fight that has been convulsing the state of Pennsylvania for two months light that has been convulsing the state of Pennsylvania for two months is settled. It was a fair fight, and in the interest of pure government. It was a gallant fight against heavy odds, but the next time you will win by an overwhelming majority, as the people are with you."

The roll of delegates was then called and 15s answered to their names, of this number four being from Allegheny and twenty-one from Philadelphia. Telegrams were also received from two other Philadelphia delegates, Messrs, Schullz and Fulton, announcing their support. There were in addition two Northumberland delegates present, but they did not respond to their names for reasons which it was stated are obvious. The latter have heretofore been classed as Hastings delegates.

A committee of five, consisting of Judge Miller, of Mercer; Senator Andrews, of Crawford; Alexander Crow, of Philadelphia; Lieutenant Governor Walter Lyon, of Pittsburg, and ex-State Chairman Thomas V. Cooper, of Delaware, were appointed by the chairman to elect temporary and permanent officers of the convention and to arrange an order of business. The caucus then adjourned. The entire Delaware county delegation was in attendance and this disproved a current report that one of the number had gone over to the ad-newspaper men. In five minutes the doors were opened and the business divulged. Dr. Bruce, of Philadelphia, was made chairman of the caucus on motion of David Lane, of that city, and the chair appointed Har-ry F. Walton, of Philadelphia, speaker of the late house of repsentatives, and Joseph Brown, also of Philadelphia, as secretaries. Governor Hastings pre-sented a resolution which was adopted empowering the chairman to appoint a committee of five for the purpose of a committee of the following temporary and permanent officers of the convention.

The committee, which comprises District Attorney G. S. Graham, of Philadelphia: R. M. Yardley, of Rucks; Willdeipnia; R. M. Yardiey, of Bucks; Wal-iam Flinn, of Plitsburg; Speaker Wal-ton and Emerson Collins, of Lycoming, will report to the caucus when it shall again meet in the supreme court cham-ber at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Mr. Graham made a brief speech of encouragement to the assemblage and moved that an adjournment be taken until tomorrow morning. The caucus then adjourned.

Every member of the Scranton delega-tion feels grateful to their hosts, the So-ciety of the Central Presbyterian church, who aided them very effectively in their efforts for "Scranton '96."

Scranton's delegation secured its share of honor as far as appointments are concerned. Besides having Mr. Daniels on the nominating committee, Rev. W. H. Stubblebine and J. T. Ball were elected

Sunday evening, at the close of the grand consecration service, Scranton invited the state officers, committee of 18%, and the Central society friends to Join in a prayer and praise service on the plazza of Miss Sherwood's beautiful home. A lively song service was interspersed with prayer, Scripture selections and remarks of encouragement by Dr. McCray and Erie's convention chairman, H. J. Raymore.

The Scranton delegation was used daily by the evangelical committee, in conducting the early morning and noon prayer meetings. J. T. Ball, the Wayne county fellow worker, had charge of Friday morning's meeting and the noon meeting of that day at the works of the Ball Engine company. He also conducted the meeting for men on Sunday afternoon in the Young Men's Christian association building. C. E. While on a tour of visits Friday evening an incident of great interest was enacted. The Scranton party has just concluded its song at one of the churches when the Allentown section, who were on a similar tour, marched in singing their song. This discord was awful for a moment, then the leaders of the two factions loined hands and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," amid the hearty applause and cheers of the audience in attendance, after which Mr. Walter led in a fervent prayer. The scene was one that will never be forgotten by those present.

Friday night was the great rallying time of both forces. At the close of the convention's evening session each church gave their visitors a reception in their parties. The grate officers were Mayor Connell Signs Many Resolutions of More or Less Importance.

Mayor Connell yesterday set his hand and seal to the following resolutions:
Directing the city engineer to prepare plans for a sewer in the alley extending from Marlon to New York streets between Washington and Wyoming avenues; instructing the city clerk not to draw a warrant for the hill of keeping the food improved by the control of the control of the city clerk not to draw a warrant for the hill of keeping the food improved on the control of the control of the city clerk not to draw a warrant for the vould stand in a row and sing the convention song and give the "unearthly yell" vention song and give the "unearthly yell" vention song and give the "unearthly yell" vention song and give the "unearthly yell" as the Erie Herald called it. Scranton's song was, perhaps, the greatest help in securing the convention. Professor Redman, the conductor of the convention chorus, upon hearing it for the first time, at the depot as the party arrived, said: "You have the song that will capture the convention." It proved to be a great favorite. On the other hand Allentown was very unfortunate in its selection. The tune to which it was sung, "Auld Lang Syne," was a hard one to start and did not find favor with the delegates. It lacked swing and dash. Friday evening it was given up and their "Allentown '95" song was substituted, but too late, for without rehearsing they could not keep up the spirit of the tune and it availed them nothing. Scranton's song was, perhaps, the great-

IN SUMMER Cooling drinks are necessary. They are the universal antidote for excessive warmth. Nothing is so popular with the fair sex in Scranton as our soda served in all the various flavors and with cream for only a nickel a glass. To have their attentions well received, young men should treat their aweethearts coolly, and by inviting them to enjoy our soda, which is really the coolest and most delightful summer drink in the city, wholesome, healthful and invigorating. Soda heads the list of summer beverages, and the foaming stream from our fountain heads the list of all sodas.
