About forty retail liquor dealers assembled in Music hall yesterday afternoon in response to a call issued by National Organizer P. H. Nolan, of New York, for the purpose of forming a branch of the association in this city. After about ten declinations were heard Thomas Cosgrove agreed to accept the office of temporary chairman, and Patrick Mangan took the secretary's desk. Mr. Nolan, who was present, then proceeded to enlighten his auditors as to the purposes of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association. Bolled down his speech was simply a recital of the possibilities of controlling elections and influencing legislation by supporting strongly backed tobbyists in the national and state capitols.

He instanced numerous cases wherein the attenual and speed was simply a forcents.

He instanced numerous cases wherein the attempted enactments of "cranks, the attempted enactments of "cranks, fanatics and hypocrites," as he was pleased to term them, had been defeated by the Liquor Dealers' association through their lobbyists. He argued that the liquor dealer was a standing mark for ambitious legislators, who took for granted that it was just and proper to inflict any and all kinds of hardships on the liquor business simply because it was the liquor business and hardships on the liquor business simply because it was the liquor business and because the liquor dealer had always borne it uncomplainingly. To illustrate some of the benefits which the retail liquor dealer has already derived from the work of the association, he mentioned the recent attempt to increase the tax on whiskey from 90 cents to $1.50 per gallon, and described how the lobbyists of the New York state liquor dealers secured a compromise on $1.10. He also adduced arguments to prove that the retailer and not the wholethat the retailer and not the whole-saler or customer bore the additional expense and derived the benefit of the 40-cent reduction which the association

Saved a Lot of Money.

By the same method of reasoning he showed that the retailer was saved $22,000,000 last year by the defeat of the measure to increase the tax on beer from $1 to $2 a barrel, and also showed how another great saving was had by the overthrow of the bill to increase the internal revenue tax from $25 to $50. By combining the influence of the Brewer's association, the Wholesale association and the Retailers' association sociation and the Retailers' association he argued that legislatures would be compelled to pay heed to the behests of th liquor man. As another striking instance of the effectual work of organized liquor interests he cited the present excise law of the state of New York, which he and four other liquor dealers drafted and succeeded in pushing throught the legislature. ing throught the legislature.

As a reason why immediate action should be taken Mr. Nolan announced that the state convention of the Liquor Dealers' association would be held in this city during the latter part of next

When he concluded he asked for expressions from those present on the destrability of organizing branch here. Patrick Golden said he favored an organization of this kind. No brewer or wholesaler likes to sell to speak-easies, he said, but as long as one did it the others would do it. Mr. Noian again took the floor and told how the state organization had, by request of the local association in Allentown, induced the browers and wholesalers to refuse to supply speak-easies and clubs in that city, and how their work had effectually wiped out the lilicit traffic in that city.

Badges as souvenirs of the occasion will again be presented the ladies, and it is expected the supply will be large enough to meet all demands. They will be distributed on the first excursion trains that will go out at $40 on the regatta day morning.

Each mail brings additional assurances of the interest of rowing clubs throughout the country and of entries for the races. There is no longer any doubt that the regatta will meet every expectation, and that the National association officers who will attend will find the people of Scranton fully enthusiastic over this sport.

Poor Board Wants Its Accounts and Records Kept by an Expert.

SNUG BERTH FOR SOMEBODY

An Accountant Will Hereafter Be Stationed at Hillside Home to Keep a Complete and Thorough Record of Financial and Other Affairs.

Pursuant to a call of President W. S. Langstaff, the poor board met last night to receive the report of the spe-cial committee appointed to devise a new system of accounts for Hilliside Home.

The committee, which consisted of Directors Thomas Shotten, T. J. Mur-phy and Secretary E. J. Lynett, presented their recommendations in a written communication, of which a copy is ap-pended:

pended:
Scranton, Pa., Aug. 27, 185.
To the Board of Directors of Scranton
Poor District:
Your committee appointed to devise a system of accounts at Hillside home, whereby the exact cost of the maintenance of indigent insane patients may be ascertained, respectfully report that we have held several sessions and have given due attention to the duty imposed upon us. That we have adopted books of record as follows:
A register of insane patients setting forth a history of each case.
A roll of patients designed to contain a record of the time spent by each patient ruled for a daily, monthly and quarterly report.

Book for Special Cases.

An attendant's report book for cases requiring special attention.

A time book in which the time of employes of the district shall be kept and distributed to the home or hospital as the case may be distributed to the home or hospital as the case may be.

We find the acvising of a system of accounts for properly distributing accounts of purchase, farm products, etc., to be somewhat difficult and believe that a system developed by practical work would be more apt to apply in all cases. Any plans that we may make now would be apt to show defects when submitted to practical test, and a set of books gotten up at considerable expense might be of little or no value.

The next fiscal quarter of the commonwealth commences on Sept. 1, and we consider it important that from that date the accounts should be kept that the cost of maintenance of the insane may be ascertainable.

we therefore recommend that the books of record devised by us as herein stated be adopted by the board and that a clerk be employed to commence work on Sept. 1 and keep accounts on loose sheets of paper until a proper system has been developed. The members of the board showed their appreciation of the committee's thorough and excellent scheme by unanimously adopting the following resolution:

Finance Committee Intrusted.

Resolved, That the finance committee is hereby authorized and instructed to employ a competent clerk, to be located at Hillside home, whose duty it shall be to keep such accounts as will show the actual cost of maintenance of insane inmates, render quarterly statements to the commonwealth, keep the records of the insane hospital and perform such other duties as may be required of him. He shall be in charge of the superintendent and his accounts and record shall always be open for inspection by directors; the inance committee shall from time to time examine and pass upon his work. His compensation shall be $50 per month and board.

The committee has not as yet announced their choice for the position created by the resolution. It will be a very desirable office and no doubt will not go begging. Finance Committee Intrusted.
