TWO WEDDINGS.

Happy Couples Are Joined at the St. Rose Church.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Bridget Judge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Judge, of 72 Powderly street, to Patrick Duffy, of the West Side. Both young people are well and favorably known and have a host of friends, who wish them much conjugal bliss.

The ceremony took place at St. Rose church, Rev. T. P. Coffey performing it. The bride was attired in a dress of cream henrietta cloth, trimmed with ribbons and point lace. She carried a beautiful bouquet of roses. Miss Annie Judge, a sister of the bride, and Thomas McAndrew attended the couple. The newly married pair will dispense with a wedding tour. A reception was given them at the bride's home on Powderly street, in which a large number of friends participated.

KILGILLOON.

At St. Rose church yesterday morning Miss Lizzie Killen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Killen, of Brooklynn street, was united in marriage to Hugh Gilgallon.

To the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Professor Stockman, the bridal procession marched up the aisle of the church. Both bride and maid, Mrs. Mary McCawley, of Jackson, Mich., wore traveling dresses of rosea green. James Bryden attended the groom.

The party were driven to the home of the bride's parents on Brooklynn street after the ceremony, where an informal reception was tendered the young couple. About fifty persons were present and offered their congratulations to the newly married pair. A wedding dinner was served the guests at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilgallon left yesterday afternoon on the Delaware and Hudson for a tour through the New England states.

TERRIBLY SCALDED.

George W. Hughes' Child Burned by Hot Preserves.

The little 7-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hughes suffered a painful accident recently, and will probably bear the mark for life.

Mrs. Hughes was canning fruit, and the little boy was playing in the same room. Mrs. Hughes had her back to the child and was suddenly startled by loud cries. Turning, she saw that the lad had split three cans of hot preserves which had been left on a chair over his face and breast. She rushed to his assistance and did all she could, while word was sent for medical aid. Dr. S. S. Shields responded and soon eased the pain from which the child was suffering. It was feared at first that the little one would lose the use of the eyes, but the doctor thinks that they will not be hurt. A high fever has developed, however, and the child is in a serious condition.

HONESDALE.

A terrible accident, with a narrow escape of loss of life, occurred here yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Martin Caullfield, proprietor of the Steam Gravel and Granite Works, was engaged in a large granite base, about 6x8x2, and weighing eight tons, on the Gravelly railroad to his works. The granite was being lowered by a heavy wagon used for such purposes, and was drawn by two teams, one owned by E. T. Bee's and the other by W. B. Holmes. Albert Berger was sitting on the granite block and driving the Bee team; William Banabel was walking and driving the Holmes team. As the wagon was passing over the bridge spanning the Delaware and Hudson feeder, near the upper Gravelly depot, Berger heard a snapping and cracking sound from the front axle of the wagon, and made a long leap for his life. The same instant the bridge gave way and the wagon went down with a terrific crash into the feeder, dragging with it the four frightened animals. They were wedged in between the stone and bridge abutment in a space not over four feet wide. The feeder was running about the bridge and one-half to four feet deep at the time. In a few moments willing hands were at work extricating the animals. The harness was cut and the horses of Bee's were soon on their feet. The mule owned by W. B. Holmes also got loose, but the horse could not move and was only taken out with difficulty. The horse was either injured internally very bad, or its back was broken and it seemed to be dying. The other three animals were only slightly bruised. The bridge is a small wooden affair and was strong enough for light drays. Before taking such a heavy load across it should have been examined, as the wooden girders upon which the planking was laid were partly decayed and not enough for such a heavy weight.

The twelfth annual reunion of the Sixth Pennsylvania reserves was held here yesterday and attended by nearly 100 of the survivors and their families. A number of the veterans arrived here Tuesday night, but the majority came in on the 9 a. m. train. They were met by the veterans here and the Honesdale band and escorted to headquarters. The parade was formed about 11 o'clock and traveled the principal streets. The procession was headed by Major J. H. Whitney on his white horse, followed by the police, Company E. veterans on foot and carriages containing veterans and ladies. Dinner was served in Odd Fellows' hall by the ladies' auxiliary without charge to the soldiers. A meeting was held in the opera house in the afternoon. Addresses were made by Homer Greene, Major George W. Morrill, of Wellsboro, and others. Music was furnished by the band. Honesdale put on a holiday appearance and gave the vets a royal welcome.

J. Kirk Rose is home from his trip to the Adirondacks.

Burglars made an attempt to enter the home of W. W. Weston early Tuesday morning, but were frightened away.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Taylor is to have a new depot to replace the present dilapidated Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot. The Railroad Young Men's Christian association team defeated the club from the car accountants' office yesterday by a score of 23 to 14.

One of the Pennsylvania big Mogul engines recently hauled out of the yards at Williamsport in one train 125 loaded cars, the train being nearly one mile in length.

A number of Delaware, Lackawanna and Western switchmen were laid off recently, and it is rumored that their only offense was being members of the Switchmen's union.

It is rumored in railroad circles that the Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley Railroad companies are going to form an agreement by which the latter company is to gain entrance into Philadelphia over the tracks of the former company.

The Northern Pacific railway is being practically rebuilt, the receivers having decided to make a number of improvements. Throughout Montana all wooden bridges are being replaced with steel structures, while wooden trestles are being replaced with earthwork, where practicable, and all heavy grades of steep descent are being replaced by level grades.

President Ingalls, of the Big Four, has given instructions to the effect that, wherever possible, if a married man killed in the company's employ, his wife or children should be employed in supporting the family. A number of wives of deceased employes, under the order, are now in the company's service.

The demand for faster time made by the public on all trunk line managers has made it necessary for the latter to look carefully to the condition of the roads. Grade crossings of every kind are now placed under the category of things that must go, and when a new road attempts to cross an old established trunk line to grade a conflict between the two corporations is unavoidable. The law is compelling to see the danger of justifying the construction of such dangerous crossings, and the opposing line generally manages to secure a permanent injunction against its rival. Every grade crossing in the state, whether it is caused by a wagon road or a railroad, crossing a trunk line is a menace to life and property, and the action of the railroad companies, while it may be termed selfish, and is to some extent, inoperative.

Complete returns of the gross and net earnings for the first half of 1895 are not at hand, and the exhibit is satisfactory in general business during that period. It is to be remembered, however, that comparison is made with a period of six months ending June 30, 1894, and totals in the previous year, and this accounts in a measure for the large increase in earnings reported this year.

The net earnings for the first half of 1895 did not make any material headway until May, having been retarded by the unsatisfactory character of the national finances and the improved and only assumed practical shape after the contract with the bond syndicate to replenish and maintain the gold reserve. It is encouraging to note that the corner has been turned and that a period of great prosperity is now in sight. The statement of earnings for the six months ending June 30 covers 177 roads and 119,163 miles of line, and shows total gross earnings of $31,778,427, compared with $38,644,256 in 1894, an increase of 23.1 per cent. operating expenses were $27,982,899, against $26,612,189, an increase of $1,370,710, or 2.19 per cent. and net earnings amounted to $3,795,528, against $12,032,067, an increase of $8,236,539, or 71.2 per cent. As showing the small recovery of last year's enormous loss, the decrease in the first half of 1894 from the totals for the same period in 1893 are given. The falling off in gross earnings of 179 roads amounted to $29,091,000, and the decrease in net earnings to $23,595,036, so that the recovery in net earnings in 1895 has been less than 21 per cent.

Washburn-Crosby Co. will take no risks, and will allow the new wheat fully three months to mature before grinding.

This careful attention to every detail of milling has placed Washburn-Crosby Co.'s flour far above other brands.

"We gave Hood's Sarsaparilla to our little girl, who had symptoms of hip disease. She could not put her foot down on the floor when we commenced giving her the medicine, but in a short time she was able to get off the couch and to reach her playthings. Since then she has steadily improved, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and her general health is all that could be desired. When any of the other children are not well we give them
