Mr. Miller announced yesterday that for the present, at least, the building will not go up. It was his intention to proceed with the work immediately, and had all his plans arranged with that end in view. For some reason, possibly the number of office buildings which are already under course of construction, he has decided not to venture in this undertaking now. The barn which occupies the proposed site is being remodeled and will be converted into a small business block converted into a small business block con-taining two stores, the rental of which will at least make the land no great expense to its owner, which it would be if it were allowed to remain unimproved.

The plot of ground measures 40x178 feet. The building, which was designed by Architect T. J. Lacey & Son, was to be ten stories high, and with the land would be worth about $250,-

FINE PLAYING AT FARVIEW

Tennis Tournament Pentured by Very Brilliant Work.

CONTEST FOR THE CUP TODAY

r. C. Fuller and W. V. Johnson Took th Match from H. Torrance, Jr., and N. C. Moon-Their Playing Was Very Clever.

The tennis turnament begun on Thursday at Farview was continued yesterday and will be concluded this afternoon. The playing excelled that of the previous day, and some very brilliant work was executed, especially in the sets for the championship doubles between H. Torraance, jr., and N. C. Moon, of Carbondale, and W. V. Johnson and F. C. Fuller, of Scranton. The weather and sky were favorable for the sport, which opened up with the preliminary doubles. W. V. Johnson and F. C. Fuller were paired against Snyder and F. P. Fuller. The former team won both sets handliy. The scores were 6-3, 6-1, In the consolation singles N. L. Moon won from Charles Orchard by a score of 6-0, 6-1.

F. C. Fuller, who had defaulted in the third set of the championship doubles, was pitted against H. Torrance, jr., in the final singles, and was defeated in both sets by the scores of 6-1, 6-1.

Fuller, Scraiton's tennis experts and champions for the season of '94, were to retain that title for the present season.

Carbondale was represented on the court by H. Torrance, jr., and N. C. Moon. In the contest last year the latter team won two straight sets from the former pair, but Fuller and Johnston captured the next three sets and the match by some exceptionally clever work. Yesterday's scores in sets won and lost and were a repetition of last year's with the exception of the fifth and final set, which won and decided the contest in favor of the Carbondale boys and gave them the title of cham-

The playing of Torrance and Johnson was closely watched by the followers was closely watched by the followers of the game that they might pick the winner of today's match between these two gentlemen for the possession of the beautiful Delaware and Hudson cup won by Johnson last season, and with it goes the championship of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Play will commence at 4 o'clock.

THRONGED WITH VISITORS.

Opening Scenes at the Scranton Business

College Last Evening. Last evening the Scranton Business college was thrown open to visitors, and during the evening hundreds of people, young and old, took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the renovated quarters. Many of the old students and many of the great number who will enter next Monday were among the throng, which was a very representative one. The main business hall, which is the largest room devoid of pillars in the city, was the favorite resort for those who came to spend the evening. The chatted in groups, or promenaded in pairs to the music of Lawrence's or-chestra, which was stationed on the platform. A corps of colored waiters served light refreshments to all who Several improvements have been nade in the arrangement of the rooms during the summer vacation, and nov the quarters are in every way fitted for their purposes. The faculty announce that the school will open next Monday with a greatly increased attendance.

New Kind of Illuminating Gas That I Said to Surpass the Old. Secretary D. B. Atherton, while he was in Philadelphia Wednesday, saw the Wilson gas given a test and speaks glowingly of the possibilities of the new illuminant. The substance was explained fully some time ago in The Tribune.

A man named Wilson invented a gas made from lime and anthracite culm that goes by the name acetylene. It is capable of being canned up or bottled for family use, and is absolutely free from combustion until lit in the

At the test made in Philadelphia Secretary Atherton said, the contrast between the bright light of the acetylene and the dimmer one of the city gas, prevalently in use, was remarkable. He expects a representative to come here soon with a tank of it and give an exhibition of what sort of light can be produced from it. It is possoble that if a satisfactory shoulder here. that, if a satisfactory showing be made, a plant will be built here to manufacture acetylene.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

Andrew Mack and company were hard at work yesterday at the Academy of Music rehearsing "Myles Aroon." The members of the company are practically perfect in their lines and business and tonight a dress rehearsal will probably take place. Monday night the company opens its season at the Academy in "Myles Aroon," and from the ability of the people as revealed in the rehearsals, Berantonians can expect a notably fine production of that well-known drama. Nearly all of the scenery used is owned by the company and has received its finishing touches in this city. Mr. Mack is in fine voice and will be heard in a number of new songs. number of new songs.

Mike Leonard, known in the fistic Mike Leonard, known in the fistic world as the Beau Brummell, will be seen at the Academy of Music Tuesday evening, Sept. 3, with twenty-five stars in the vaudeville world. Mr. Leonard is well known in this city and should be greeted with a large and enthusiastic audience. The vaudeville company with which he appears is managed by George Turner, who represented Leonard when the latter was in this city last spring arranging the fights in which he took part.

Such a character has Mark Twain created in Pudd'nhead Wilson and this the effect it creates in the hands of Frank Mayo. He will be seen at the Academy of Music Wednesday evening.

The regular season of the Frothingham will open on Sept. 11, when "Charley's Aunt" will be produced by the original Frohman company. On the following night "1492" will be given by the original company reinforced by Bessie Bonehill. It will be the opening of "1492" 's road season, the company comling here from Manhattan Beach, where it has been filling a summer engagement. As the company will be the same that is playing at Manhattan Boach it has been decided that rehearsals here will not be necessary.
Frederick Warde will be at the Frothingham Sept. 13 and 14 in "Runnymede," an historical drama of strong interest. The company has been rehearsing at Brooklyn and will open its season at Toronto Monday night.

Davis' theater on Linden street will throw its doors open to the public on Sept. 9, when "The Engineer," a comedy-drama, will be produced with special scenery and mechanical effects. During the summer months many changes have been made in the pretty little play house, which will be appreciated by patrons. The intention was to open the house on Monday, but the suspension of the company booked for the week caused a postponement.

cause for the Lackawanna township school board a conflict. Recently when the board met to hire teachers for the ensuing year, it was agreed to transfer Professor T. G. Osborne from the principalship of the Pyne school to the Meosic school to supplant Professor I. H. Davey. The programme was to change the two teachers named to each other's places.

William Morgan, the local director of the Pyne school, refused to agree to take Davey and wanted a pedagogue from Taylor named Phillips appointed at the Pyne. The other directors do not want to throw Davey overboard. It has been suggested as a compromise that Joseph Mulderig, who is a capable and efficient young teacher and is now assistant at the Continental school, be made principal at the Pyne and Mary Coyne, of Minooka, appointed in his place.

The meeting last night was attended by five directors, King, Higgins, Da-vis, Lovering and Morgan, and yet they did not appoint a teacher. They adjourned until next Monday evening.

PUNISHING INGRATITUDE. That Is the Explanation Dr. Troop Makes of Yesterday's Proceedings. Yesterday's Proceedings.

Yesterday afternoon a number of men in the employ of Dr. B. H. Throop took forcible possession of the shop of C. W. Freeman, located on the second floor of Temple Court, at 311 Spruce street, and seized the safe and tools which Mr. Freeman, through the graceousness of Dr. Throop, had been allowed to use after he lost control of his store.

It appears that Dr. Throop, who was the heaviest creditor, being owed about $2,300, bid in the store and its contents, and engaged Le Grand Wright to conduct the business, intending to get his own out of it, and then turn over what remained to Mr. Freeman's wife. in order to give the Freemans an op-portunity of protecting themselves against another sheriff's sale. Dr. Throop, who has befriended the family in many instances, did not take kindly to some action on the part of Mr. Freeman in regard to the lease of the building, which it was agreed Dr. Throop was to have, and yesterday he took advantage of the rights which the sheriff's sale gave him, and took possession of everything that belonged to him.

WOOD'S BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Shorthand is older than the Christian era. The speeches of Cicero and Cato the younger were recorded by the shorthand writer. Out of 84 systems now in use, Graham's is called the Standard. This system is used in Wood's Business college and the department is in charge of Miss Haggerty and Professor Trainer, two "Standard" teachers in the broadest sense of the word.

Shorthand is to longhand what the steamboat is to the canal boat and the young man who acquires a knowledge of the science has a sure foundation on which to build success.

Professor Kramer organized the College National Bank on Thursday with a capital stock of $100,000, which amount was subscribed by the atudents.
