THEY ARE DRIFTING HOME

Summer Tourists Returning to the City in Large Numbers.

PLANS FOR THE COMING SEASON

They Are Being Discussed by the Local Society Leaders-Marriages of the Week in Scranton and Its Vicinity. Of a Purely Personal Nature.

Society is slowly drifting homeward. The height of the summer season at seashere, mountain and lake has been reached and passed and the exodus thitherword is now replaced by returnattended a church convention at Plyming crowds bent on recuperatin for

MY RUTHERS.

I tell you what I'd ruther do—
If I only had my ruthers—
I'd ruther work when I wanted to
Than he bossed round by others.
I'd want to kind o' git the swing
O' what was needed first, by Jing!
Afore I sweat at anything!
If I only had my ruthers.
In fact, I'd aim to be the same
With all men as my brothers,
And they'd be all the same with me—
Ef I only had my ruthers.
The poor 'ud git their dues some times—
Ef I only had my ruthers,
And be paid dollars 'stid o' dimes,
Fer children, wives and mothers.

Fer children, wives and mothers.

Their boys 'at stokes; their girls

Their boys 'at stokes; their girls 'a sews—
For others, not herself, God knows!
The grave, her only change of clothes!
Ef I only had my ruthers.
They'd all have "stuff" and time enough To snewer one snother's.
Ancealin' prayer for "lovein'" care—
Ef Lonly had my ruthers.
They'd be few folks 'ud ast fer trust—
Ef I only had my ruthers.
And blame few business men to bust 'Theirselves or hearts o' others.
Big guns at come-here durin' fair.
Could put up jest anywhere.
And find a foll, and plenty there—
Ef I only had my ruthers.
The rich and greest 'ud 'sociate.
With all their lowly Brothers
Feelin we done the honoram—
Ef I only had my ruthers.

THE WORLD OF BUSINESS STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, Aug. 30.—Speculation at the Stock Exchange was irregular again today, but in the main the tone of the market was firm, when the strength of sterling exchange, the en-gagements of $2,250,000 gold for ship-ment to Europe and the further sales of stocks for foreign accounts are taken into consideration. At the start prices were generally lower, a break in Toledo Grain Market prices were generally lower, a break in Tobacco of 1% per cent, to 92 having in-duced selling by some of the small trad-ers of builish proclivities. Before the expiration of the first hour, however, there was a change for the better, the buils having taken the Grangers and there was a change for the better, the bulls having taken the Grangers and Anthracite coalers in hand. Reading and Jersey Central were advanced sharply, the first named selling up to 19% and Jersey Central to 110%. It was reported that the negotiations looking to a settlement of trade troubles were progressing favorably. In the afternoon the market was decidedly strong for the low priced issues. the afternoon the market was decidedly strong for the low priced issues. Union and Texas Pacific being more prominent than of late. In the final transactions Sugar and Tobacco were pressed for sale, the first named falling to 110 and the latter to 93. The general list ran off in sympathy and closed about steady. The syndicate deposited $1,000,000 with the assistant treasurer just before the close, but this was not generally known. Net changes show losses of lat's per cent. of 14a7s per cent.

Happenings of Interest to the Staple Trades and Particularly to the Trade in Iron, Steel and Authracite Coal.

Hazleton Sentinel: A distressing state of affairs exists at Morea, owing state of affairs exists at Morea, owing to the drought. Dodson & Co. have shut down operations at the colliery announcing that they will not resume until rain has replenished the supply of water. The residents of the village are on short supply and compelled to go a long distance for the life-giving fluid. A gentleman who returned from Morea says that some of the ignorant Morea says that some of the ignorant people living in the village are charged with setting the brush after in the vicinty, under the impression that the fires would cause rain to fall.

Wilkes-Barre Record: The largest cable in the world, at least the officials of the Hazard works know of none larger, will be shipped on Saturday from the Hazard works in this city to the Metropolitan Traction company of New York city, which company has already taken five monster cables of the Hazard's manufacture. The new cable is 37,800 feet (seven and a half miles) long and an inch and a half in diameter. The Hazard's cables are in great demand on account of their dura bility and superiority in comparison with other cables.

VIEWS OF THE RESULT.

What Will He Do with It? What Will the Do with It?

Lancaster New Era: "The question that now most vitally concerns the people of Pennsylvania and Senator Quay himself is the use he will make of his great victory. He enlisted the moral support of thousands who had not been in sympathy with him a the past, because of his declaration that he was making a campaign for municipal reform and better political methods. This was met with smiles of incredulity from some, and sneers from others, but the fact that he had his explicit schedule of proposed reforms incorporated in the platform of the party attests his sincerity, or at least commits tests his sincerity, or at least commits him and the party to a course that neither can in honor or safety fall to carry out. A failure in that direction would seal the political fate of Senator Quay and the leader. But Senator Quay and the party of which he is now the accepted leader. But Senator Quay, whatever may have been his political shortcomings in the past, is not a political fool, and he may be relied upon to make good his pledges."

Onny Not Unlike Grant.

Chicago Times-Herald: "It is not putting it too strongly to say that Senator Quay went into this contest with public sympathy and all other odds against him and comes out of it not only with the Republicans of the Keystone state spillily at his back but with general admiration of his genius, ability and resources. All the world loves a lover, but all the world also loves a fighter, and Quay as a fighter has been simply superb. Such a man cannot be dismissed with a sneer as to his mental equipment and his achievements in statesmanship or an interrogation point as to his methods. An enthusiastic admirer in yesterday's convention compared him to General Grant. Bold as the parallel was, it was not without foundation of fact. Certainly Grant and Quay are alike remarkable for silence, for discretion, for thoroughness, for reliance upon common sense, for fighting qualities, for sticking to a thing, and above all, for 'getting there,' whatever the obstacles in the way." Quay Not Unlike Grant.

---:11:---

Springfield, Mass., Union: "The trouble with Quay is that he is a boss. In view of his recent achievements, it might seem, at first thought, that this is not an absolute disqualfication. But Quay's authority ends at the Pennsylvania state line. He has, it seems, a very firm grip on the Republican party in his own state, but the Republican party in the rest of the country does not acknowledge his authority. There are bosses and bosses, and Quay is a bright and shining light among them, but his territory is local rather than national, and the Republican organization may well congratulate fiself that this is the case. If Quay were not a boss, he would not be anything." Only a Local Boss.

Exhibited Rare Tact.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "It is creditable to Mr. Quay that, having demonstrated his ability to control the convention, he made use of his victory gracefully and sagaciously, and in the spirit of concession and peace. His opponents generally met him in the same spirit, and the result was an exhibition of party concord that was remarkable in view of the contentions that had preceded it. Whatever personal artagonisms may survive the conflict will not affect the campaign, and a great majority for the state ticket in November will now be the aim of all the party leaders." Exhibited Rare Tact.

Has Many Elements of Success.

Rochester Post-Express: "That Quay should triumph under such circumstances is extraordinary. There is no doubt that he must be ranked with the ablest politicians of our lime. We have never liked him; his record has been bad, but it is uscless to deny his skill as a political leader. He has elements of popularity; he never breaks a promise and he never forgets a friend; and he has wonderful ablisty in organizing and managing men."

Wilkes-Barre Record: "The result is altogether creditable to Governor Hastings and his supporters. By their action they have prevented what might have been a very serious split in the ranks of the Republicans of Pennsylvania, and made it possible for the party to go into the coming campaign with unbroken ranks, confident of victory."

Poor Work in Philadelphia. Lancaster Examiner: "Quay," says Senator Gorman, "is a remarkable man. He has taught those people in Philadelphia all they know about politics, but he hasn't taught them all he knows." This seems to be about the size of it. We are half inclined to believe Lancaster county could give the boys in Philadelphia a few lessons of practical value.

Will Polleh 'Em Off. Altoons Gasette: "If Quay is as good a reformer as he is a deformer of adversaries the high places in Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Philadelphia hims like the floor of a Durch Indiana."
