CONTESTS IN THE LEAGUES

McMahon of Baltimore Officially in Another Shut-Out.

BALTIMORE'S LEAD INCREASED

Took Two Games from the Pirates—Great Playing by the Brooklyn Club—Scranton Lost Another Game to Buffalo After It Had It Nearly Won.

McMahon, of Baltimore, won his seventh consecutive game yesterday by shutting out Pittsburgh. The management of the Baltimore club refused to let him pitch this season on account of the condition of his arm until the first week of August, and since then he has not lost a game in which he has taken part. Four times out of the seven games McMahon has pitched he has shut out the opposing team. Baltimore made another jump forward yesterday by taking two games from Pittsburgh and now seems to be firmly entrenched in first place. Brooklyn is playing remarkably fast ball, and if any accident should befall the leaders that club is likely to very much improve in the pennant race.

Scranton played another hard luck game at Buffalo. It ought to have won if it played steadily. Baltimore, however, has a timely batting streak placed the victory to the credit of Buffalo.

Yesterday's Results.
Buffalo, 5; Scranton, 3.
Wilkes-Barre, 8; Rochester, 7.
Syracuse, 6; Providence, 4.
Providence, 10; Syracuse, 2.

Springfield and Toronto were scheduled to play at Schenectady yesterday, but Manager Chapman, of the Toronto club, refused to allow his team to play because of small attendance. The game was forfeited to Springfield. There has been no change of positions as a result of yesterday's games, but Syracuse is making it interesting for Wilkes-Barre. Scranton is certain of sixth place until the close of the season, unless Rochester should strike a surprising streak and scratch a losing one.

CARRIED OFF THE FIELD.

Pitchee Johnson Injured in Yesterday's Game at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Aug. 30.—Scranton outbatted Buffalo today and Wadsworth was much too free with passes to first base. Yet, by fast fielding and daring base running, Buffalo managed to win in the seventh on a couple of scratch singles and two fumbles.

Scranton ran bases very poorly, and thereby lost several chances to win. Their errors, too, were costly. In the third Pitcher Johnson, in throwing Bortolus out at third, wrenched his knee and had to be carried off the field. Mealey took his place.

Urbahart was injured in retiring Ward at the plate in the first, but was able to continue. Attendance, 1,300. Score:

Each team scored in the tenth inning and created another tie in the eleventh, after the Rochester had gone out in order. Bonner singled and Lezotte followed with another, scoring the winning run with no hands out. The game could have been saved in the ninth had not Garry dropped an easy fly from Griffith's bat, which would have retired the side had it been properly handled. Attendance, 700. Score:

Scranton had one of its old-time slumps this week; one of those aggravating, unexplainable slumps for which we have been famous from the beginning of the season. Every now and then a strike of good, stiff gait and play ball in real first division style for a few days, and just when the hearts of the local lovers of the game are being made glad and they begin to think that Scranton has a ball club worthy of the elite comes the slump, and all the high hopes and expectations are cast to the ground and shattered. It's too bad, but there seems no help for it this season.

Scranton has a ball club worthy of the elite comes the slump, and all the high hopes and expectations are cast to the ground and shattered. It's too bad, but there seems no help for it this season. All we can do is to pin our faith on that ever-present ray of hope to the disconsolate ball club. That season is already the local base ball magnates are discussing plans for next season, which, they trust, will result more satisfactorily to the club than the necessarily hastily devised plans for the present season. If the greater part of the present club can be held together during next season, the directors of the local association feel that they will be able to cut a good sized figure in the league race of '98. There is danger, however, that National League clubs will draw money from the local clubs. It has been watched with an eager eye for weeks past by Pittsburgh, and that club stands ready to pay a good sized sum for any player that it desires. The Scranton club would consent to sell, they have refused to do so, but at the end of the season Pittsburgh, by the terms of the National agreement, has the right to buy any player that it desires. The Scranton club is paid $500. This, it is feared, will be done, and it is one of the strong probabilities that Mr. Johnson, manager of the local club, will himself with a Scranton uniform next year.

DELANEY'S GREAT WORK.

He held the Providence Team Down to Two Hits.

Syracuse, Aug. 30.—Syracuse and Providence broke even today. The first was a rattling game and the home team of Syracuse, led by Delaney, who allowed the Champions but two hits after the third inning. Both sides fielded brilliantly. McQuaid made his first appearance with the Stars, and his play was a feature.

ATTENDANCE WAS POOR.

Toronto Refused to Play and Game Was Given to Springfield.

Schenectady, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The two games between Toronto and Springfield, scheduled to be played here today, were postponed. Manager Chapman, of the Toronto club, refused to play because of the poor attendance.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

In three days of the past week the Baltimore have played double games and have won the whole six. Yesterday they captured two from Pittsburgh. Philadelphia is in a shutout. They now have a good lead, and since only twenty-six games more are to be played by them they are reasonably confident of winning the pennant. Cleveland is in second position and has prospects for so continuing until the close of the season are good. Cincinnati and New York are tied for eighth place. Washington and Boston were yesterday at St. Louis, where the latter is giving much worry to the Senators nowadays.

REVIEW OF WEEK'S SPORT

Scranton Took Another of Its Unexplainable Slumps.

WE HAVE LOST FIVE STRIGHT

Local Magnates Are Already Discussing Plans for Next Season—Last Game Will Be Played Here on Sept. 10—As to Rickey and Dove.

Scranton had one of its old-time slumps this week; one of those aggravating, unexplainable slumps for which we have been famous from the beginning of the season. Every now and then a strike of good, stiff gait and play ball in real first division style for a few days, and just when the hearts of the local lovers of the game are being made glad and they begin to think that Scranton has a ball club worthy of the elite comes the slump, and all the high hopes and expectations are cast to the ground and shattered. Scranton has a ball club worthy of the elite comes the slump, and all the high hopes and expectations are cast to the ground and shattered. It's too bad, but there seems no help for it this season. All we can do is to pin our faith on that ever-present ray of hope to the disconsolate ball club. That season is already the local base ball magnates are discussing plans for next season, which, they trust, will result more satisfactorily to the club than the necessarily hastily devised plans for the present season. If the greater part of the present club can be held together during next season, the directors of the local association feel that they will be able to cut a good sized figure in the league race of '98. There is danger, however, that National League clubs will draw money from the local clubs. It has been watched with an eager eye for weeks past by Pittsburgh, and that club stands ready to pay a good sized sum for any player that it desires. The Scranton club would consent to sell, they have refused to do so, but at the end of the season Pittsburgh, by the terms of the National agreement, has the right to buy any player that it desires. The Scranton club is paid $500. This, it is feared, will be done, and it is one of the strong probabilities that Mr. Johnson, manager of the local club, will himself with a Scranton uniform next year.

Another Scranton player whose recent work is attracting much attention in National League circles is Delaney, whose clever work in the box, fast fielding and heavy batting marks him as an extraordinary player. There are reports that he has been offered by St. Louis, and it need not be considered a surprise if he is drafted. Fielding Egan and Butler are two more players that are sought after by the league society, according to the opinion of many critics of the national game. It is true that Butler was tried and released by New York, but his work in the major league is such that he was not given a fair trial or was unable to play his usual game when surrounded by the much vaunted players of the National League.

Even if the National league does draft a few of Scranton's players, there will be the nucleus of a club remaining around which Manager Barnhart might be able to fit other players and form a club strong enough to win more than half the games played. The fact that he will manage the club next season is settled, and the above players are in this mundane sphere. He has been kind and considerate with the players, but proved a stern disciplinarian when required. He has shown a firm hand in the matter of the players' contracts, and he has been kind and considerate with the players, but proved a stern disciplinarian when required.

The brilliant victory won by Scranton at Springfield last Saturday led to the hope that everything can be won even on the series away from home, but this hope has been ruthlessly disappointed during the week. Monday at Springfield, the home team, again, and Mealey went to the field for the locals. He was found for seven bases, while Gruber, of Springfield, was punished to the extent of nineteen errors. The home team made eight errors and lost the game, which, otherwise, might have been safely pocketed by Scranton. Tuesday's game was played by a team of winners, and the ease with which his curves were solved by the Ponies. He was found fifteen times and gave ten bases on balls.

At Springfield the club jumped to Buffalo, where it played on Wednesday. Miller was assigned to do the twirling for Scranton, but had to be taken out after the third inning. The home team was sending the ball into all parts of the field, four Buffalo men scoring in the first inning. Johnson was substituted for Miller in the fourth and held the home team in a tight shape for the remainder of the game. Scranton led from the third until the ninth, when the Buffalo sluggers hammered out four runs and got the game by a margin of one run. Thursday there was no such battle. Buffalo walked away from Scranton at the beginning and easily maintained its lead until the game was over. Yesterday the battle was more vigorous but the result was the same.

Monday Scranton will play two games at Toronto, and should win at least one of them, although Toronto is playing a very stiff game just at present. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will see the Buffalo team, and it is fortunate if we get a better game than the one we had at Buffalo at Rochester, where the club is scheduled to play on Sept. 6, 7 and 8.

Sept. 10 the club will reappear on the grounds, and for three days do battle with Springfield. The Ponies are to be followed by Providence, which plays here on Sept. 13, 14 and 15. On the latter date the home league game of the season will be played. The intention at present is to disband the team immediately afterwards, for the local magnates do not think a supplemental season of exhibition games would be remunerative. It is doubtful if a series even with Wilkes-Barre, would draw large crowds in this city for the reason that Scranton has been uniformly unfortunate against that aggregation all during the season.

ANNUAL FIELD DAY SPORTS.

Will Be Conducted by Young Men's Christian Association on Sept. 21.

The annual fall athletic and bicycle races of the Young Men's Christian Association will occur on Sept. 21. The events will be 100-yard dash, running high jump, pole vault, mile runs, throwing the hammer, one-half mile bicycle race, one-half-mile bicycle race, one-mile bicycle race.

The feature of the sports will be the relay race between Scranton and Wilkes-Barre. Gold and silver medals will be given in each event.

COULD NOT BEAT RECORD

Unsuccessful Attempt of Azote's at Fleetwood Park.

WAS NOT DRIVEN PROPERLY

In Spite of That the Mile Was Made in 2:05 1-2—Nightingale Went a Mile in 2:09 1-2—Summaries of the Events.

Fleetwood Park, Aug. 30.—The most brilliant and successful trotting meet that has ever been held in New York virtually came to an end today. Although one race was unfinished at nightfall, the weather was too cool to be favorable for extreme speed, and a brisk wind further interfered with the breaking of records.

The feature of the programme was Azote's attempt to beat the world's trotting record of 2:03, held by his stable companion, Aliz. The best he could do, however, was 2:05, 2 McMenry rated Azote very badly, driving the first quarter in 30 3/4 seconds and then taking him back to a 2:10 rate in the second quarter, which is the fastest portion of Fleetwood Park.

The next quarter, which is up hill, was covered in 31 seconds, leaving the big feature as it were, to be made up by a finish better than that making the time for the mile 2:05 1/2. The most notable performance of the day was made by C. J. Hamlin's ten-year-old trotting horse, Nightingale. On a slow track, and under unfavorable conditions, she stepped a third heat in 2:09 1/2, beating the best time ever made at Fleetwood Park, 2:10, by the late Sir Roger Connor, who was managing a team at Waterbury, Conn., and has been very successful so far. Connor was one of the best drivers in the world, and a base ball organization of the first class.

Due to the inability of the club's officials to arrange for a circuit date the South Brooklyn wheelmen have decided not to hold a race meet this year. However, run a big meet early next spring.

The Poughkeepsie Bicycle club will hold its fourth annual race meet at the Hudson River track on Labor Day. Six events for class A riders will be decided. The prizes will consist of diamonds, rubies and sapphires. Robert P. Searle, of the Lincoln Cycling club, Chicago, has decided to start at half-past 4 o'clock next Monday morning for the Chicago league. He has a New York record. His schedule calls for the marvelous time of four days and seven nights, starting from the city of Chicago, being about the same distance from New York as from Chicago.

The following would not be bad odds to offer on the outcome of the league race: Cleveland to win, 2 to 1; Boston, 3 to 1; New York, 4 to 1; Philadelphia, 5 to 1; Cincinnati, 6 to 1; St. Louis, 7 to 1; Pittsburgh, 8 to 1; Baltimore, 9 to 1; Washington, 10 to 1; Chicago, 11 to 1; Philadelphia, 12 to 1; Cincinnati, 13 to 1; St. Louis, 14 to 1; Pittsburgh, 15 to 1; Baltimore, 16 to 1; Washington, 17 to 1;
