THEATRIC GOSSIP.

Tonight George Turner's vaudeville stars will be at the Academy of Music, headed by Mike Leonard, the Beau Brummel of the prize ring, who will meet all comers. The Turner company consists of twenty-five selected vaudeville stars, who give a decidedly clever and up-to-date performance.

It is with most pleasurable anticipa-tions that we announce the early ap-pearance in this city of a party of ladies and gentlemen whom no doubt ladies and gentlemen whom no doubt it will afford our citizens more than a passing pleasure to meet. They are citizens of Dawson's Landing, Missouri. They first attracted attention when a few months ago Mark Twain introduced them to the public through the columns of the Century Magazine, when he told his graphic story of "Ante Bellum" life in the southwest. "Pudd'nhead Wilson." They are under the direction of Charles E. Evans, proprietor of the Herald Square theater. New York, and are headed by that well known and most excellent actor, Frank Mayo. To Mr. Mayo also belongs the credit for having made possible the pleasure it will be to meet these charming people; he having dramatized Mark ng people; he having dramatized Mark Twain's book. At the Academy of Music Wednesday evening.

The following very beautiful and appropriate subjects will be presented in the Living Pictures, equipped and personally posed by Artist Herr Kilanyi in Rice's big production of "1492," which will be at the Frothingham on Sept. 12: "After the Bath," Matkowsky; "From the Mountains," Hans Dale; "Psyche at the Well," Thuman; "The Polar Star," Falero; "Daughter of the Shiek," Sichel; "The Storm," A. C. Cott; "La Cigale," La Roche; "Medea," Bodenhausen; "Rhine Maidens," Kaulbach.

"A great play," says everybody for Bertram & Willard's realistic comedy drama, "The Engineer," which has been secured by Manager Davis to inaugurate his senson at the Davis theater, Sept. 9. This production comes direct from Mr. Miners' New York People's theater, where it has just made a pronounced success—having received the highest comments from the combined New York press—without a single exception. Eugene Bertram and Bassett Willard, the authors, who assume the leading roles, are not strangern in Scranton, as they played the leading parts with Chanfrau in "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler," for five seasons. They have a most capable company, headed by Eva Tanguay, the pretty and wonderfully dever little soubrette, her song "My Dad's the Engineer," has been enthusiastically report in the Case.

ILLEGAL VOTERS

Many Voted Who Were Not Naturalized the Commissioners Say, and Others Voted Whose Affidavits Were Very Defective from Various Causes.

Commissioners W. Gaylord Thomas and W. W. Baylor filed their report yesterday in the Twelfth ward election contest. This contest is an outgrowth of the municipal election held here in February, 1894, when James J. Manley was returned as elected select councilman of the Twelfth ward, and Morgan J. Sweeney as common councilman.

man of the Twelfth ward, and Morgan J. Sweeney as common councilman. Their right to hold the offices was contested by John F. Kearney and Henry W. Coyle, respectively.

The first meeting of the commissioners was held on May 2, 1894, and since then they have held fifty meetings. Eleven days were consumed in examining record testimony. At the election held in the Twelfth ward on Feb. 20, 1894, the commissioners state that they found that 461 votes were cast for select council, and of these the face of the council, and of these the face of the returns showed that James J. Manley received 246 and John F. Kearney 215. For common council 456 were cast, 231 or Sweeney and 225 for Henry W.

n town yesterday. PROFESSOR DAVEY APPOINTED.

Director Morgan of the Lackawanna Township School Board Sat Upon by His Five Colleagues.

All things will come around right if they are given time. This is true of the Lackawanna township school board. The renders of The Tribune are aware for what purpose the Lacka-wanna board met last night. There had wanna board met last night. There had not been any appointment made for the principalship of the Pyne school. Professor T. G. Osborne, who taught there since the beginning of 1891, was transferred when the teachers were hired a month ago, to the principalship of the new Moosic school, to supersede Professor Davey. There were, until the present school year, two schools in Moosic, one at Stark's Patch, employing four teachers, Professor Davey being the principal, and fessor Davey being the principal, and the other at Dug Hill, employing two teachers, of which Mrs. Frances Ellis was the principal.

The people of Moosic wanted a new school capable of accommodating the pupils of both these schools, on the ground that the two buildings were old and not fit for a place the size of Moosic; another reason was that near-ly three-fourths of the children, no matter which school they went to, had to cross railroad tracks, thereby endangering their lives.

The board was convinced that the Moosicites had a good argument and they voted a sum of money necessary to build a new, modern building in a suitable and convenient location. This building was Sulched and ready for suitable and convenient location. This building was finished and ready for occupancy when the school term opened yesterday. Professor Davey was not appointed to the principalship, nor was it at first intended to transfer him to the place vacated by Professor Osborne at the Pyne.

Last night three of the directors, G. Thavis, Thomas, R. Lovering, and

Last night three of the directors, G. T. Davis, Thomas R. Lovering and John McCrindle, were in favor of appointing Davey for the Pyne; Morgan favored Phillips, of Taylor, and Patrick Higgins and Thomas King wanted to transfer Joseph Mulderig from the primary department of the Continental school to the Pyne and appoint Miss Mamie Coyne, of Minooka, in his stead. After a short skirmish Mr. Higgins sided with the three Daveyites and formed a majority.

formed a majority.

When Morgan saw he was beaten he endeavored to side-track Professor Davey and transfer Mrs. Frances Ellis from the intermediate department of the new Moosic school to the Pyne. At this the other five got high upon their dignity, and with one accord sat down in mighty fashion on him. Morgan was instructed to fill the principalship of the Instructed to fill the principalship of the Pyne yesterday by placing the assistant teacher, Miss Mamie Reinhardt, in charge and appointing one of the pupils of the first grade to her position. Morgan did not do this, but had Professor Phillips teach yesterday. These instructions were given to Morgan by his colleagues at a meeting last week, but he disregarded them. Professor Davey will assume charge of the Pyne school will assume charge of the Pyne school oday.

Miss Mamie Coyne was appointed general substitute with the understand-ing that she will be appointed to the first vacancy that arises. Mr. Mc-Crindle procured the consent of the board to allow the citizens of Moosic the privilege of presenting an American flag to the board for the new school at Moosic. The exercises will take place next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The board will be present and the county superintendent.

Morgan was sat upon once more when Morgan was sat upon once more when he moved to give the power to the local director of appointing night school teachers. The majority voted that the night school teachers will be appointed by the board, but should an exigence ed by the board, but should an exigency arise the local director might take it upon himself to appoint a teacher for the night schools, whose tenure of office will run only until the next meeting of the board.

On Thursday engineer Pursel, with engine No. 50 and five passenger coaches, made the fastest and most coaches, made the fastest and most wonderful run on the Lehigh Valley road that has ever been made through that particular section. The train was that of the Patriotic Order Sons of America excursion from Wilkes-Barre to Allentown. The train left Wilkes-Barre at 9.15 a. m. and reached Allentown at 11 a. m., occupying just one hour and forty-five minutes. Now reduce ten minutes from this for "slow ups" and taking water, and that leaves the actual running time one hour and thirty-five minutes for eighty-three miles. This is a record unprecedented in railroad history over such a curvy road. such a curvy road.

Terrible Discovery Made by Mrs. Obtrect, of Nanticoke.

SHE RESCUED HER DAUGHTER

Bob Davies in Centre Street-Girl at First Tried to Hide the Truth.

While the thousands were enjoying yesterday's holiday in this city there was one poor mother who was experiencing the saddest day of her life; and in Alderman Millar's office was being enacted one of the most heartrending scenes that one could be called upon to witness, the reuniting of a fallen daughter and sorrow-stricken mother. Little Lena Obtrect five weeks ago left her home in Nanticoke to visit her grandmother in this city. After staying with her aged relative for a week or so she pined for more congenial company and obtained permission to seek work in the central city. A strange 15-year-old girl with a pretty face and guileless manners who goes looking for work in this city treads a dangerous path. hotel on Wednesday evening.

New York city, were visiting friends work in this city treads a dangerous path.

This was the case with the little Nanticoke girl. She fell in with a human vulture who enticed her into Bob Davies' den, in Raymond court, where she has been for nearly four weeks, until now she is almost a physical wreck from dissipation and riotous living.

ing.

The child wrote to her mother frequently and appended the address of the house in which she was staying to all her letters. Yesterday being a holiday the girl's mother, an honest but unsophisticated old German lady, came unsophisticated old German lady, came to visit her, intending to give her a pleasant surprise. But the joyous wel-come which she expected from her little girl was wanting. Instead, at the unexpected approach of her mother, Lena hid herself and told her com-panions to get her mother away.

Knew She Was Being Deceived. Mrs. Obtrect, although not overly amiliar with the ways of the world eadly realized that an effort was be readily realized that an effort was being made to deceive her; that her daughter was there, and further that the place was not a private boarding house as described by the daughter in her letters. Almost overcome by grief and with her wrinkled face bathed with tears the agonized mother wandered about the streets looking for a policeman or some one else to whom she could turn in her misery.

she could turn in her misery. Alderman 'Millar's sign caught her attention and thither she went and told attention and thither she went and told her story. The alderman in righteous indignation dispatched his deputy to secure the girl and a squad of police-men to raid the house. When the daughter and mother were brought face to face in the alderman's private office there ensued a scene that beggars description.

The Little girl utterly collapsed and it was feared for a time that she would go into convulsions. The mother seemed to forget everything but her daughter's sufferings and treated her with a compassion that clearly indicated that the daughter's misfortune, instead of estranging the mother's heart, only the closer tightened the bonds of maternal affection.

She was still her daughter, in misfortune doubly dear.

She Told the Whole Story.

She Told the Whole Story.

When the girl recovered, Alderman Millar had her mother withdraw, and ther privately questioned her. She denied at first that she was concerned in anything but the housework about the place, but when the alderman harshly accused her of lying and threatened to send her to jajil she broke down completely. Throwing herself upon the floor and grasping the alderman by the knees she besought him piteously not to send her to jail, promising to tell the whole truth.

The alderman assumed a kindlier air

The alderman assumed a kindlier air and advised her to tell all she knew about the place. She related how she was enticed there by a woman and induced to submit to the life which followed for four weeks. It was a tale too harrowing to be repeated. It belongs only in the criminal records of the court, and it is to be hoped that it will before long be heard in the shape of evidence against the flends who could be guilty of such hellish work. The girl was turned over to her mother, who took her home.
