DEATH WAS NATURAL.

Mrs. Jenkins Cleared of the Charge

Mrs. Jenkins Cleared of the Charge of Poisoning Her Husband.

The jury which was appointed to investigate the rumored poisoning of David Jenkins met, and after a very short deliberation brought in the verdict that death was due to natural causes, and that the analysis of the chemist removed all fear of foul play.

Coroner Kelley was accompanied to this city by Chemist Charles Koepel, who brought several jars, which contained the results of his examination. This he explained to the jurors, who met at the office of Attorney Butler, in the Municipal building.

Undertaker Purple was the first wit-in the Municipal building.

Undertaker Purple was the first witness who tstifled, and said that he had embalmed the body soon after death, and while it was still warm. When asked what part he had embalmed he said that he had tapped the heart and the lung cavities, but not the abdoman. He said that the fluid used contained arsenic, and, as the body was yet warm it might have entered the stomach.

Mr. Koepel was then sworn and told the result of his analysis. He exthe result of his analysis. He ex-hibited the stomach, kidneys and liver, which he had subjected to the severest tests. The time taken was eight hours, and it was very thorough. He next produced the arsenic which was found in the stomach, and more which was taken from the embalming fluid, although neither was in sufficient quantities to cause death. The stomach, when shown, was slightly inflamed and seemed to have been irritated. The chen ist said that the poison might have entered through abrasions, which were found He would not swear, however, that death was due to the effects of poison. When asked if the poison found was in suf-ficient quantities to kill he answered that it was not, and said that he could swallow it without being harmed. The jurors then consulted among themselves, and within five minutes brought in the verdict that the death was nat-

of the Inmates of a House of Bad Repute in Olyphant.

Last Friday W. E. Smith, of Starruc-ea, was in this city searching for his step-daughter, who had run away from his home. No trace of the girl could be found, but after a ten days' search she was found in a house of ill repute in Olyphant. Upon finding where she was, her mother at once went to the place and tried to provail upon her daughter to accompany her home. Myrta, however, said she was contented where she was and wanted to stay.

Not being able to take her daughter home, Mrs. Smith came to this city, where she swore out a warrant for the girl's arrest before Alderman Jones. Mike Moran was given the warrant to execute, and went at once to Oly-phant, and, after some trouble, brought her to this city and placed her in the city bastile. Yesterday morn-ing she was taken to the county seat. where she will enjoy the fare furnished by the Scranton people to those who are so unfortunate to enter the portals

Although very young, being but 14, the girl seems to like her vicious com-panions and is anxious to get back among them. However, she takes her arrest in a very indifferent manner. Mrs. Smith is anxious to have some-think done with her and would like to have her placed in some institution where all temptation will be removed.

ANOTHER STRONG CLEW.

Dynamite and Caps Found in the Canel

It will be remembered by readers of The Tribune of the frightful explosion which occurred at the store of Gabriel Puglanto some time are a constant of the week.

Mr. Fisher and family, of Philadelphia who have been spending the summer at Crystal Lake, have returned home. Puglanio some time ago, for which Louis Scalzo, an Italian, who wanted revenge for some imaginary wrong, was arrested.

Most of the dynamite at the time could not be found and was said by witnesses to have been thrown into the canal, but although a thorough search was made, none could be found. However, yesterday more evidence was found which will prove very damaging to the prisoner. For some time the canal near Van Bergan's foundry has been undergoing repair and the water shut off, leaving the bed of the canal dry.

Several boys were playing in the vicinity the other day, when one of the boys found a small tin box which was found to be nearly full of dynamite caps. At the time nothing was thought of the affair, but in some manner the finding reached the ears of Gabriel Pugianio, who at once had a search made for the dynamite. After considerable trouble it was found, and the box containing it was brought to Alderman Jones' office and taken by Puglanio to Scranton, where will be used as evidence against
