EXCISE LAW BROKEN.

James Corrigan Charged with Selling Liquor on Sunday.

A suit has been brought against James Corrigan, who keeps a saloon in Fall Brook, by Mrs. Jennie Horan, who charges him with selling liquor to minors on Sunday.

The hearing was held before Alderman Baker, Attorney Stuart representing the complainant, and Attorney Butler the defendant.

As quite a bit of evidence was brought against him Mr. Corrigan was put under $500 bail to appear at court.

BEVAQUA SURRENDERED.

His Bondsman Gives Him Up to Officers of the Law.

Salvator Bevaqua, a young man of about 30 years of age, who was arrested for being suspected of being concerned in the blowing up of Puglonis' place, on Dunduff street, was surrendered by his bondsman yesterday, and spent the night in jail.

Yesterday he was brought before Alderman Jones and was asked if he could furnish another bondsman, but as he did not think he could, he was taken to the county jail yesterday by Chief McAndrew.

STILL LEAKS.

The Reservoir Will Not Hold Water--The Company Have Been to Much Expense.

Water was again let into the reservoir after the repairs which have been made were completed. The attempt to stop the leak proved unsuccessful, however, as the water still leaks out faster than it comes in.

The leak has proved a very hard one to fix, the water having been turned on several times and each time it was found that the water was leaking.
