GUS HEEGE'S NEW PLAY. At the Academy, "A Venetian Gentleman" Is Received with Favor.

The favor won last season by Gus Heege's Swedish dialect comedy has led to the production on a generous scale of a new play treating of the Scandinavian emigrant, and called "A Venetian Gentleman." As presented at the Academy last evening before an appreciative audience, this interesting melodrama disclosed skilful construction, capable acting and a lavish use of scenic and mechanical stage accessories.

The play is naturally built up so to display its hero, Sven Hanson, in a favorable light, but while he easily retains popular sympathy and approval, there is a felicitous blending of comedy, pathos, rousing contrasts and up-to-date music and stage "business," thus varying the menu in a manner to please all tastes.

With the exception of Mr. Heege, whose admirable mimicry of the Swedish character does not need mention, the best acting of the evening was done by Merri Osborne, in the subordinate role of Jessie, Sven's sweetheart. She also sang a number of character songs in a manner which won for her warm applause. The remainder of the company was competent and the performance as a whole gave excellent satisfaction.

AN UNDUTIFUL SON. William Palmer of Dunmore Is Again in the Tolls.

Up in Johnson's Patch the neighbors were greatly annoyed by William Palmer, who, in a drunken fury, was going about like a roaring lion the past three days. He was so violent that his ungovernable rage made it dangerous and risky for W. E. Palmer, his father, to cross his path, the parent seemingly being an especial object of attack.

Young Palmer got so drunk yesterday that he could not walk and he was carried into a day wagon, taken to the county jail and there deposited on the authority of a commitment, made out by Justice of the Peace Conroy, of Dunmore. The prisoner was released not long ago from jail after serving a term for threatening to kill his mother.

AWARD AGAINST SMITH

Arbitrators Allow Attorney I. H. Burns $15,000 as Damages.

VERDICT IN THE HENNE CASE

He is Allowed $775 for the Death of His Daughter, Grace—Two Verdicts Sealed and Will Be brought into Court This Morning.

Arbitrators Thomas P. Duffy, George M. Watson and Fred W. Flitz rendered an award yesterday of $15,000 in favor of Attorney Ira H. Burns against Attorney Cornelius Smith and John G. Jennings in the famous libel recently directed against Mr. Smith in the columns of Prothonotary Green, of the state Supreme court.

As is well known, Mr. Jennings was held to bail in the sum of $500 to appear in court on the charge of perjury, for not being able to substantiate the charge of jury packing against Deputy Prothonotary Myron Kasson, after making an affidavit containing the allegation. Attorney Smith applied to the Supreme court for a writ of peremptory mandamus to issue and compel Judge Archibald, of this court, to release Mr. Jennings on his own recognizance, a thing that Judge Archibald refused to do on the day the episode happened.

The contents of the paper book were, according to Attorney John P. Kelly, counsel for Mr. Burns, bristling with threats and impositions, and the fact that had that to do with the Jennings-Lehigh Valley trespass suit, the judge, the attorneys, the deputy prothonotary and the recorder were charged with having done dirt things to thwart justice and circumvent the principles of equity and fair play that a verdict against the plaintiff might be reached.

After court opened yesterday morning the jury in the trespass case of Albert H. Burns brought in a verdict against the property of Messrs. Smith and Jennings. Mr. Burns has not been so anxious to get a verdict of large damages as to have a reputation of the charges against him established and put on record.

Verdict for Albert Henne. After court opened yesterday morning the jury in the trespass case of Albert Henne brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $750. Mr. Henne sought to recover $5,000 damages for the death of his 3-year-old daughter, Grace, who was killed by a trolley car on West Lackawanna avenue on June 23, 1891.

Before Judge Archibald the closing arguments were made in the ejectment suit of Charles Wagner against T. H. Bray. The verdict was in favor of the plaintiff for $750. Major J. H. Bunting, Mr. Everett Warren made the closing argument for the defense in the case of Henry A. Deppay against Jesse A. Brant.

Verdict for the plaintiff. The case was given to the jury at 11:30, and at 6 o'clock last evening it agreed upon a verdict to the effect that this morning it will be handed to the court.

Non suits were taken in the cases of A. M. Glan against Jonas Brandt and Patrick McAuliffe against James Brandt. The jury in both cases found the plaintiffs failed to put in an appearance.

Suits Against the Prudential. Mrs. Anna O'Grady, of the West Side, was the plaintiff in two actions against the Prudential insurance company, which were tried before Judge Gunster in the main court room yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff seeks to recover $5,000 damages for the loss of her mother, with interest from April 23, 1891. The defendant resists payment on the ground that the insured fraudulently represented her age to be 40 years when in reality, she was much over 70 years of age.

The rules of the company prohibit the insurance of persons over 70 years of age, but there was no reference to the age of the insured while there was a clause making the policy incontestable after due premiums had been paid for three years. Attorneys J. Alton Davis and John R. Edwards represent the Prudential company, and Attorneys Hulslander & Vosburg the company. The case was given to the jury at 3:45, and in less than half an hour it agreed upon a verdict and sealed it until this morning.

In court room No. 3 before Judge Archibald the action of Peter Conroy, of Dunmore, against Mrs. N. F. Smith, wife of Charles H. Smith and I. T. Keenan, was tried when court adjourned. Conroy was a sub-contractor on a summer residence at Elmhurst for Mrs. Smith and sues to recover $4, which he alleges she still owes him for the work he did. The defense is that he did not properly perform his work.

Against the Borough of Blakeley. A suit against the borough of Blakeley was on trial in court room No. 2 before Judge Scoble yesterday afternoon. Plaintiff was Thomas Monahan, the plaintiff, and he sues to recover damages for injury which he alleges was done to his property by the construction of a culvert, under a street, through lots in the borough which he declares have been rendered almost valueless by the construction of the culvert. It causes them to be covered with water almost continuously. The lots, he says, are worth $150 apiece.

He is represented by Attorney I. H. Burns and T. V. Powderly, and William Horn appears for the borough. The latter's case was opened to the jury just before court adjourned.

RETURN OF THE GRAND JURY.

Another One Was Presented to Court Yesterday Morning.

Another return of true and ignored bills was made to the court yesterday by the grand jury, which will copy the bills into their report. Up to last evening the jury had passed upon 48 cases and there are about five more to be called to its attention, one of them being that of John G. Jennings, of Olanoka, who is charged with perjury in swearing to certain charges against officers of the court which were shown to be groundless at a hearing.

The jury will make its final report and present its recommendations to court today. One of the recommendations will be in the matter of committing people to jail by aldermen and justices of the peace. The list of true bills returned to the court yesterday was as follows: Assault and Battery—Simon Kalmousky, Mary Tracey, prox.; Simon Christ, Michael Jerkhan, Julia Vorgan, prox.; Alexander Smigel, prox.; W. H. White, Charles Perry, prox.; A. Bumhaugh, Isaac J. Lewis, prox.; Agattia Shevinsky, Francis Lepinsky, prox.; Simon Christ, Michael Jerkhan, Peter Vorgan, prox.; James Gligallon, Jacob Rich, prox.; Mrs. Coleman Lower, alias Madeline Gate, T. J. Price, prox.; Robert Turnbull, J. C. Kromer, prox.

Assault and Battery upon Public Officer—Joseph Kalmouski, Joseph Olchewski, Joseph Rogish, Max Koehler, prox.; George Benson, William T. Simpson, prox. Charged with Theft.

Larceny and Receiving—Joseph Barstach, Charles Mattos, prox.; Peter Smith, George Black, prox.; Peter Smith, George Black, prox.; J. P. Hampton, A. B. Swartz, prox.; John Trissuli, alias William Deppay, prox.; Joseph Trissuli, prox.

Armed Assault and Battery—John Yabo, John La Funk, prox.; Henry Chambers, George Barstach, prox.; Malice, Michael Edward Cayley, Thomas Grier, prox.

Assault and Battery—Thomas Davis, John Roberts, James Roberts, James Colson.

Bonta Plate Glass Machine Demonstrates What It Can Do.

ACCIDENT MARKED THE PLATE

It Was the Third Time Such an Event Occurred During the Test, but Nevertheless the Possibilities of Machine Were Shown Yesterday.

For the third time an accident intervened yesterday to prevent an entirely successful test of the Bonta Plate Glass process, but notwithstanding this third aggravating disappointment, the trial established beyond the least semblance of doubt the new machinery designed by the inventor is perfect in every respect and fully capable of doing all that is claimed for it.

As far as the process itself was concerned there never has been any question of its efficacy. Before the company was formed Mr. Bonta satisfied all interested parties that his system was entirely practicable. And the test, which was three times begun, was virtually only a formal affair for the satisfactory production of the plate. The failure causes nothing more than a trifling annoyance.

ALMOST A HALF-MILLION.

O. S. Johnson and Associates Pay $450,000 for John Jermy's Pricerage Tract and Collieries—Mr. Jermy Will Receive a Large Royalty.

One of the largest coal deals in the history of this city culminated yesterday. John Jermy sold his Pricerage tract to O. S. Johnson for $450,000. The sale had for some time been anticipated, and the rumor was published in Monday's Tribune.

Associated with Mr. Johnson are E. R. Sturgis and A. H. Christie, of this city, and Joseph B. Dickson and Jesse L. Eddy, of New York city. Of the purchase price $200,000 was paid in cash. The tract contains 900 acres and is estimated to hold between 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 tons of workable coal. On it are located two large collieries, the Jermy Nos. 2 and 3.

The best royalties shall be paid on at least 150,000 tons per year at 6 per cent of the tidewater price, and that the royalty shall not be less than 21 cents per gross ton for chestnut and larger sizes.

Mr. Johnson and the men associated with him have applied for incorporation as the Johnson Coal company. Yesterday's transaction will make him one of the most extensive individual operators in the anthracite region. He already owns the Johnson colliery in Dunmore and holds the controlling interest in the Lackawanna Coal company, whose mine is in Blakeley.

MR. BURNS' LETTER.

Retoken More Possible Trouble in the Bright's Court Sewer Middle.

The following letter from Attorney I. H. Burns will explain why there may be more trouble in the Bright's court sewer middle:

Dear Sirs—Understanding that in your contract with the city to construct sewers in section "A" of the sewer district you agree to rely wholly on the collection of sewer assessments for your pay, I wish to notify you that the city council has passed a resolution in this district, that they consider the assessments unjust and illegal and propose to collect the same in the name of the same. In this connection I refer you to the recent case of Welman vs. the city of Scranton, decided by the supreme court, and reported in 189 Pa. page 201.

I inform you this notice so that in any litigation that may occur in the attempt to collect the sewer claims you cannot allow that you should rely wholly on the collection of sewer assessments, but you should be on your guard against any attempt to collect the collection of assessments in the name of the city, and should immediately apply to me for a writ of habeas corpus or injunction to prevent the collection of the same. I, H. Burns, Attorney.

SIDE TRACKED ALL RIGHT.

It Can Be Seen at Davis' Theater Today and Tomorrow.

"Side Tracked," an entertaining comedy-drama in two acts, will be seen at Davis' theater for the remainder of the week. The first performance yesterday afternoon was enjoyed by an unusually large house for an afternoon performance. The play deals with the wretched struggles of a baffled lover and the happy antics of a tramp, Horatio Xerxes Booth.

Louis Thiel, as the tramp, is the leading comedian and is very clever in his natural way. Billie Powers as the Dutchman, and the other parts were the most mirth-provoking of the performance. Charles Montgomery was exceedingly happy in the comic role of Judge Pecksniff, of Jonesboro. The lady members of the cast, Miss Beatrice Cole gave a very pleasing dancing specialty. The play is good and can be seen at the Davis theater and tomorrow, afternoon and evening.

URAM HAD NO TICKET.

That Circumstance Caused a Fight at Hickory Street Synagogue.

Sandor Uram, a Polish Jew, had no ticket of admission to the Jewish New Year services in the synagogue, on Hickory street, yesterday, which led to a quarrel with another Jew, Weiss, who was acting as doorkeeper.

Uram struck Weiss in the face and ran home, and at last accounts Weiss was hunting for a warrant. A telephone message was sent to the central police station, and Officer Palmer hurried to the scene. When he arrived Uram had disappeared.
