SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

Prominent Quartette of Vocalists at the Second Presbyterian Church.

HISS KAISER SANG AN ARIA

he and Miss Lydin Pichel, Fresh from European Training, Are a Delight. Presbytery Committee's Work Among the Foreigners, yesterday the musical programme, ren-dered by a quartette, which had been secured for the occasion was one of unusual excellence, notwithstanding the choir had but one rehearsal. Mlss Sadie Kalser, the Wilkes-Barre soprano, was heard for the first time since her return from Europe. Miss Kaiser sang "The Lord is My Light," by Marsh, at the morning service, and the aria, "I Will Extol Thee," from the oratorio, "Ell," in the evening. In both elections her magnificent voice was heard to good advantage, and the ef-fects of her studies in the English confects of her studies in the English con-servatories were apparent in the great improvement in her methods.

Miss Lydia Pichel, mezzo soprane, who has recently returned from a course of musicial study in Germany, sang alto in the quartette. Miss Pichel rendered a solo, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," by Tours, at the morning ser-vice, in an artistic manner. Her voice, always rich and sympathetic, showed a wonderful improvement, and showed a wonderful improvement, and her style was most pleasing. Moses Mergan, basso, and Thomas Beynon, Mr. Beynon sang "Eternal Rest," by Piccolomini, at the evening service. Beynon's performance was excel-The quartette's morning and rening special selections were respec-vely "I Will Call Upon Thee" and Bonum Est," both by Buck. The vocalists were fortunate in being sustained by Organist Georde Noyes Rockwell, who had charge of the musical services, and who is one of the best accompanists in the city. The impression made upon the congregation by the pleasing efforts of the quartette was marked, and the return of quartette music, which seemed to be most favorably received by the congregation. gregation. The two services were of especial inerest. In the morning Rev. Dr. S. C. ogan, as secretary of a committee of Logan, as secretary of a committee of the Lackawanna presbytery, made an eloquent plea in behalf of the committee's work among people of foreign tongues in the coal fields; in the evening the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Robitson, delivered a most scholarly and thoughtful address, illustrating the necessity of breadth and practicability f learning among the most scientifi

Colonel H. M. Boles, president of the committee in introducing Dr. Logan, very aptly illustrated the purpose of the committee and the dire needs of ts work. He cited the different condilons between twenty-five or thirty cears ago when the German, Irish and Welsh miners were in the majority, and who, by reason of their knowledge of English, readily grasped the requirements of good and successful citizen-ship, and now, when the majority of hand laborers in the mines are Hungarlans, Polanders and Italians, who know or can learn little or nothing of the country's language and customs and consequently menace themselves and the community. For the one class it was easy and natural to succeed, while with the present class it is against natural laws unless those in-terested in the welfare of this region and country point out the way.

In illustrating his point President
Boies mentioned John Jermyn, one of the wealthiest and most successful anthracite operators in this country. He said: "Thirty years ago John Jermyn ate a frugal meal off a deal board; he and his wife on opposite sides of the and his wife on opposite sizes of the board were seated on powder kegs. Today Mr. Jermyn is preparing to give his family a meal in a magnificent structure, the value of which will apstructure, the value of which will approach a half-million of dollars." President Boles argued that such a change in conditions was possible through influences of a quarter of a century ago which existed today, but the change of nationality among the miners made it necessary that they should be taught to grasp their opportunities. tunities.

The Work Outlined.

In explaining the work of the committee Dr. Logan was logical and con-cise and spoke with much feeling. His remarks are well echoed in a circular distributed by the committee and which, after reciting the facts and existing conditions, has this to say of what should be done:

We have already tested and know the cf.

What should be done:

We have already tested and know the efficiency of the measures we now suggest; and ask you to help us to provide the things needed. They are these.

First—A free kinderwarten, in every community, for the children, who in one year will learn enough of the language and ways of our homes to place them on the nighway toward our system of education, and worthy free life, and these children will bring their parents with them, in due time.

Second—A sufficient number of night schools for teaching English speech and Christian truths to the whole body of their youth, from the ages of le to 18 years; who by reason of poverty and home conditions are compelled to work every day, and are thus deprived of the privileges of an education in the day schools, already provided. These night schools will also be a great help to the adult population.

Tairl—Every permanent community must have its house of worship; with such religious instruction as has been found absolutely necessary for the maintenance of Christian society in our whole national life and history. Such a number of missionaries must be provided, as with knowledge, both of the English and of the tongue of the masses of these poor as may be able to bring them into intelligent connection with our moral and religious activity.

Now in order that such a scheme of phil-

Now in order that such a scheme of philanthropic and Christian work may be carried out economically, and efficiently, there must be some direct, reliable and ef-red out economically, and efficiently, there must be some direct, reliable and efficient, administration and supervision. This, the Presbytery of Lackawanna, covering the whole field, has attempted to supply by committing the work to its executive committee; consisting of pastors and business mera, whose well-known character may be accepted as a guarantee throughout the coal fields, of a work, worthy of confidence.

This executive committee is constituted as follows: Ministers—George E. Guild, Scranton, F. B. Hodge, D.D., Wilkessearre; James McLeod, D.D., Seranton; Ferdinand Von Krug, Kingston; Charles Lee, Carbondale; E. McLean, Elmhurst, Laymen-H M. Bojes, Scranton; Thomas H. Atherton, Wilkess-Barre; A. W. Dickson, Scranton; John B. Hoyt, Carbondale; Edward B. Sturges, Scranton. Organization—Colonel H. M. Boles, president; Rev. E. McLean, recording secretary; Alexander W. Dickson, treasurer; Rev. S. C. Logan, secretary and superintendent.

CLOSE OF THE MISSION.

Final Sermon Was Delivered by Rev. Father Burke.

Father Barke.

Two weeks ago yesterday Fathers Burke, Cullen and O'Callahan, Paulist missionaries from Lexington avenue. New York, where the main house of the order is located, began a mission in St. John's church, South Side, and it came to a close last evening. The first week was for the women of the parish, the week past for men. The final sermon was preached by Father Burke. In a fervent and brilliant discourse he exhorted all the men to persevere in the good path, follow out the object for which they were created and have recourse to prayer and the sacraments as fortifying safeguards against sin.

The sermon was on the text, "He that eateth me, the same also shall live by me." He spoke of the miracle of the loaves and the fishes that the Lord performed in feeding the thousands that flocked to the desert that they might there in solitude adore God and nurture their souls. This great miracle is a prototype of the last supper of the Son of God, at which the bread was broken and the Savior changed the bread and wine into His body and blood. There is now, and has been, since that supper, present in the tabernacle of every Catholic altar the same divine presence and God is always waiting to hear the voice of the sinner asking for grace.

Father Burke urged all to partake of the body and blood of Christ very often, for as the worldly food nurtures the body, the spiritual food gives life to flocked to the desert that they might the body, the spiritual food gives life to the soul, and on the last day, when mankind comes to be judged, those who have eaten of the flesh and drank of the blood will be rewarded, for the Savior will see His own blood in their veins and will invite them to come to the At the Second Presbyterian church kingdom of His father. The congrega-tion stood up and a renewal of the bap-tismal yows followed. On the Blessed Virgin's side of the church was erected baptismal font.

In taking leave of the people Father

Burke thanked the people of the parish for the fervent and generous responses to all the services of the mission; the pastor, itey E. J. Melley, for the noble assistance given them, the choir for the muste, and he begged that if any act, word or omission of the missionaries offended any one that forgiveness would be granted them before they leave to begin in some other place their work of bringing souls to God. Father Burke and Father Cullen will leave today, but Father O'Callahan will remain until Wednesday evening to lecture at the close of the contest for who recently attained great favor as chairman of the citizens' committee which wielded such a power in the Ross murder and "Bat" Shea political outage in Troy.

liams to Take That Step. Rev. J. W. Williams, who has been pastor of the Dunmore Presbyterian church for the past four and one-half years, yesterday tendered his resigna-tion to the congregation. After the morning service a congregational meet-ing was called, at which the resignation was tendered and at the request of Mr. Williams the congregation united with him in petitioning the presbytery, which meets at Montrose this week, to dissolve the pastoral relations. Eugene Barton was selected a commissioner to take the case before the presbytery. Mr. Williams has many warm friends in this place, who will be sorry to hear of this step, but as his health is not as good as he would wish, he deemed this action necessary. The resignation will take effect the second Sunday in November.

An Elderly Italian Woman Sustains Broken Leg.

Late Saturday night the police were called to an Italian boarding house at 209 South Ninth street. The occupants had spent the evening indulging deeply in draughts of malt liquors, and along about 11 o'clock they started a free fight, using stones, clubs and deadly weenone.

The carousal was going on upstairs and down. There were men and women mixed up in the fight and a woman named Rosey Pugliano, 50 years old, fell sownstairs and sustained a fractured leg. She was taken to the Lacka-wanna hospital. The word was given before the police got around and every man, woman and child had deserted the house, so that no arrests were made. Mrs. Pugliano is suffering much pain. She cannot talk English sufficiently to make known how she got injured and no one has called around to see her since being taken to the hospital.

EARNEST AND THOUGHTPUL

Tells What the Means Are of Securing Our Continual Abiding in the Conscious Enjoyment of God's Love and How to Secure Them.

A good sermon for Christians to have heard was that on "Continuity," preached in Elm Park church yester preached in Elm Park church yester-day morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. H. Pearce. His text was from John, xv. 9, "Continue Ye in My Love." He said: "You will readily discover that the precious truth here set forth is that of unbroken continuity in the flow of that divine love which falls in its gentlest and mightlest beams only on the heart that aspires toward God. The whole trend of this divine word in its brilliant nd positive utterances goes to show act it is possible for the Christian, hat it is one of his high and large privileges, to make his whole life one long, sweet, conscious, abiding in the love of God; that all through the stretch of the days and morths and years, with their varied experiences, he may yet feel himself God enclosed, and the sunlight of divine love shedding infinite lustre all over his heart.

'But what an awful contrast to this MR. PARTRIDGE'S SUCCESSOR.

May Be Dr. Haynes, of Troy. Who Preached Here Vesterday.

In the Penn Avenue Baptist church yesterday was theard a minister prominent throughout eastern New York and who is favorably considered as a worthy successor to the late pastor, Rev. Warren G. Paritidge. He is Rev. L. M. S. Haynes of Troy, N. Y., a reformer of the most approved type, an eloquent and spirited preacher and one who recently attained great favor as terd. Oh let those of us who have felt at any time that we dwell in the light of God's face and that our souls were being sunned with His love, see to it links and turn them into a continuous unbroken, resplendent line of holy fel-lowships with God. And in this we will find the true secret of all true blessed-ness, the very threshold of heaven.

He Will Have Kindled a Fire, "If we walk in the peaceful enjoy-ment and conscious possession of the infinite love of God, we will have kin-dled a fire upon the altar of our hearts which will keep the whole life in a glow of delight and inspiring hope, even in the blackest night of time; we will have extracted the soreness out of ev-ery wound, the bitterness out of every sorrow and disappointment; we will have sandalled our feet for every rough path; we will have made the thunder REV. COLLINS' FAREWELL.

His Pastorate with the Scranton Street
Baptist Church Closed Yesterday.
Sultry weather did not prevent a crowded auditorium last night to honor lev. T. J. Collins, of the Scranton Street Baptist church, at his farewell appearance as pastor. The service opened with congregational singing, and during the evening the choir, led by D. E. Evans, sang several anthems.

Pastor Collins had not prepared a farewell sermon, but delivered a heartfeit address to his congregation, reviewing the pleasantness of the association of church and pastor and giving advice for the future. As a text, Mr.

cation of church and pastor and giving advice for the future. As a text, Mr. Collins used Exodus, xiv, 13, "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." He closed with his best wishes for the church's welfare and called for the blessing of God upon its members. In the morning the sermon was upon the text "Abiding in Christ."

Rev. and Mrs. Collins leave this week for the new pastorate at Sait Lake and worthy it has revealed and rocky coast.

"But the question that pushes itself to the very front is this. What are the means of securing our continual abiding in the conscious enjoyment of God's love?" Faith would very naturally suggest itself as first. All that men ever did well or nobly or lovingly in this world was done by faith. "But we not only need faith to keep us in the love of God, but we also need the spirit of enlargement and growth. No man under the stars ever reached the extremity, or the Alpine summit of goodness by a single leap; it is conditioned on continuous growth. If you are urged to escape from polar winter, with the lose and soon and are urged to escape from polar winter, with its ice and snow and frost and barrenness, to tropical summer, with its warmth and flowers and birds and fruits, it is not meant that you shall accomplish the journey at one stride.
