ROBERTS' HEART NOT REMOVED

In Examining the Injured Man Before He Died They Discovered No Trace of Any Affection of the Beart.

Other Cases Passed Upon.

Evidence offered in rebuttal yester-day in the trespass case of Mrs. Mary Roberts against the Delaware and Hudson Canal company flatly contra-dicted the evidence of Dr. W. J. Low-ry, of Carbondale, given Thursday. He testified that Hugh Roberts, husband of the plaintiff, died at the Lackawanna hospital from injuries sustained at the Carbon street crossing of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company and that and Hudson Canal company and that at an autopsy which followed Roberts was opened and his heart removed. It was opened and his heart removed. It was found to be very much enlarged and Dr. Lowry gave it as his opinion that its condition would have shortened Roberts' life. Dr. H. D. Gardner, who as coroner of the county conducted the autopsy, and several other witnesses called yesterday, denied that Roberts was opened or his heart removed. After court opened in the morning Dr. Lowry again went on the witness stand for the defense and testified that on the afternoon of the accident after Roberts had been taken to the hospital the in-jured man told him he did not stop his horse when approaching the crossing. He saw the gates up, did not hear any noise of an approaching train and supposing that everything was all right started to drive over the crossing. When he reached the track he saw the Detective Martin Crippen corroborated Dr. Lowry with regard to this admission. He was in the hospital at the time Roberts made his statement concerning the accident and asked him a number of questions with regard to it. Henry Frey produced a photograph of the Carbon street crossing, which he testified was a correct representation.

the Carbon street crossing, which he testified was a correct representation of the crossing and its vicinity.

Jacob Buttsman, the engineer of the train that ran down Roberts, testified that he saw the gates at the crossing up and when about fifty feet from the crossing sounded his whistle. He saw the horses when close to the crossing, but did not see Roberts or the wagon. Thomas Connors, fireman of Buttsman's engine, saw the man on the track and yelled to the engineer. Michael man's engine, saw the man on the track and yelled to the engineer. Michael Reddington, flagman at next crossing above Carbon street, swore that the usual signal was sounded for the Car-bon street crossing after the engine had passed his station. Unimportant testimony was given by C. E. Rettew and S. W. Arnold, W. O. Jermyn, James Kearney and Detective D. P. Roche swore that Ben Johnson.

Frank Ped-rick, George Ferrel and William Grant were called, but their testimony did not throw any additional light on the cause of the accident. E. J. Goodwin gave testimony as to the distance a man can look up the track at points from thirteen to sixty feet from the Carbon street crossing. The defense rested with his testimony.

Evidence in Rebuttal. In rebuttal Dr. H. D. Gardner was called. He was coroner of this county at the time Hugh Roberts died and per-formed the autopsy. He removed the brain and examined it and cut open the hip, where there was a fracture, but did not open the body and remove the heart, as Dr. Lowry testified to on Thursday. He saw no indication of enlargment of the heart when he examined Roberts after his admission to the hospital. If there had been any trouble with the heart it could have been detected. He had no recollection whatever of telling Dr. Lowry at the autopsy that the heart was enlarged. An enlargment of the tissues of the heart, such as Dr. Lowry described, would not shorten a man's expectancy of life. If a man was born with an enlarged heart it would increase his chances for a long life. There is no participating to receive the receiver the recei such thing as heriditary heart trouble. W. C. Price, of the West Side, a mem-ber of the coroner's jury, was present at the autopsy. Roberts' body was not opened and his heart was not removed. After the autopsy the body was turned over to the witness and by him pre-pared for interment. There was no in-dication that the body had been cut open.

Dr. W. G. Fulton, who assisted at the autopsy, said the trunk was not opened: He examined Roberts several times at the hospital before his death, but found no indication of heart trouble. A man who indulges in violent exercise may get an enlarged heart, but that does not shorten his life. Thomas Williams and William Hughes testified that Roberts' body was not cut open. The evidence in rebuttal by the plaintiff will close this morning.

Other Cases on Trial.

Other Cases on Trial. Alfred G. Pace's suit against Mrs. Sarah D. Lee was given to the jury at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The defendant deples that she owes Pace any thing. She says the work he charged as extra was included in the contract and that the contractor was not en-titled to extra compensation. Mrs. Lee further alleges that the plaintiff did not perform his labor in a good and work-manilke way and that she was forced to employ another carpenter to go over the work Pace performed. A verdict had not been returned when court ad-

Yesterday aftermoon the case of Patrick Collins against the Olyphant school district was discontinued. A portion of the work, for doing which Collins sued to recover, had neither been approved or disapproved by the school board. Judge Gunster ruled that 330, work of which the board had approved, was all the plaintiff was entitled to recover for and theroupon the case was discontinued for the present. The action of Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider against Patrick Golden, of the Sixth ward, was heard before Judge Gunster. The plaintiff sues to recover $125, the price of 5,000 of the "Edmund Barti" brand of cigars, which, she says, she made by order of Mr. Golden. The latter denies having ordered them and refused to accept them when delivered. At 5 o'dlock the case went to the jury. The jury in the cose of Max Kemmer against the city of Scranton returned a verdict in favor of the city.

From talks with prominent Irish-American residents of this city it is evident that the Irish National Alliance, which has been creating such a furore in Chicago, has few, if any, supporters here. It is not expected that the job will be completed before spring.

The firm of King & Cleary is not as well known in this part of the state as it is in the lower counties, where these contractors have carried out some very large jobs. Hon. C. F. King, ex-senator from Schulykill county, who is the senior member of the firm, is one of the largest contractors in the country. His greatest feat was the successful construction of the Jeddo tunnel, which is five miles freely on the subject and showed a knowledge of Irish American affairs which betokened a clear insight to the workings of the various movements which have been set afoot during the last fifteen or twenty years. Lyman, who was chosen president, was the presi-dent of the Irish National league, the best organization of its kind that ever existed, and others who are in this new movement were at the head of the league, which they allowed to die on their hands. The new organization is under the charge of discredited leaders and the people have no confidence in them. There is no doubt but that these men are in earnest and would make any sacrifice to carry out their design. The leaders, however, may be promptas was the case in a similar uprising some years ago, when the men at the head of the organization, after be-coming generally recognized as Irish leaders, went on the stump in a presi-dential campaign, and paid no further attention to the Irish movement.

Senator Vaughn further stated that the true reason why Sheedy and Mad-den, the Pittsburg delegates, were re-fused admission to the convention was that they pulled away from the Tri-angle when it became corrupt, and as-sailed its leaders, who are now the leaders in the new movement.

Denounced by the A. O. H. "Not a single delegate went from this region to the convention." Mr. Vaughn stated, "although a general invitation was extended. The Ancient Order of Hibernians, the most substantial of all Irish organizations, has not approved of the Chicago meeting. The Board of Erin, of which Councilman Daniel Buttle, of the South Side, is national treasurer, has denounced the movement n a circular to its members, and the Board of America has refused to take any cognizance of it at all." Rev. P. J. McManus, of St. Paul's, Green Ridge, when asked for an expression of sentiment on the Chicago movement, stated that he was so bis-terly opposed to the project that he would rather not be quoted. "However," said he, "I believe a revo-lution justifiable, but do not think it can possibly effect any good for Ire-land. I would favor raising a fund to send plows and harrows to Ireland, with practical farmers to teach them to grow something besides potatoes. I am a Home Ruler, but in view of the news we are getting from Ireland, I am wilking to hold my sentiments in check until we find out what the Torries intend to do. The people of Dublin seem to be infatuated with the Torries.

The people of Ireland would be satisfled if they were given the same gov-ernment that is accorded to Scotland and Wales. Ireland is governed by and Wales. Ireland is governed by Irishmen today, except in the central offices in Dublin, where the lord lieutenant and his crowd hold forth. If they were rid of this evil and the constabulary and soldiers driven out. Irishmen would be in full control of the government. Buy out the bankrupt landlords and foster agriculture and load state and you will make the and industry and you will make the people of Ireland happier than the Irish revolutionists in Chicago dream of John E. Roche takes a most conpendence, but extreme measures have done less, and on htis account I cannot approve the policy outlined by the Irish National Alliance. I believe Ireland's good future can be best brought about through the Parnell advocacy of Home Rule or Justin McCarthy's idea clong those same lines. The gains made in Trish representation in parliament is gradually bringing this about, but it may be hastened by an European crisis which is apt to develop at any time."

WOMEN HAPPY

It is the newest thing for the coming season which we are offering to the trade at very low prices. It is almost unnecessary for us to remind our customers that our line of contains styles and effects not to be found elsewhere. So long we have been as originators it's our constant aim to produce new designs to set the current of style. We have a larger and more extensive line than ever before.

AFTER OCTOBER 1

We will occupy three floors instead of one. That shows more plainly than words that we have the confidence and patronage of the people.
