Visit the Lehigh.

On Saturday a large number of crit-zons and members of council went with the officers of the Citizens' Water company to the Lehigh river to investi-gate that body of water as a source of supply to Wilkes-Barre. They disembarked at Lehigh station, where wagons were in walting to convey the party to the river, about three miles distant. It is located between Lackawanna and Wayne countles, fifteen miles from the source of the river and wayne from Wilkes Barre. nouses in the vicinity, and there is ab-solutely nothing to invite settlement, so that there is less danger, probably, of contamination than in any locality that might be selected. The topography of the surroundings is such as to afford the best damming facilities, and it is the best damming facilities, and it is ments.

estimated that at the present time there is a flow at this point of 15,000,000 with a to 20,000,000 gallons, while the normal flow is from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000. This flow is from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000. is the estimate of Engineer Weeks, of the Water company. City Engineer Ingham and Professor Dean made a Ingham and Professor Dean made a measurement further down, near the residence of J. J. Wagenhorst, and gave 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 gallons as the present daily flow; and it is stated that there is less water in the river now than at any time within the past twenty-seven to thirty years, this belief the designation of a resident during the declaration of a resident during all that time.

This source of supply is 1,150 feet This source of supply is 1.150 feet above the city, and it is proposed to locate a storage reservoir about five miles from this point and about 300 feet lower. This will have a capacity of two billion gallons, and the water will be carried to it by the force of gravity. It is calculated that this amount of water would serve the city about three months and would be ample to tide us over such a drought as we have had this summer, assuming that the source of supply should ut-terly fail, of which there seems no like-

These statements are based on es-timates given by Mr. Dunning, after careful consideration. The capital necessary to carry through the scheme is nearly $1,000,000, which has been is nearly $1,000,000, which has been guaranteed, and the ablest counsel have assured the company that the rights granted by charter to the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company will not be any barrier to the new company. All that is necessary now is for council to give their consent that the new company may pipe the streets of this city. The councilmen were favor-ably impressed with the quality and quantity of the water. Professor Dean brought back some and will analyze it and submit the analysis to council. Lunch was served the party and a very pleasant day was spent,

ROBINSON GETS 18 YEARS. Another of Barney Reick's Murderers

On Saturday a crowd that filled every inch of available space in the big court room gathered to hear John Robinson sentenced for his part in the murder of Barney Reick, to which he pleaded gallty of murder in the second degree. Judge Woodward asked Robinson if he had anything to say, and was told that Gets a Heavy Sentence. lad anything to say, and was told that Mr. Martin would speak for him. Colonel Martin then made a very eloquent and powerful plea for mercy for his client. He said that it is rarely that an attorney knows of the guilt of his the assault on Barney Reick. His object in pleading guilty was to alleviate in some degree the remorse he felt over Barney Reick's death. Robinson per-jured himself on his first trial, but would not lie again, even to save him-self. He was further persuaded to con-fess owing to his knowing of Fisher's innocence, and not wishing to make him suffer for that which he was not guilty of. He then closed with an elo-uent plea for his client. John F. Shea followed and stated that previous to Hendricks' trial no statements were made by anyone implicat-ing themselves in the murder. After the trial Robinson sent for him and confessed his part in the crime and ex-

John T. Lenahan then spoke for the John T. Lenanan that Messrs. Mar-prosecution and said that Messrs. Mar-tin and Shea had been speaking for nublic sympathy. Here is a self-conpublic sympathy. Here is a self-con-fessed murderer and perjurer and he should have no mercy. Robinson had been a party to the crime and was equally guilty with Hendricks, Fisher

Judge Woodward in pronouncing sen-tence, said that he had taken the pleas of the attorneys into consideration.

It was hard for him to resist the appeals made by the wife and mother of the prisoner, but he would simply do his duty. The sentence of the court was that Robinson pay a fine of $100. costs and undergo an imprisonment by labor for a term and period of eighteen years. Robinson remained perfectly unmoved, but his mother screamed and fell into a faint. She was nearly broken-hearted over the severity of th sentence. Robinson will be taken to the penitentiary on Thursday.

James Loughney, for the felonious wounding of Patrick Tigue, was sentenced by Judge Lynch to pay a fine of costs and be imprison Eastern penitentiary for four years.

HURT AT POKE HALLOW.

Hungarians Attack Richard Hefferan and Dangerously Wound Him.

On Saturday night about 7 o'clock Richard Hefferan, aged 32 years, and a resident of Pike Hollow, was mur-derously assaulted in the saloon of John Kaubracks at that place. There were four or five Hungarians in the place at the time and they all made the at-tack together upon Hefreran and upon Edward Lloyd, of Edwardsville, who tried to assist Hefferan in the unequal battle. Both were overpowered and bad-ly hurt. Lloyd received seven scalp wounds, none of them being serious, however, and Hefferan fared even worse. He was stabbed in the right hand, and the index finger of the left hand was horribly lacerated and torn. He also had his nose broken and sustained three scalp wounds. Dr. Smith was called in and put eleven stitches in his head. Though badly wounded, he

When the news of the battle reached Plymouth, Constables Jones and Curry started for Poke Hollow, and after a desperate fight, arrested John Florena and John Kaubracks, who were committed to the lockup for a further hear-ing. Andrew Hudok and two others escaped, but they are known and will be arrested at once.

People Who Invested in the Articles on

> An intelligent young Lithuanian with a face as free from guile as Bret Harte's "heathen Chinee," bid a cou-ple of dollars on a big package and found that it contained a couple of dezen Bibles in his own language.

Another individual who got the small end of the bargain was a man who bid $1.25 on a big package and when he opened it found two large withered bouquets sent by some fond swain to his lady love. When the gentleman opened the package his len. tleman opened the package his lan-guage convinced the spectators that there are exceptions to the rule that "all the world loves a lover," and he was one of the exceptions, Still another man placed great faith in the contents of a big box and amid considerable opposition, had it knocked thrown out of a buggy, which was updown to him for $2. He opened it and found inside fifty almanaes of 1894.

This gentleman, too, showed the crowd some novelties in the line of emphatic expression. Many of the purchasers refused to open the package before an audience and sought seclusion with their purchases. These who did open hem were unmercifully guyed when the purchases didn't pan out well.

THE JUDICIAL SITUATION.

Judgo Bennett's Fitness for the Bene Has Been Demonstrated.

Judge Bennett has now been on th bench for the major part of this term of oriminal court, and the attorneys and the people have had a chance to form their opinion of his work. It has been favorable in every case, and the autorneys do not hesitate to say that Judge Bennett possesses in a large degree the remarkable attributes that have raised Judge Rice to the high posiction he now occupies. He has the calm, dispassionate temperament that is the first requisite of an able judge. for it brings with it an ability to hear arguments and decide on questions of law without prejudice or favor, a quality almost never possessed by an impulsive man. His brief career on the bench has been remarkable for the given, showing that in him the people have a judge in whom their rights are safe. The result in November will show that the people are satisfied with Judge Bennett's administration, and they will

Lee Stanton, the Demotrate assault on Barney Reick, His object cratic candidate for sheriff, has a mighty hard row to hoe to be elected. and his friends are willing to sacrifice anybody for Stanton. It is said that if Stanton is elected he will appoint Pat Lynch, the judge's brother, chief deputy. If this be true, and it probably is, the Lynch faction have a double bject in slaughtering McLean. They will get square for that letter, and they will help Pat into another snug berth. So, with Judge Bennett's splendid legal ability, the opposition of the Lynches.

and Stanton's chreatened "trade." Mr. McLean's chances look pretty small. The Democratic papers evidently feel that Mr. McLean's situation is se-rious, for they are working hard for him, although their attacks on Judge Bennett are as ridiculous as were their pretensions of a "non-partisan judi-ciary." The worst the News-Dealer can say about him is that he "lacks per-sonal magnetism." and the Leader calmly follows this lead as if the absence of personal magnetism were a defect to disqualify a man from judicial honors. The character of the man as a citizen, and his ability as a lawyer and as a judge, are absolutely un-impeachable. The people have seen this for years, and in November their verdict will be in favor of Judge Bennett remaining on the bench.

The directors are anxious to make the night schools especially valuable this

The schools will be of two and one-half hour's session this year instead of two as in former years and school will begin at 6.30 instead of 7. The teachers with the exception of three are employed especially for the work and are not employed in the day schools.

A Novel Exhibition. The Wilkes-Barre Poultry and Pet association will hold their first annual exhibition in Laudmesser's hall in Jan-uary, and thready preparations are well under way for the event. The association has thirty-five active mem-bers, which number will be doubled within the next three months. The exhibition will not be confined to poultry alone. There will be an exhibition of canary birds, rabbits and other family pets, except dogs. Next year, if the first meeting is successful, the asso-clation will hold a big exhibition in the Ninth regiment armory, and prizes big enough to attract the best stock in the county will be offered.

The State Convention. County Commissioners Dullard, Smith and Norton, accompanied by County Solicitor Joseph Moore and Chief Clerk Norris, will go to Johnstown this week to attend the unnual state convention of county commis-sioners. Among the things to be brought up for discussion are the pay ment of costs to constables and to justices of the peace, and the best means to reduce the number of trivial criminal cases sent to the county courts by aldermen.

For Admission to the Bar.

On October 14, Miss Mary Wescott a niece of Judge Rhone, will apply for admission to the Luzerne county bar. Miss Wescott passed the final examinations before the examining board several days ago, having read law for the required term in the office of Hon. H. W. Palmer.

The correspondent of the Carbondale Leader is somewhat of a humorist, but his humor is of such a peculiar quality that only a very few people can ap-preciate it. He might write a book on parkumentary rules, but we fear, sadly fear, that as a funny man he will never make a howling success.

AVOCA.

The first of a sercles of monthly institutes was held at the high school on Saturday. All the teachers were present and many interesting topics were discussed. Miss Vina Gibbons prepared an excellent paper on "Pri-mary Reading," and recommended many practical advices. Miss Mame Kearney,s subject was "Language," which was also well prepared.
