Will Be Held to Secure Eligibles for the Office of Storekeeper-Gauger.

Office of Storckeeper-Gauger.

The civil service commission at Washington has ordered that an examination be held in this city on Saturday, Nov. 9, 1895, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m., for the grade of storckeeper-gauger. The examination is open to all reputable citizens of the United States, over the age of 21 years, without regard to their political affiliations. No application for this examination will be accepted unless filed with the undersigned before Oct. 25. with the undersigned before Oct. 25,

The examination of Nov. 9 will be a special one, held for the reason that the commission has not as yet been able to secure a sufficient number of eligibles for this district. In order that such demands of the service as may arise in the future (from removals, resigna-tions, deaths or increase in the force) may be promptly met, it is hoped that all persons desirous of securing positions in the internal revenue service will make application at once, provided they are entitled to examination. For application blanks, full instructions, and information relative to the duties and salaries of the different po-sitions, apply to F. E. Beers, secretary poard of examiners, postoffice build

THE NEW PARSONAGE.

Providence.

Action Taken by Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church. The question of building the First Presbyterian church parsonage along side the proposed new church, at Madison avenue and Olive street, was dis-cussed by a meeting of the congre-gation last night. An affirmative consideration of the matter had been made by the new building committee, and the board of trustees, but the congregation was found to be divided, and a com-promise action was the result of the meeting C. C. Mattes was chosen chairman, and W. J. Hand, secretary. A brief prayer, pertinent to the business of the gathering, was made by the pastor. Rev. Dr. James McLeod. Mr. Mattes stated the purpose of the meeting as being to determine the parsonage site, and to provide means for raising the building fund, the major portion of which would be created by the sale of the old property for $106,000. The latter subject was not consider Affred Hand offered the following resolution: "That the parsonage be built on the lot already purchased by the congregation." A. W. Dickson was the chief opponent of the resolution, and fourteen members voted with him, but the resolution received twenty-five affirmative votes. Before adjourning, the trustees were instructed to solicit subscriptions be-fore Jan. 1, to pay the $4,000 deficit in the church accounts.

Mr. Dickson's motion then prevailed "the building committee defer building the parsonage until further instructed by the congregation, and that a parsonage be rented during the interval." The plans selected by the committee were displayed at the meeting. They are by Architect L. A. Holden, of this city, and show a magnificent stone structure of artistic design with a seating capacity for over 1,500 persons and which is to cost $150,000, exclusive land. The main entrance is to be on Olive street. The parsonage will be situated on the southern end of the lot facing the avenue. It will cost $15,-The lot was bought last spring for

RICH WINDOW DISPLAY.

Weichel & Millar Have Attractively At ranged Their Show Windows.

The lamp and shade fad in all it beauty is exemplified in a most ar tistic window display at Weichel & Miller's, 134 Wyoming avenue. The firm is conducting a "lamp opening." and one of the most attractive features is the exquisite arrangement of the two street display windows, one in a in yellow.

All of yesterday shoppers and pedes trians stopped to view the windows, and many ventured the opinion that the display is one of the most artistic ever seen in Scranton. The window trimmer showed his good judgment in selecting such popular colors as pink and yellow, which, with the beautiful designs in lamps of metal and ware, make a very rich effect.

and George W. Potter, of Dunmore, Plaintiff-Judge Lynch Is Trying the Case-Four Cases Settled.

Judge John Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, s presiding at the trial of the $50,000 is presiding at the trial of the $39,000 trespass suit of corge W. Potter, of Dunmore, against the Scranton Traction company. This will be the last week of the present term of common pleas court. Judge Gunster is holding court in No. 3 and Judge Edwards in the main room. he main room.

The Potter suit is a very interesting one and is attracting much attention. The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys I. H. Burns, George S. Horn and ex-Judge Ward, and the company by Major Everett Warren, Judge Jessup and Horace E. Hand. Mr. Potter is a butcher. On March 30, 1893, he was driving along Blakely street, Dunmore. The "luwer wargen" or "ladder wagon". "tower wagon" or "ladder wagon" used by the Traction company in re-pairing the wires was in the street hear the Corners, and the plaintiff's horse became frightened and ran away. He claims that the runaway was caused by the noise and confusion made by the linemen. His right leg was broken in three places, his hip was dislocated, and his left jaw was so brulsed and wanded that it effected. bruised and wounded that it affected his left eye and he has since been sub-ject to excruciating bodily pain. He was confined to his room for several

He swore that the year before the accident happened him he earned from $1,000 to $1,500 and has not been able to make that much since. His contention for damages more for the bodily pain suffered than the injury to his business.

The Verdict in the Roberts Suit. The jury in the trespass suit of Mrs. Mary Roberts against the Delaware and Hudson Canal company for $50,000 damages for the death of her husband, returned a verdict of $8,302.88 in her favor. This is the second largest verdict for a life recorded in this county. The other one was that of Mrs. Margaret Hughes against the same trial will be filed in a day or two by the defendant's attorneys. A verdict in the case of Marshwood Jordan against E. D. Collins, administrator of the estate of Jacob A. Collins, and others was taken in favor of the plaintiff for $212.20. In the main court room the case of Edward Mulholland against the Rushbrook Water company of Jermyn was placed on trial. The plaintiff is represented by Attorneys Henry L. Mulholland and E. H. House and the defendant by Atorneys C. H. Welles and S. B. Price. The jury went up to look over the premises and the testimony will be heard today. The defendant by Attorneys to the premises and the testimony will be heard today. heard today. The defendant took pos-session of the plaintiff's land by virtue of the right of eminent domain and the question for the jury is to decide how much the plaintiff is entitled to.

Judge Gunster heard one case, that of the Universal Fashion company of New York against John H. Ladwig, proprietor of the Four Cent store. The amount of money involved in the suit is about $500. C. H. Soper was attor-ney for the plaintiff, and C. W. Daw-son for the defendant. The allegation is that the Fashion company agreed to constitute Mr. Ladwig agent for Lackawanna county in consideration of the sum of $500. Mr. Ladwig refused to pay that amount on the ground that the ashion plates sent to him were not up to the standard. The case went to the jury at 3.30 and it was out at adjournment deliberating Cases That Were Settled. Four cases that were marked down for trial this week have been amicably settled and were stricken off the list. They are as follows: School district of Old Forge township vs. John Jermyr old Forge township vs. John Jermyn and Joseph J. Jermyn; Pulsifer Chemical company vs. W. R. Edwards; Nettle E. Walker vs. Charles H. Welles and the Lackawanna Trust and Safe Deposit company; John Maloney vs. Victoria View. posit company Nicholas Kline.

SHAUN RUE AND KERRY GOW.

Will Be Produced by Joseph Murphy and Company at Frothingham The clever Irish comedian, Joseph Murphy, will appear at the Frothing-ham tonight in his pathetic Irish play, "Shaun Rue." Mr. Murphy's imperson-ation of Larry, who disguises himself as Shaun Rue, is well-known, and the as Snaun Rue, is well-known, and the ballad, "A Handful of Earth," which he sings in the second act, is very pretty. "Shaun Rue" seems to have a perpetual lease of life good enough in its old form, but many new features have been added since Mr. Murphy's last appearance here.

last appearance here. Tomorrow night that favorite Irish drama, "Kerry Gow," will be presented. The plot is laid in Ireland during one of the most trying periods of that country, and the scenes and incidents keep the attention of the audience until the curtain falls on the last act.

The best scene is in the fourth act, where Mr. Murphy appears in his blacksmith shop, and makes a com-plete horseshoe in a few minutes. An anvil chorus is an interesting part of this act. During the play there is a horse race and carrier pigeons carrying nessages from the track to the Drew
